

Class Consciousness of

These murals reflect the beat of our people, the working class' rapidly growing consciousness from class-in-itself to class-for-itself.

They bring out some aspects of our rich tradition as members of the working class and different nationalities.

The mural "Wall of Respect for Women" for example, reflects a highly developed social-consciousness. In particular it brings out the role and contribution of working women in history. This mural recognizes, on the one hand, individual contributions of the working class of different nationalities and other the other hand multi-national working class unity.

This mural points the way and leads the class struggle in the realm of idea just passively reflecting the state of spontaneous "subconscious" class and national struggles the way revisionists, Trotskites and groupings like the "communist" League and others see it. The content and high degree of class consciousness of this mural puts the "Communist" League and the "C" PUSA and their tailist ideology into shame.

Communist must impart stand, view point and method of Marxism-Leninism-Mao Tse-tung Thought to the advance elements of the working class and all the oppressed classes. Only this way can the working class and all the oppressed adopt a revolutionary and socialist consciousness-- which alone will enable the working class and all the oppressed to emancipate themselves.
