The Farm. . .

The Arkansas Farm contest closes at 6 p. m., September 30th, at which time all orders, in order to be counted, MUST BE IN THIS OFFICE.

with the exception or about one-nair a column, to be devoted to ads of a Socialistic nature, the Appeal has declined all advertising for the Trust Edition. The amount we so decline amounts to over TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS. The Trust Edition will be strictly a PROPAGANDA PAPER. Get in your orders at once.

Mr. J. A. Wayland, Girard, Kas.:

The days of the contest for the Arkansas farm of 80 acres, equipped with buildings and furnishing a home for the winner the moment the contest is decided, a home given under a warranty deed, free from debt or obligation of any kind, are fast passing into history. If you want to enter this contest, or if you wish to strengthen your position in it, the hours of your opportunity must soon be made use of.

Rules of the Contest.

THE Australian Review of Reviews, last issue, contains a reproduction of the character sketch of seven large pages in that Australian publication, many of the "Social Hell" pictures and "Fairy Stories from Real Life" cartoons being reproduced with the original texts.
I'll bet some of those staid old antipodeans got severe jolts while read-ing those pages. Walker is without doubt one of the greatest American cartoonists. The Literary Digest some months ago, placed him at the head in its galaxy of noted picture financial operations and was discovered. J. Pierpont Morgan is the new assistant secretary of state. Bacon, his partner, will hold the job. Bacon is the best posted man on South America's resources in the country, which means that our southern neighbors will be exploited to the limit by this government backing the financial pirates of Wall Street to the limit with gunboats and war ships. This is what Loomis was doing, but he was not smooth.

HOW WE GROW

Less than a year ago the Girard Cereal Company was organized by a of workingmen—Socialists and union men—for the purpose of manufact NUTRITO, a cereal coffee that is the latest scientific discovery in cereal drinks.

This perfect substitute for coffee is the result of twelve years of patient investigation and experiment on the part of Comrade A. B. Wallace.

From the start NUTRITO has been a success. We ascribe this to the fact that it is just what its maker says it is—the best cereal drink on the market.

Over 1,000 grocery stores, seventeen wholesale houses, and one large mail order concern now handle NUTRITO, and this list is being added to every day.

These People Have Tried NUTRITO.

"NUTRITO to all O. K. It has done wonderful suscent of good in regard theatile. It has cured me of kidner and trouble of ten years' standing. I feel new man now. I know that creed coffee thing for me and that NUTRITO best all "L. B. Amerman, Kingman Kss.,"

Official Publiction, Sent Broadcast, Provides Halo for Man of Millions

The government is now distributing broadcast to every school and library in the country a series of sketches of "educational benefactors" gotten up by the commissioner of education in the department of the interior. Carefully tucked away in the series is a tender character study of Mr. Rockefeller. His career is gently traced from cradle to the present. Not a criticism, not a single harsh word, not even the slightest insinuation against his motives has crept into the sketch.

For Use in Defense.

"In school he came under the influ-ence of such teachers as Miss Chamber-lain (afterward Mrs. Lyon), Prof. E. White, Prof. Andrew Frees, teacher and superintendent. With these teachers the unfolding of his character became indicative of his future career.

Lives Within His Income "He met his obligations faithfully and adopted the habit of living within his income. Nothing was allowed to come within his observation which he did not question for some lesson for him-

"He early found out that what he we to be must come out of his own ability and attainments and opportunities afforded him.

"His qualities were early manifested: he discriminated between the real and the false. He early became superintend-ent of his church Sunday school, and re-ent of his church Sunday school, and re-mained in that responsibility thirty years. His fondness fer children was very manifest. His own experience had taught him how it might be used."

John D. Rockefeller's career in the oil industry is thus briefly and tenderly covered over by the government's offi-cial biographer:

Will it be said that this or that man had accumulated great treasure? No. All that will be forgotten. The question will be: What did we do with our treasures? Did we or did we not use them to help our fellow men? This will be forever remembered."

The sketch includes a list of the Rockefeller gifts.

Don't forget that the contest for the Arkansas farm closes at 6 p. m. September 30th, and that all orders, to be counted, must be in by that time. Anyone, whether they have heretofore ordered or not, can still get in on the contest, and if they have ordered any of the Trust Edition before it is credited to their name. If Burkholder is able to toe the mark again after this we will see that the Joke Editor does better wall see that the Joke Editor does better next time, or we'll fail to separate him from the jaws of the office bull dog when that benevolent animal seeks to repri-mand him for some shortcoming.

Comrade Davidson, of Capetown, South Africa, gets to the front with an South Africa, gets to the front with an order for fifty copies of the Appeal each week for a year, and two pounds one shilling and eight pence (unless the Financial Editor has got it bulled up) to pay for them. He says the Appeal is very much appreciated in South Africa and that the Social Democratic Féderation, of which he is secretary, desires him to convey their appreciation of the wonderful fight the American Socialists are putting up in the United States.

Each and every Socialist should distribute all the copies of the TRUST EDITION that he can use to good ad-vantage in his locality. This edition will be the best paper ever put out, free from advertising, and one that will arouse public thought. Prices: 1,000 copies 4.00; 500 copies, $2.00; 250 copies, $1.00.

Comrade Beers, of Atlantic, Ia. drags in six more economic Russians, and three yen to pay for their instruction for a year. "Beers, cheers, tears, rears, fears, queers, steers, leers, keers, wheers, deers, jeers, dears, gears"—but just then some one swatted the Poetical Editor with the one swatted the Poetical Editor with the crowbar, for that droning over of rhyming words is a certain indication that a new poem is about to be added to the galaxy of the Poetical Editor's efforts. We have him in chains, and if we can just keep Beers of Atlantic, Ia., calmed down we will be able to avoid the poem.

Bunch of five scalps and 250 kope beats everything the clubs that we are etting from Kansas points, sehaving bester since Comrade ler made it sit up straight and keep still about its "rights" to refine its own oil instead of selling it to the Standard Oil company at 40 cents a barrel. Comrade Rockefeller is an active and energetic assistant of the Appeal Army, ready and willing to give practical object lessons in the line of private ownership of property, and always proving the Socialists to be right.

The clubs are coming in at a ver rapid gait during these early days of fall. The sooner you get up the clul the sooner we will have them reading 1 the sooner we will have their bal-ts. It takes just about so long to make a Socialist, and the quicker we get them started the sooner we will have the harvest. The co-operative common-wealth is now only a matter of doing so wealth is now only a matter of doing so much work, and you must do your share. No one can do the work that you ought to do. They may do their own, but they can't do yours. Overlook no bets—never miss a chance, and the full fruition of our labors is an assured certainty. So cialism is booming around the world—the masses of every country and in every clime are waking up to its import, and it is your duty to see that the work is done among the people around you. That is your field, just as that of the Russian worker is at home, that of the French comrade on the sunny slopes of the hills of France, that of the English comrade in whatever part of the British comrade in whatever part of the British governed world he may be, just as that of the German lies in his own locality. Was not because he was afraid of stary. CHRISTIANITY IN BUSINESS.

Every man has the right to live

If you know the contents of the aver age man's pocket book and the size of his bank account it is not a hard matter his bank account it is not a hard matter to classify his moral code.

Cast your bread upon the waters and it will start back to you buttered, but the chances are pirates will steal all the butter before it reaches you. The modern man loves his friends and Ignoring a thing does not abolish it; if ognize its existence or not. The capitalists ignore the class struggle and claim it does not exist, but that doesn't make any difference with the class glo—it exists just the same.

We hear a good deal about every man We hear a good deal about every man getting a "square deal." There is no possibility of all men getting "a square deal" under the present system. The only way a man or lot of men to day can get a so-called "square deal" is by making it impossible for some other men or lot of men to get "a square deal." Under the capitalist mode of production the working class as a whole never get the capitalist mode of production the working class as a whole never get

How He Solved the Problem.

Joe Benson was In a quandary. Out of work for six months, nothing in sight and down to his last five dollar bill. Something must be done, thought Joe, as he caressingly fingered his lone five dollar bill as it reposed in his trousers rocket.

All over the world each man is doing ing that Joe was thinking, this bright morning, instead of occupying his usual place among the corner grocery diplomats. No, it was not that—Joe's good wife took in washing and he was getting enough to eat. But where was beer money and tobacco money coming from? That was the problem that had kept him awake until the wee small hours of the night. The good wife would furnish the good wife would furnish the grub without a murmur, but when it came to beer, there is where Mrs. Joe solving life's problems, and it did not fail in Joe's case.

Joe had a plan, and the smile on his countenance as he made a bee line towards the hardware emporium would indicate that he had perfect confidence in that plan. Subsequent events proved that his confidence was not misplaced.

And this was Joe's plan: He would buy one of those "Let the machine do the work" washing machines. He would explain to Mrs. Joe how she could do twice as much work with this maachine at less expenditure of labor power than she could in the old way. As he owned the machine a certain per cent of the gross receipts should come to him for rental. All this he explained to Mrs. Joe when he took home the machine. It all looked very reasonable to Mrs. Joe, and they soon struck a bargain, and Joe wended his way to the corner grocery to again take up the discussion of world politics with a feeling that he might have been numbered among the world's famous financiers had he had the chance of other men.

On Saturday night Joe collected his rent and was happy. Mrs. Joe did the work and paid over the rental money without complaint. When Mrs. Joe's friends heard of the arrangement they remonstrated with her.
"It is not right," they all exclaimed of one accord.
"But why?" asked Mrs. Joe. "Joe owns the machine that I do the work with

It is largely compiled from the eighteenth annual report of the com-missioner of labor, now out of print, or at least that is the reason assigned why it can no longer be obtained. Warren's pam-phlet contains most of its figures and other matter of value to Socialists, and its perusai will at once make it clear for profit and not for use. Commodities are only produced for profit, and to make a profit the capitalists, the owners of the machinery of production, can only give back to the wage-workers a small portion of the wealth they produce. The producers cannot consume all the wealth they produce because they have not an equal amount of wealth to exchange for it. The capitalists must look for a foreign market in which to dispose of this surplus wealth. As these foreign markets become glutted, or the workers in foreign markets begin to more and more supply their own wants, we have what the political economists call over-production. Then our masters, the owners of the tools with which we work, must of necessity curtail production, and then we have two men for every job. After a while it will be more. This, I say, is primarily the cause. The immediate cause is a lack of solidarity in the ranks of labor, the tendency to follow false teachings and fake or ignorant leaders. It is because of the failure of SS per cent of the people, who make up the working class, to understand that their interests are identical. The need of the hour is agitation, education and organization. So cialism will give the workers control of all the things about the indu tries in which they work. But they oppose that! I should think they would prefer the legal right to control the industries than to have to strike and suffer to have a small voice in them.
