BOYCOTT IS SPREADING

Petitions to Eat-No More Meat Until Prices Fall Widely Circulated

The boycott against high food prices continues to spread. The hold which the beef trust has on the poultry and egg trade is being felt in the increased prices of eggs, which in Wilmington, Delaware, has gone to 65 cents a dozen and which in other cities is from 45 cents up. Thirty thousand workmer and business men have joined the meat and egg boycott in Cleveland. Baltimore has entered the boycott ranks, the federation of labor of that city leading in the dight.

Fifty thousand boycott buttons have been printed for distribution. In Kansas City other unions have followed the lead of the bricklayers and have boy cotted meat. The movement in Mary and is expected to produce a legislative investigation of the operations of the beef trust, as has been demanded in Ohio and Kansas.

While the boycott is in its inception, a fight of people accustomed to eating meat against the power of the beef trust to hold its product in cold storage till the people demand it again, will result, many believe, in a complete exposure of the methods of the trust and the amending of publicity owned slaughter houses on modern, sanitary lines, and which will not seek to boost prices so that they may pay 30 per cent dividends, such as that recently de-clared by Armour & Co.

Attorney Generals Meet

Three of the seven attorney generals invited by Attorney General Major of Missouri to attend a conference to discues a united attack on the meat trust have accepted. They are: Hal L. Norwood of Arkansas, Fred S. Jackson of Kansas, and H. M. Byers of Iowa. The conference will be held in St. Louis or Kansas City as soon as a convenient date may be decided upon. Omaha has reported progress with its list, which, the union leaders say, will number 8,000 by the end of the week. Omaha laborers pledge themselves net to look upon meat for thirty days.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 22. - Every niner in the United States and Canada inited in one big organization to fight the common enemy, the mine owner and operator, is the dream that thrills the delegates to the United Mine Workers in convention here. The at-

Workers in convention here. The attempt to make this dream a reality is due to give the present convention a place in the history of the American labor movement occupied by few gatherings of its kind.

The greatest enthusiasm shown thus far was evinced by the delegates as Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, told them of the struggle of the western miners, and dwelt at length upon the necessity of an amalgamation of the Western Federation of Miners and the United Mine Workers of America.

Moyer Heads Delegation

Moyer Heads Delegation

President Moyer is at the head of a delegation from the W. F. of M., which presented the matter of amalgamation to the United Mine Workers' convention, asking that a committee be appointed to meet with them. Hardly had Moyer made the request before a motion was put and seconded, providing for a committee of seven from the U. M. W. of A. to take the matter up with the W. F. of M. officials.

President Lewis called for a standing wote on the matter and every delegat, jumped to his feet, cheering eucler of the could scarcely be heard, as the delegates cheered their willingness to join with the western miners in the common cause of every man who tolls common cause of every man who the counterground.

That the amalgamation of these two organizations is therefore not a dream is the conclusion easily reached. It has been a dream in years past: Moyer said it was the dream of a lifetime as far as he was concerned, but it is now recognized that the time has come for action, united and harmonious, with the end in view that they will be able to present the strongest possible front to the capitalists of the country.

Some of the results of the amalgamation of these two miners' organizations are as follows:

Unites 400,000 Miners

It will give the combined organiza-tions greater ability to bring the near-ly 1,000,000 mine workers in the United States and Canada into the organiza-states and Canada into the organization.

It will bring together immediately dues paying miners to the number of nearly 400,000.

It will result in the formation of a miners' department of the American Federation of Labor.

The first attempt of the combined organizations to show their power will bring them into conflict with the United States Steel corporation, as the result of a necessary effort to better organize the workers in the great from ore producing regions of Minnesota, Michigan and Alabama.

It will result in the immediate invasion of the political field by the organized miners, both of these organizations even now being unequivocally opposed to the present capitalist government of the United States.

The strength of the two organizations working in harmony and the necessity of political action were the two points principally dwelt upon by President Moyer in his address. He told of the lockout in the Black Hills, and scored William Randolph Hearst, alleged "friend" of the laboring class, for failing to take a stand in the matter, the Hearst estate being the owners of the Homestake mine at Lead, S. D., where the miners were locked out,

E. S. McCullough, vice-prestient of the United Mine Workers, device con-siderable space in his annual report to the situation in Nova Scotia, and a brief attended with a measure of success, and each victory inspired hope and confidence in the Provincial Workmen's association to protect the interests of the workmen. But as the law of industrial evolution is never at rest, time brought changes in the mining industry there which the strength and power if the Provincial Workmen's association was unable to cope with. This change was brought about by the advent of a great corporation known as the Domingreat corporation known as the Domin-ion Coal company."

He said that at the expiration of a contract that the company had with its men. It had posted two contracts for the officials of the P. W. A. to sign. "One of them was a bad contract, he said, "and the other was worse. He said that with the approach of win ter. "and the influence of the P. W. A officials, as before, thrown on the side of its acceptance, the mine workers were eventually forced to recognize the inevitable and accept the terms of the company. As the only hope, continued McCullough, the mine workers of Nova Scotla asked that they might become a part of the United Mine Workers of

Discrimination Shown

He said that no sooner had the orkers there joined the United Mine Workers than the coal company began to discharge the members of the organization and discriminate against them in other ways. He said no demands had been made by the U. M. W. of A., and that all the men asked was the right to belong to the union of their choice. He belong to the union of their choice. He said that before a strike was resorted to every effort was made to bring a reconciliation of the differences, but that the company closed every avenue to an honorable retreat. The strike order went into effect July 6.

"Mr. Moffatt was for many years the grand secretary of the P. W. A." continued Mr. McCullough. "He now occupies the unenvisible position of dropping from the leadership of a grand organization to that of a leader of strikebreakers. In the opinion of many strikebreakers. In the opinion of many he is now playing his role in its true light. Much criticism has been indulged in by Mr. Montat, the coal company and other enemies of our union, relative to the United Mine Workers violating the contract made by the Pr W. A.

"This contract was one of brutal force, an agreement that was forced by the company under the same circumstens.

the company under the same circum stances that one gives up his money to a hold-up man rather than his life, and the hold-up man would be just as justi-fied in appealing to the sense of honor of his vietim, when apprehended, as Mr, Moffatt and others are in appealing to the honor of the men on style to the honor of the men on strike to re turn to work and keep the sacrednes of this agreement inviolate. "It is not an agreement in y sense

It is the demand of the ompany forced at a time and with a people unable to resist. Yet, notwithstanding all this, the men would have worked under the so-called agreement had the cost company not interfered with and discriminated against the United Mine Workers of America members. About 1,000 of the employes who were member of the U. M. W. of A. were discharged for no other reason than their affilia-tion with the U. M. W. of A."

Money Used to Break Union Mr. McCullough said further that every means known to the powers of money and politics have been used to defeat the miners in their struggle for industrial liberty," and that soldiers had been ordered there, and used "to prevent the peaceable parading of the pub-lic highway and the peaceable assem-blage of our members in mass meet-ing."

He said that the company had a number of men from the mines appointed with police power for the same purpose as the soldiers; that hundreds of the strikers were arrested for picketing and other false charges, "and thrown into jall; that the leaders of the strike were arrested and taken to Montreal to de stroy their influence, and that every-thing possible was done to arouse na-tional prejudice. The conflict has now ntered into the seventh mount, ope bright and victory assured by a ope bright and victory assured by a entered into the seventh month, with continuance of the same methods and determination which have characterized the struggle so far."

Mary McDowell Criticises Methods of Dealing With Foreigners Here

Foreigners in Chicago are in little better condition than they were in their own down trodden lands, according to Miss Mary McDowell of the Chicago University settlement.

In a speech before the Life Under writers' association-at the La Salle hotel she asserted that Europeans in the settlements back of the stock yards were left to herd together in unhygienic quarters and, as a general rule, were ignored by the authorities. When conditions were brought to the attention of the police or health department, she continued, they were treated with the same degree of force that they would receive in the countries from which they came. Miss McDowell advocated an effort to explain American conditions to the new citizens and to induce them intelligently to obey United States laws rather than to gain blind obedience by force.

Cherry Methods Assailed

"When I visited Cherry after the terrible mine disaster I was particularly impressed with the need of intelligent treatment of those people," said Miss McDowell. "I think sending troops down there was a great mistake and added to the misery and suffering of the survivors. I was told repeatedly that the militia frightened the ignorant women and caused them increased ag-

"If a dozen women from Chicago had gone to Cherry and explained to th widows just why the mine had to be sealed they would have understood, and much of the pain of seeing the shafts sealed down on the bodies of husbands and sons would have been missed.

Census Problem Touched

"Just now, the government is stag-gered at the task of getting census statistics from this class of its population The foreigners don't know why their lives should be inspected and probably will lie or refuse to speak. Force is likely to be the only refuse of the enumerator.

"If the census supervisors only could provide some means of instruction could hire the nickel theaters for twen ty minute talks to these people, explain why the government is anxious to know of all of its residents, they would answer questions without any hesitation. Miss McDowell also urged a curse of instruction for mothers in the proper care of children.

Lloyd George Ministry Now Has Fifty-four Majority in Parliament

London, Jan. 22 .- Ballots as counted from 58 country constituencies of Engstill love the nobility and have a great respect for "their betters," as they say. The unionists in such constituencies gained 15 seats. The unionists now have a total of 164 scats in the elections up to date. The total number of unionists returned to parliament in the present elections is 163, with one laborite who is hostile to the budget, making the unionist strength 164. The con-lition of liberals, laborites and Irish nationalists has a strength of 218 seats. So far the "coalition" has a lead of 54

"After all the standard set on our victory of 1906 was abnormal, and we cannot expect to maintain it. If we judge by the standard of other general elections it will be found that the liberals will have a good working majority."

The chancellor added that it is remarkable that the most progressive communities voted for free trade. Bir-mingham voted neither for free trade nor protection, but simply stood by her greatest citizen, Joseph Chamberlain.

Councilman Wentworth Gets Through Measure to Provide Skating Rinks

Salem, Mass., Jan. 22 .- By the unanimous passage by the board of aldermen of the order directing the committee on playgrounds to proceed to establish skating rinks in every ward of Salem, Councilman Franklin Wentworth's first order was brought to triumphant success. Ssiem is a working-class town. The people are largely shoemakers and have very little opportunity for enjoyment. There is no body of fresh water near enough to make skating possible, and Councilman Wentworth's ordinance is, therefore, hailed with great delight by his constituency.

When Councilman Wentworth, who is a Socialist, took his seat it was gener-ally believed that any orders introduced by him would meet with strenuous op-position.

The triumphant passage, therefore, of this or let within eight days of its intro-duction by both houses of the city gov-ernment, is a tribute not only to the elo-quence of the Councilman in pressing the matter upon the Council, but of his political skill in disarming opposition to it.

In a monster mass meeting, heid here, the striking shirtwaist cutters decided unanimously against arbitration with the bosses. Chairran Samuel Finn gave out the following statement:

"Almost all the cutters employed in this city are out on strike, and we expect to have the remaining few out in the next few days. We are going to fight this battle to a finish, and the shouses will have to concede to all our demands. Not one of us will return to work until all the shops in the city are run under union conditions."

Arbiters Are to Be Named Idols of the People Are Within Five Days to Finally Decide Matter

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22,-The negotiations for the arbitration of the witchmen's wage agreement with the railroads entering Chicago are drag ing on slowly here. Vice President Heberling of the Switchmen's union is foing all in his power to aid the or ization he represents. The roads are represented by Vice President Melcher of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad. The arbitration is to be under the Erdman act.

The preliminary negotiations bave been partially completed, so that within five days each side will name an arbiter, and the two men selected will name the third. If they fail to do ke in a reasonable time, the third man will be named by Chairman Knapp of the Interstate Commerce commission. The actual work of arbitration will then begin and both sides are bound beforehand to abide by the decision.

Roads Still Undecided

So'far none of the roads in the di usion east of Chicago has accepted the proposition which the Order Railway Conductors and the Brother-hood of Railway Trainmen have made for wages, hours and general working conditions which are to conform with the somewhat better conditions prevailing on the western roads. Seven ty eastern roads are involved. The freight brakemen, members of the E of R. T., want $2.35 as a standard for a ten hour day.

In Chicago F. B. Harriman, general manager of the Illinois Central and son of the late Edward H. Harriman, states that the road with which he is connected has such great difficulty in paying its 7 per cent dividends that it can not afford to pay the increase which the switchmen, trainmen and others demand.

In the arbitration between the rallroad telegraphers and the Illinois Cen-tral, the taking of verbal testimony has been discontinued, so that the two parties to the negotiations may some auditing, which will show how in the wage increase asked by the te

There would be no necessity of denying themselves meat to force the food trusts to let up a little on the prices. In Chicago we have fought single handed in our customers interests for as long as they have been coming here; yet, while our enormous purchasing power has enabled us to buy as low as any, and lower than most, we have steadfastly refused to take advantage of rising prices for our own profit. Our prices have never gone up, neither has our quality ever come down. Tomorrow and Saturday we have quoted everything, as nearly as possible, at "uld-time" prices. We believe this, will prove the greatest opportunity you will have for some time to buy under the market.

"Eggs" and what Tom has of overcoats to sen cheap.

If eggs are too high, go without them; that is what I may have to do unless I can sell this lot of overcoats. Now I will tell you about the overcoats, afterward about the eggs.

I have on hand 70 "Protector" and "Presto" patent collar overcoats I did sell at 17.50 to 25.00-also 231 plain and fancy overcoats formerly sold at 17:50 to 25:00-124 overcoats made for stout men. I sold those for 17.50 to 25.00. I AM GOING TO LET YOU HAVE YOUR PICK SATURDAY AND ALL NEXT WEEK AT 15.00. I don't want to put these overcoats in "cold storage," where all the eggs are. If we clothiers stored all our clothing, in a little while these overcoats would sell at 50.00 apiece. No wonder a hen cackles louder than she used to; when she lays an egg she is laying up (no, down) just 5 cents, and if the hens could form a "warm storage" trust, an Easter egg would be a 10 cent egg.

The man who has charge of my shirt-to-order department, where we make three shirts for $5.00 and give four cuffs to each shirt, he knows more about chicken farming than any man in Chicago. Come in-he will tell you all about it.

SATURDAY BARGAINS WILL BE 1,000 PAIRS OF SHOES, ALL SIZES, ALL WIDTHS, WORTH 3.00 AND 3.50, AT 2.50. Not a lot of old fruck but nice, clean, handsome shoes. By the by, they are made out of leather. In the shoe department will be on sale a lot of those 2 for 25c black seamless socks at 6c (6 pair to a person only). A lot of celebrated "Star" fancy shirts, worth 1.50 and 2.00, at 85c. 50c President suspenders at 35c. Saturday we will have 15 men in our shoe department to try and wait on the crowd. My advice to you is to come early. If you have never been inside of this store you will be surprised, it is the second largest clothing business in Chicago, although it is one of the youngest.

I will be glad to see you tomorrow, that is the reason I am spending the money and my valuable time on this ad. Won't you come in? You might just as well trade with me as those millionaires on State street. Next week's ad will be about the price of butter.

Mikado Rejects Knox Plan for 'Neutral' Railroads in Manchuria

Tokyo, Jan. 22 .- The Japanese government has, in a polite declination of the proposals made in the Knox letter on the Manchurian railroads, served nothe Chinese railroad loan, have caused the United States government to in-terfere in Manchurla. The reply of the Japanese government to the proposal of the United States for the neutralization of the Manchurian railways was given to Ambassador-O'Brien today. It is a polite declination.

No intimation of the contents of the memorandum of reply is given, but the best information obtainable indicates that the communication is brief and that the declination to accept the neutralization proposition is based on several grounds, the chief of which are: The American plan would be of no

It would afford no advantage to It would not chauge the commercial situation in Manchurfa where Japan is adhering strictly to its pledges of an open door and equal opportunity.

It is understood that the reply is couched in terms of friendly appreciation of the American purpose, but it is not of an argumentative character and its conclusions are not qualified.

Russia Is Hostile

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 22.—The Japanese government has decided to discounte-nance emigration to distant lands, ac-cording to advices brought by the steamer Empress of Japan, which arrived from the orient today. It is the plan of the government to encourage the settlement of Japanese in Manchuria and Kerca by making land grants to bona-fide settlers. Except in the case of the emigration to Brazil and Peru, the government feels that the movement of its citizens to foreign countries has been a failure.

STUDYING BRAIN TO SOLVE SLEEP

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 22.—Prof. R. M. Wenley of Michigan University has made public the nature of the experiments made at the university upon patients with trephined skulls, in probing into the mysteries of sleep. The accepted theory of sleep has been a lessening at blood supply in the brain. The experiments showed directly opposite conditions. ite conditions. By deli, ite and most careful measurements, the following results were secured and tabulated

The size of volume of the brain increases when the individual goes to sleep, and decreases when he awakens.

On this point, it was noted that in some cases the brain became smaller at first, and then increased as sleep beame deeper. Very striking was the evidence that the size of the arterial pulse from the brain increases steadily, with the in-crease in volume, that is that the dilatdespite the large volume and heavy pulsation during sleep, is lower at that time. The sleep passes off, the brain volume decreases, but then the blood pressure increases.

These results show that whatever sleep is caused by, it is not a lessening of fine blood supply to the brain, for there is no such lessening.

JAPAN RESENTS BOBBY THE ? MARK What He Asks and What Papa Sez

Papa Vorkmann had just finished wiping his glasses. He had swore several times at the small type used in the Daily Socialist news columns and had just ettled down to read when-BANG! went a chair. Papa swore again-under his breath. He always swore under his breath, because—well, because Mamma Vorkmann didn't approve of cussin'.

BANG: THUMP, THUMPETY THUMP. Papa took off his glasses, hitched up his trousers a little. The door burst open and Bobby, little Vorkmann, was "Well, what the --- " Papa coughed, took a step toward the little image of himself standing before him-and sat down.

"Papa, wot does mamma do it for?"

"Huh! do what, you little imp?" demanded papa, putting on the stern front. "Make the grocer man sine the book," replied Bobby, looking behind him for a safe retreat. "What grocer; what book; when and where?" cried the exasperated papa.

'Come, young man, ask a sensible question once in a while.'

Bobby looked at his sire quinzically, and then grinned. "Don't choo know, off the Japanese colonial schemes, even papa?" he asked. "It's the grocer man, McCrea, at West 69th street, where she though American bankers, interested in always buys the grub. She hands 'im a book and he sines it and grins at 'er'? Papa's stern look venished. He smiled and beckoned to his son.

Come here, Bobby, you darned question mark, and I'll tell you all about it if you promise not to ask a question while I'm tellin' it. Do you promise?"

"'Onest Injin, I do papa." whispered Bobby, expectantly.
Papa wetted his "LIPS" with a little "WATER" and began: "That book, Bobby, is a DAILY SOCIALIST PURCHASERS' LEAGUE BOOK."

"Wot's that, papa?"

Papa knied threateningly and Bobby subsided suddenly.

'The Daily Socialist, you know, Bobby, needs much money." "Does it, papa?"

"It needs the money bad, because it had none when it started. People like mamma and myself have given much a long time. Then all at once it was discovered that if our paper could get enough business men to advertise in it we would not have to give so much. Advertisements, you know, Bobby, cost much money

"Do they, papa?"

"All that money goes to the paper in which the advertisements are placed. Our paper, of course, tried to get these business men before, but they wouldn't

"Wouldn't they, pa?"

"Then we discovered a new power. We found out that if we began patronizing only the business men that advertised in our paper the others would soon come in. There is an awful lot of us all over the United States, you know-

St. Petersburg, Jan. 22.—Russia's reply to Secretary Kaox's note proposing the neutralization of the Manchurian railways was delivered to Ambassador Rockhill today. It has been understood generally that Japan and Russia would take identical action on the American proposal.

'Is there, papa?''

"So we formed a Purchasers' League. We had books printed, and these we use on all the fellows we buy from. We make them sign the book and put in it how much we bought in his store. Then when we have $20 worth of goods bought from advertisers in the book we return it to the Daily Socialist and get a credit slip for 75 cents, good for any book in the Daily Socialist book department, and proposal. let me tell you they have some good books there of all kinds."

"Have they; papa?" "Yes, they have; that 'Martin Eden' ever there and that 'History of American Portunes' and that 'Graustark' are all books that I got for my Purchasing Book. Mamma lets the neighbors use the book and some of them have Purchasing Books of their own now. It's a great scheme, and it is bringing great results." "Wot's this card for, pa?"

"Oh, that is a card we use on fellows that do not advertise in our paper yet and in theaters. You see what it says?

WE PATRONIZE ADVERTISERS IN THE CHICAGO DAILY SO.

"We use that card in theaters mostly, for we can't stop at the box window long enough to get our book signed. I carry a bunch with me all the time. Next time we go to see a show, watch me slip a few to the box window man. We want to get the theaters to use our paper."

"Where do you get the cards and books, pa?"

"At the Daily Socialist office, 180 EAST WASHINGTON STREET. We either call for them or send a post card. When we think a business man that we talk to would advertise we tell the Daily Socialist about him via a card or

"Yes, almost all do. There are some who are slow, but they'll wake up soon. The scheme is doing wonders, as you will see by the ads in the Daily Socialist. "Will I, papa?"

BY R. DVORAK

Gee, look at that Business Directory. It needs a doctor. Most of all it needs a stimulant. The Purchasing Book is the advertising stimulant. Use it on the Business Directory advertisers and they will begin to come in and stick.

(The following is an address recent- | to win her-he will have to deserve h ly delivered in New York.)

As we regard the ready sympathy of woman; as we read countless tales of self denial and sacrifices of mother love; as we detect in the rare gift of intuition with which she is so generously endowed a new and wondrous spiritual faculty whose possibilities are beyond our ken, as we regard these ineffable gifts, we are lost in wonder that they have not long since changed the brutal aspect of the world, and ushered in a reign of peace and love.

Why have not these tendencies and superiorities, which we all acknowledge to be good; before which we all must bow in admiration-why have they not long since dominated our social life and redeemed us from barbarity? How is it possible that one child in all the world can utter an unheeded cry, while a single mother heart beats anywhere? How is it possible that beardless boys will stand with woman's kiss upon their lips in soldier ranks to kill their brothers whom they do not know, while any woman lives whose hands have clenched at a man-child's birth? Ah, fatal

It is because around every woman's life there has been raised an invisible wall of mental tyranky that has turned her noblest attributes to selfish ends and met with harsh resentment every effort she has made at higher living.

Behind this barrier woman has been locked in what is called her 'sphere'; a region vast in pettiness and futility, until the slow mental grinding of the centuries has dwarfed her mind, enfeebled her body and shrouded her soul in webs of superstition.

In the world today there is never

o dire an enemy to social growth and initiative as the petty, pious woman who has been all her married life an admiration society for some shallow admiration society for some shallow pated men. By her very dependent po-sition she is prone to adopt the opin-ions and imbibe the prejudices of the man who feeds and clothes and calls

Do not expect the woman whose husband has always kept her fed and clothed, who has never walked the street hungry, uncared for and alone, to always understand that vegetation is not i time. Her mind is made by her cond. ion. All growths stop to gether.

Thus we see what woman's 'sphere' has made of woman. Stified in this fog of pettiness, her province marked out for her by others than herself, the upper class woman becomes a fashion plate, the middle class woman an upper-servant, and the working class woman slave companion of her slave hus-

As with men, so with women; the bulk of human misery is achieved by the married women of the working class; for added to the unassisted care of their families are often bitter poverty and periods of haunting fear.

From the time man got upon his hind feet and swung his hickory club over a bit of land he called his own, woman has crouched at his feet and done his bidding. Every fetich, every superstition, every cowering fear that has sent him quaking before an image in his brain, has found in her an intense and quivering echo. Every enslaving idea quivering echo. The free woman! What a fearful image lurks behind the phrase!
We are noting today on every hand a marvelous public solicitude for the preservation of the femily.

Beautiful, idyllic pictures are painted of the family group within the sacred walls of home, around the shaded library lamp in the atmosphere of art and music—and the Socialist is bitterly censured as the iconcelast who would ruth. Frank Marshall White, in Harpers Weekly: The first unfair condition to which children of the poor are subjected after coming into the world is the result of had housing. Mr. Parsons gives the result of an investigation in Berlin, where of 2.711 infantile deaths, sured as the iconociast who would ruth-lessly shatter all this ideality.

But we who are working for Social-ism know that the vast majority of the workers have never known such a home in all their history. We know 1,792 occurred in one-room spartments, 754 in two-room spartments, 122 in three-room spartments, and 43 in spartments of four rooms and over. Glas-gow statistics show that the general mortality during a ten-year period in that city was 21.7 per thousand where 2.05 for each bedroom the mortality increased to 26.6 per thousand. the disks are attached directly to the plow. This new plow is the invention of William and James Paterson of Fresno, Cal. William Paterson is a brother-in-law of John Mitchell, ex-president of the United Mine Workers.

For thirty years those two brothers have been inventing and patenting va-rious kinds of agricultural implements and for years have been working on the idea of a motor plow. At last they have succeeded in making a plow that can be used in localities where the rain fall is 40 inches and over. This is an important point as all former efforts have failed in which steam power has been applied to plow-ing because where the rain fall is 40 ing because where the rain fall is 40 inches or over the soil is so soft that the disks cut into the ground and the plow refuses to move. The new gasoline engine propelled plow just invented cannot be clogged and will plow down hill, up hill and on the turn. The accompanying cut shows the plow with all its top rigging removed and looking down at it from above. The object of the invention was to provide turning the cannons of middle class prejudices upon the Socialists.

Their conscious and deliberate tactics is to divert the attention of the people from their own stealthy and immoral appropriations to subjects of religion and the relations of the sexes.

They know too well that these are the subjects about which cluster the biindest feelings of prejudice, which prejudice they hope to awaker as a strong and subtle foe to reason.

For if the economic proposition were and subtle foe to reason.

For if the economic proposition were fairly and honestly met, they know that unclouded reason would quickly see and define the moral leprosy of their own position as spenders of the life substance which they do not help to produce. object of the invention was to provide a disk plowing appartus in which a se-ries of disks should be so mounted that they could be successively and inter-mittently introduced into the soil and raised, revolving during their passage through the ground at the same time act in propelling the appartus in ad-dition to their main function of turning

Unions in Politics

Work sixteen hours a day, if they choose, and far be it from the judicial mind to interfere with "freedom of contract." Almost every labor measure has net the same objection. Is an attempt made to "control the trust"?

Always the one objection hursed in legislation or in courts it that the itempt made to "control the trust"? nunciation comes a demand that union men shall use their votes to defeat these men at the next election.

That is one step along the right road, but if the next step is simply to put another man in, representing the same forces, the same complaint will be raised again next year and the year after. Busse was elected as the united candidate of the Republican and Democratic machines. He is the product of the union of the highly respectable traction grabbers and the helpless creatures of the lodging

Just at the present time the whole city administration is thoroughly discredited. The disclosures begun by the Daily Socialist have spread until it is hard to find a person who is not thoroughly convinced of the rottenness of the whole concern. This situation gained, they embodied it in law and offers an opportunity that will undoubtedly be grasped by some sostone of the legal structure.

Poor President Taft! He tries to be Verily the old order changeth, giving logical and consistent. Rosewelt did containing for individual and economic the field with some respectable business man at its head will be able treedom. Persons worked for the lord and some of these trues he liked the new cometh hard and with much wriggling. to exploit the antagonism to the Busse gang and ride into power.

Such a move would bring no relief to labor. In fact, "reform" administrations, controlled by "big business," are frequently more consistently antagonistic to the interests of the working class than a purely "boodle" gang.

This is the trap that is lurking for union votes in the immediate future. If the older policy of "rewarding friends and punishing enemies" is continued in Chicago the only result will be to throw out one gang of capitalist officials and put another in power.

A political party that will really represent the interests of labor must be controlled by working men and women. It must be financed and directed by laborers.

Moreover, it must stand in opposition to the powers of exploitation. It must attack the institution of private property by which

Without it does these things it will be but another reflection of the forces that are crushing labor and will leave matters unchanged.

The only party that meets these tests is the Socialist party. It alone has the machinery, the principles and the methods of organization that fit it to represent the working class of the political field.

Miners Coming Together

It is a matter for congratulation that each year sees a closer union between the Western Federation of Miners and the United Mine Workers of America. Already the stage has been reached where membership cards are exchanged, and where there is a close co-operation at many points.

Delegates from each of the unions attend the conventions of the other, and the common ground grows broader with each such meeting. In time of conflict each has come to look upon the other as its first ally. In every battle the treasuries have almost been used as a common fund, so quick have been the mutual responses to calls for-

Could these two great organizations be united it would mean the creation of the largest union in the world. It would be the height of foolishness for an outsider to attempt to offer advice on this subject, for only those most closely familiar with the affairs of the unions and the industries in which they operate could presume to speak on this matter. But if the difficulties incident to the differences in metal and coal mining can be overcome the consolidation would have a widespread influence upon the labor movement in the United States.

Both bodies have the industrial form of organization, and a single union they would wield a tremendous influence for industrialism. Both have a large number of members who have come to see beyond the immediate struggle for wages, to the necessity of utilizing all the powers of labor in the class struggle. Both have placed themselves alongside the unions of other lands by declaring for the principles of Socialism.

The merging of these two bodies, if it can be brought about without friction, or loss of vantages already gained, would add mightily to the forces of progress in the trade union movement of the United Output of the year was 7,275,113 ounces, an increase of 222,496 over preceding year. This improvement, however, is less than the ordinary annual increase, and is attributable to the large yield, in the earlier part, of the year.

The Germans, the Danes, the Norweg-ians and other European Socialists each year publish in convenient form almanacs, which, in addition to contains ing the regular calendar of the current year, bring to the readers a wealth of valuable information to the Socialist as well as to the student of economics, sociology and the general work movement toward industrial democ

(Norwegian), published by H. Osterholt, Socialist House of the People, Christlania, and printed by the Workers' Co-operative Printing office.

The material in the book divides itself naturally into five principal parts, and each subject may be located with ease by consulting the comprehensive index, which follows the title page.
Under the first head appears the official almanac of the Norwegian government, edited and published by the Christlania university, which possesses the sole right in Norway, by act of the storthing, to prepare, edit and publish almanace and calendars. The right to include the official almanac in publicaalmanacs and calendars. The right to include the official almanac in publications of the kind here dealt with is obtained by the payment of a small tax to the government. Norwegians are satisfied with this arrangement, as almanacs and calendars prepared by the faculty of the astronomical division of the university insures, accuracy.

The official almanac is followed by a "Historical Calendar," covering forty-cisht pages of historical data, with all sinte reconciliation in some fashion with the time hallowed theories of "free competition" and "free contract." Nothing but social ownership will transform the trusts into a public bene fit instead of a means whereby every form of true democracy and freedom is made impossible.

After feudalism, came free contract; after free contract will come social democracy, giving freedom new and gen-uine foundations.

But in this transition time it is interesting to note how the legal out-growths of the old seek to hold their own under the spparent but unrecognized conditions of a new era.

Free contract for men who must work for certain concerns or starve!

He is one who enforces laws. He is he mayor, the governor, the president. He has a kingly power in his right to veto legislation and yet a greater power in deciding at will whether to inforce or not to enforce laws. Most of the Parliaments of Europe control to a great extent the Executive. If he doesn't enforce the laws which they have made they can usually centure him and often even turn him out. He enforces laws when he likes.and refuses to enforce laws when he likes. It is the theory of our government that it represents the people. It was the theory of its founders that it should keep order and not interfere.

This power is the mounted police.

It is called in Russia, the Cossaeks.

It is called in Ireland, the Constabulary, and by that name it prospers in the great State of Pennsylvania.

Before it crowds of anxious strikers ave been driven back to their cabins

By the use of the militia and of the constabulary the Executive interferes in trades disputes, patrols property, de-fends professional strike breakers, pro-tects thugs and Pinkertons, all for the sake of property and for the purpose of crushing honest, hard working, impov-erished men.

STUDY COURSE IN SOCIALISM

Authorized by the National Executive Committee

The Capitalist Class Now Parasitic.—Like other ruling classes in history, the pitalist class has performed a useful social function. Like them, it has outlived its usefulness

When power-driven machinery first came into use, the masses were not ye prepared for organized action, were not capable of uniting their small individual ions into large units of capital, training specialists to manage them, and orking co-operatively under their guidance. The question was between a continuance of the old individualistic small production and the rise of large produc-As a matter of fact he "couldn't if prevailed, not because the people preferred it, but because it was the more he would and he wouldn't if he could" efficient and economical system and better fitted to survive in the competitive stay, and everybody but William Jen plants were sative survived as the people preferred it, but because it was the more break up the trusts. They are here to struggle. In the early stages of capitalism, therefore, the owners of industrial plants were sative surveyed. plants were active superintendents and administrators of industry. The success of any capitalist depended largely on his knowledge of the industry and the sagacity and diligence with which he managed it. His efforts were largely directed against the wage workers and other classes of society, but in a larger sense they were also devoted to increasing the magnitude and efficiency of production, and thus he performed a necessary function in the development of society.

> This condition no longer prevails. The capitalist class has become divided into two sections—the great and the small capitalists. Many small capitalists still superintend and administer their establishment; but small capital is now inefficient and unprogressive; the efforts of its proprietors are spent in a struggle for economic self-preservation and serve no social purpose. Great capital alone now counts in economic progress; and the superintendence and administration of great industry has been almost wholly abandoned by the captalists and intrusted to salaried employes. Far the greater part of the surplus-value produced in capitalist industry goes to persons who have nothing to do with the management of industry—goes to the owners as owners, regardless of whether they do any productive work or not.

The capitalists, as a class, have thus become unnecessary in the conduct and development of production-have become a parasitic class.

Conflict Between Capitalist and Proletarian Interests .- Under these condiions, the economic and social interests of capitalists and of wage workers are fundamentally opposed.

The product of any industry is the joint product of all the workers di ectly or indirectly engaged in it. With slight exception, the product is created by workers who do not own and controlled by owners who do not work. . As shown before, especially in Lessons HI and IV, surplus-value is what emains after deducting wages from net product. It follows that, as a rule capitalists desire to reduce wages and workers to increase them; capitalists desire to lengthen and workers to shorten the labor-day; capitalists desire a higher speed of labor and workers a slower rate.

But these are not the only points of opposition.

Wage workers desire safety of life, limb, and health. But these depend upon lequate space, lighting, ventilation, and cleaning in places of work, safeguarding of machinery, and employment of skilled and careful workmen during moderate hours and at a moderate rate. It is often cheaper for capitalists to employ bildren and inexperienced workmen, to work them at exhaustingly high speed for exhaustingly long hours, to dispense with safety appliances, and to crowd nachines and workers into small, dirty, ill ventilated shops. This keeps down expenses and increases the capitalists' income at the cost of sickness, injury, and death to workers.

Wage workers desire steady employment, with regular daily and weekly periods for rest and enjoyment. Capitalists desire to run their establishments periods for rest and enjoyment. Capitalists desire to run their establishments full force and overtime in rush seasons and in slack seasons to reduce the force, run part time, or shut down. Their income is thus increased at the expense of alternate overwork and unemployment for the workers.

The wage workers desire the rights (and actual enjoyment of the rights) of organization, assemblage, and discussion and agitation by speech and print for the advancement of their interests as wage workers. The capitalists, fearing such collective action, use their economic power (discharge, blacklist, lockout) and their political influence (anti-labor laws, injunctions, suits against unions, abuse of police and military) to destroy such organizations and stifle such discussion.

Back of all these conflicts over the details of the relation between employers discussion.

Back of all these conflicts over the details of the relation between employers and wage workers in the capitalist system lies a conflict of ultimate ideals: The capitalists stand for industrial autocracy—for the right and power to control for their own profit the production carried on by their employes. The wage workers aspire toward industrial democracy—toward abolition of capitalist power and profit and establishment of self-government in industry, collective control of production by and for the workers themselves.

Out of the conflict over wages, hours, speeding, protection for life and limb, child labor, regulation of work, etc., rises the labor union movement, with the strike, boyecut, label, etc., as its weapons.

In the conflict for the right to organize and agitate for these immediate aims, the labor movement is drawn into the political field, because the capitalists use political power against it.

The workers are thus led to a clearer realization of their fundamental interests and ultimate ideal, as well as of their potential strength, and the labor movement tends to become Socialistic—i. e., the working class becomes enlisted, not only in a struggle for partial immediate improvement of its conditions under capitalism, but at the same time in a struggle for collective ownership and control of the means of production which the workers already collectively create and operate and which are necessary for the existence of civilized society.

Minor Class Ant-gonisms.—This struggle between the capitalist and wage working classes does not altogether exclude other class antagonisms and their expression in economic and political class struggles.

There are intermittent struggles between great and small capitalists, with the farmers sometimes in alliance with the latter—e.g., Populism and Bryanism. There have been sharp conflicts between the financial, commercial, and industrial sections of the capitalist class, generally over questions of tariff and finance; but these are being eliminated by the fu

The growth of the working class in numbers, of the capitalist class in wealth and economic power, and of both in solidarity, tends more and more to make the struggle between these two the dominant question and to subordinate all antagonisms within these classes or between other classes. On both the political and the economic field, the members of all other classes are being compelled to take sides on the labor question, for or against the labor unions, for or against the Socialist party.

SUGGESTIONS FOR DISCUSSION

1. It is a well known fact that many persons who were not wage workers—professional men and even capitalists in Europe and here, and farmers in this country—have been active, able, and faithful participants in the Socialist movement. How do you explain this fact, in view of the antagorism of class in terests? Does this fact give reason to expect that Socialism will cease to be a working class movement, or that it will triumph otherwise than through the struggle between capitalist and working classes? If not, why not?

2. Are the interests of capitalists and wage workers opposed on all matters of public policy? Or are there matters of common good to society as a whole, upon which the interests of different classes do not conflict? Give examples.

3. We often hear men say: "I am opposed to Socialism because modern recience teaches us to believe in evolution rather than in revolution." What is the fallacy in this argument?
