VOL. XV.-No. 1

SATURDAY, JANUARY 7, 1933

Price Five Cents

Vivid Pictures of Wrecked Capitalism Presented in Hoover Committee Repor

EACH industrial crisis, beginning in 1884, has been followed by an elaborate investigation and report. The report of President Hoov Committee on Recent Social Trends follows precedent, except that it is not the work of politicians and three members of the commit have some standing in the social sciences. The official summary is cautious. That was to be expected; but a summary of the summary rev some standing in the social sciences. The official summary is cautious. That was to be expected; but a summary of the summary rev some interest and in the social changes. It comes close to Socialist interpretation of history, although the authors do not always follow the logic of their basic conception. Climate, soil and assources are fundamental. In this setting, "Scientific discoveries and inventions instigate changes first in the economic organization as habits which are most closely associated with them. Thus factories and cities, corporations and labor organizations, have grown response to technological developments."

Secondary results follow. "The next great set Secondary results follow. "The next great set of changes occurs in organizations one step further temoved, namely in institutions such as the family, he government, the schools and the churches. Somewhat later, as a rule, some changes in social philosophies and codes of behavior, although at times these may precede the others. . . . All of these factors act and react upon each other, often the perplexing and unexpected ways."

perplexing and unexpected ways."
How these forces have affected farmers, workers, the middle classes, politics, the churches, government and other aspects of our capitalist civilization is the theme of the report. It hints of classes and groups with divergent interests and ideas and of "dangerous tensions" in society. One thing is considered indispensable. "Willingness and determination to undertake important integral changes in the reorganization of social life, including the concepts and the political orders, rather than the conomic and the political orders, rather than the ursuance of a policy of drift."

The Making of Robots

The Making of Robots

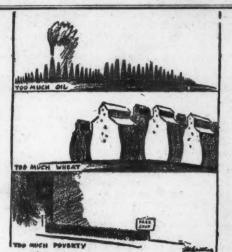

As though looking down upon us from a lofty eminence the committee points out various defects of our ramshackle capitalism. "Even in the best years (of prosperity) millions of families are limited to a meagre living," and in this era at least 10,000,000 workers have no jobs. It is likely that the American standard of living will continue to decline because of the pressure of the jobless. Despite the fact that for 15 years there has been no increase in crop acreage nor in acre-yields in 30 increase in crop acreage nor in acre-yields in 30 years, "agricultural production has increased about 50 per cent since the beginning of the century."

Power machinery and the gas engine have increased aroduction, the engine releasing 10,000,000 horses and mules on the farms.

The agricultural output per worker "increased per cent between the average of the decade 1912—11 and the average of the decade 1922-1931" and ral poverty areas" present a problem as truly as "urban slums." The farm population decreased er a million between 1920 and 1930, but since the latter year jobless workers have fled to the rural e latter year jobless workers have fled to the rural

Some idea of the mechanization of industry that turning human beings into robots is given in the figures of the number of patents issued. "In 1851-1855, 6,000 patents were granted in the United States; in 1875-1880, 64,000; in 1901-1905, 143,-000, and in 1926-1930, 219,000."

And the displacement of labor? "A larger pro-ortion of work by machines and a smaller proportion of human labor is to be expected in the future. There are, indeed, a few cases of wholly automatic factories." Yet since the beginning of the twentieth How Much Longer?

And will huge reports by Presidential Commissions lead us out of the mess? And if not how will we get out of it?

century the output per worker in manufacturing industries has increased 50 per cent. Then in "several industries the hours worked were as high as 60 per week in 1930 and in others as low as 44."

The mass production that is flattening millions of hyper house high as a least the second sec of human beings into uniform pancakes is also breaking down the diversity of rural life. That is to say, this levelling once attributed to Socialism has become a marked phase of the capitalist system. "Those groups of the population which change their economic and social habits most change their economic and social habits most slowly are now objects of this pressure."

While the machine and mass production are shaping human life like dough in the hands of a baker the political framework of capitalism remains largely what it was when the "fathers" set it up in the eighteenth century. The local governments set up when we traveled by horse and based upon "wealth largely in farm lands are not suited to the wealth largely in farm lands are not suited to the extended areas of operations caused by the automobile and the railroad." We may add that ancestor worship is powerful in restraining us from scrapping the ancient work of the "fathers." Industrial charges in the second of the "fathers." dustrial change is revolutionary but politics and government are like an Egyptian mummy.

While there is a growing interest in science as clerical influence is on the decline, social philo ophies resist change. "Their changes often lag be hind the social organizations with which they a connected. Thus economic philosophies in regard to laissez-faire and competition persist in the where the combination movement is an according plished fact."

The committee must have had Herbert Hoov in mind when writing that paragraph. He a his allies ration out ox-cart ideas to keep the mas under the control of a machine age capital. While these ancient ideas are passed down to masses "large ranges of government have dominated by avowed spoilsmen, corrupt, in petent and partisan, or all three together, graft and buncombe have been common." It this to great cities "in the grip of organized defiant criminals" is but a step.

The Answer of Socielism

The Answer of Sociali

The need of more serious and vital thin obvious to the commission but many peopl "cling to ideas, ideals, institutions, blindly peven when outworn, waiting until they are mand given a new meaning and a new mo expression."

rhese are high spots in the report which remen with troubled minds. They do not say all the should be said or always state clearly what the mean. They are physicians examining a be wrecked capitalist system. They are sobered what they observed. They want us to know so thing of the trends of the system, but they do want us to get unduly excited about them. The favor neither the numbskull nor the revolution point of view. They are content to throw vivid pictures on the screen with the exituate more of us will do some thinking and Largely financed by a gift from the Research.

Largely financed by a gift from the R Foundation, we could not expect more commission; but much of the material in indicates that the volumes that are t will be useful for Socialist education. Alth cautiously worded the social and economic tredisclosed show that the American capitalism erated by millions is rapidly changing. What she replace it? replace it?

That is the question that will occur to the ent reader. And the Socialist answer is gent reader. And the Socialist answer is ganization of a class-conscious army of the masses to transform it into a Socialist C wealth where machines and mass production work for us and not for the enrichment of exploiters.

FUSION THE WAY OUT?"

EBSTER HALL, 110 East 11th Street NINTH ANNIVERSARY DINNER of THE NEW LEADER

CONGRESSMAN F. H.

FRIDAY EVENING FEBRUARY 10th, 1933

DR. WILLIAM JAY SCHIEFFELIN

LAGUARDIA – HILLOUIT

WEND AND A SHIP THE THE PARTY

SATURDAY, JANUARY 7, 1933

"Progressive" Governor

OVERNOR LEHMAN sent his message to the islature this week and we are curious regard-ntents. He who passed the Democratic on plate in the financial district in 1928 is overnor of the State of New York. He is a overnor of the State of New York. He is a of Labor" and hunger stalks throughout the He is aware of it. He declares that the the jobless is between 1,250,000 and 00, or 25 per cent of the working population. as high as 1.750,000 and declares that number as high as 1,750,000 and declares that umber is increasing. vernor Lehman asks us not to indulge in ria. "No panacea has been found for the on of our ills. No panacea will be found." In words he closes the door to any solution of blem of guaranteeing employment, food, and shelter to workers who live in a so-having the greatest productive powers the has ever known! That point of view is basic aim and we can understand how a man of wealth can hold it and sleep well. We doubt, er, if the suffering masses can subscribe to it. er, if the suffering masses can subscribe to it.

adds that "all economic groups in the r_tion mutually interdependent" and "no class can be ened for the benefit of another." Moreover, "no sive or unwise burdens" should be "imposed on seans the owners of industry. The owners sed the industries and have locked out milworkers. Would it be a "burden" for the take over the closed industries and invite kers to operate them in the interest of those of them? If the capitalist owners cannot or operate them and workers want to but are from operating them, is there no other illable to operate them? Governor Lehman "There is no panacea."

r, he understands that the situation is be-rave. He states that .50,000 families in are dependent upon relief although the dministration places the number at 410,000. ts that not only has private and public aid afficient to meet the "extraordinary requireof the existing situation" and that the "strain ite, local, and private resources has . . . at eached its limit." Conditions have become so in the richest state in the Union that "We forced to look to Washington for assist-

New York State for fourteen years and one o to Washington in March to assume the exec-power of the nation. All the brains at Albany unavailing in coping with this universal nd the state is now compelled to go to on with cap in hand for alms to care for a cald and the hungry!

obless the cold and the hungry!

a caly other suggestion Governor Lehman

s is "A program looking toward a system of ployment insurance." Just what will come out

e legislative hopper as a result of this recomation we do not know, but if it is anything while the workers of the state will have to on the steps of the capitol and insist that a collection of "jokers" are not substituted for ng class votes invested in this Governor

The World We Live In

A Socialist View of the Week

Political Action and The Aims of Socialis

The Aims of Socialism

In his own field of education John Dewey has no peer but we are unable to pay him that compliment in the field of politics. In a recent number of The Nation he considers the Socialist Party and the future of "radical political action." He sees divergencies in the party and so do we. We have always had them and will never be without them.
What does Mr. Dewey want? Aside from using the League for Independent Political Action for the purpose of bringing about a union of "radical" forces it is difficult to understand what he desires.
"I do not charge the Socialist Party with standing for sectarianism and division," he writes. "I do say that we desire a union of forces to which Socialists can and should contribute." Lack of this union has "weakened liberal and radical forces in the past" and he is opneed to "the defeatist policy" which radical forces in the past" and he is op-posed to "the defeatist policy" which assumes that "no radical political action" is possible "until the majority of the population have sunk into the prole-

The latter assumption is Mr. Dewey's. not ours. We place confidence in the proletariat but we have not waited for a majority to be proletarianized. His references to "weakened liberal and rad-ical forces" must be understood in the light of what he said at The New Leader dinner nearly a year ago. Mr. Dewey said that his aim was to found a political coalition that would be led by the middle class. This view is not inconsistent with class. This view is not inconsistent with what he writes in The Nation.

Now Mr. Dewey has the right to work for such a purpose but we have no hesitation in saying that the Socialist Party will not be a part of any such a coalition. To urge middle class leadership of any movement is to urge organization of a middle class movement to serve the mid-dle class. However much one may endeavor to recruit working masses for that movement its character remains the same. Moreover, it reveals lack of confidence in the working class. It is to be led, not lead, and that view does differ from the view of the politician who lead the parties of capitalism.

These times call for a frank appeal to the working masses to organize economically and politically for their own welfare and for their deliverance from exploitation, political servitude and social degradation. To urge them to reach up into economic layers above them for guidance is for them to admit that they are not prepared for an independent courageous and self-directed movement for their emancipation.

Middle class leadership simply mean that the working masses will be used in the futile endeavor to check the decay of the middle classes. Even if that were possible the workers would be fighting the battles of other economic groups, not their own. A genuine movement for conquering capitalism will inspire the workers with confidence in their power and their future. It will tell the decaying middle class elements that they are fighting a hapeless battle against the upper ruling classes and that their future welfare as human beings is bound up with the triumph of the proletariat, Mr. Dewey would reserve the process and have workers fight under the banner of middle class leadership.

A Two-Year Record Of Economic Decline

A CCORDING to a report of the Federal Census Bureau the value of products of manufacturing, printing and publishing industries fell 41.8 per cent between 1929 and 1931. The values were between 1929 and 1931. The values were $70,434,863,443 in the peak year and $41,333,108,998 in 1931. Other phases of a sick capitalism are reported.

In the two years the number of establishments fell—17.5 per cent from 210,959 to 174,136, walle the average number of wage earners reduced 26.3 per cent from 8,338,743 to 6,571,647. The bureau said that the rate of decin the number of wage earners under in the number of wage earners un stated the true situation in that a

WORMS

By William Allen Ward

WORMS make generals
And drafted soldiers equal; They make dirt out of Worms Are more powerful Than siege guns.

Give them time . . . they will make All men equal.

we have shown above. They have been careful to get a government that they can milk while we have been content to feed the cow they milk. He wants "cooperation between voluntary groups within industry" which harks back to the Portland convention of 1923 and effor Portland convention of 1923 and after nearly a decade of trial it was scrapped nearly a decade of trial it was scrapped in Cincinnati last November.

Equally wise was Mr. Woll in a larger field. "Internationalism may be an idealistic profession, but it can likewise be a mistaken one. The world is not helped by professing internationalism, America goes to pieces." That is by professing internationalism, while America goes to pieces." That is to say, the United States is a hermit nation little affected by what occurs in the rest of the world. The exploiting classes think otherwise and even Mr. Woll has complained of American corporations experting factories to Europe leaving porting factories to Europe leavin workers jobless at home. That probles alone requires international cooperation leaving with the working class abread. It is a voice from the tomb that speaks while the working class "goes to pieces."

Nicaragua Safe for American Capital

WITH the piety of a Uriah Heep the W State Department late last week an-nounced that the government had with-drawn its bayonets from Nicaragua after six years of armed occupation of that country. During this period it had supervised three national elections and the election last November resulted in the choice of Juan B. Sacasa for President "This country has considered it a privi-lege to assist Nicaragua and will al-ways look with friendly sympathy and Nicaragua, through her own efforts, will inevitably achieve in the future," reads the statement of the State Department.

The new executive was inducted into o__ce with an American Admiral and two army generals looking on as representatives of the United States. No doubt the country is "pacified" except for Sandino and his little band who are sworn to fight American imperialism. We assume that American banks and restors have been made secure in this Latin-American republic and that Sacasa will so use his power that American ex-ploiters can give their attention to other little nations that are ripe for looting.

Menaces to Peace In the Far East

HELL may be popping in the Far East HELL may be popping in the Far East at any time. After setting up Manchukuo and installing a Manchu as a puppet executive, Japan has turned to an attack on Jehol Province with the view of annexing it to Manchukuo. Japanese troops have taken the strategic city of Shanhaikwan which is now a amoking ruin. This is war on China. The Chinese Minister at London and head of the Chinese delegation to the League of the Chinese delegation to the League of Nations Assembly declares that "China's faith in the e_cacy of the League covenant is approaching the vanishing point.

showdown must come."

Just as ominous is Japan's refusal to sign a non-aggression pact with Russia. The Soviet power has extended recogni-tion to China and Japan is rapidly strengthening her army. Manchukuo may also be considered a thrust at Russia by Japan. Last year the Japanese and Russian press and officials exchanged sentiments although peace essential to the Russians and at peace essential to the Russians and at this time the old monarchist clique in Paris led by Grand Duke Cyril raises its head. He claims to have reached the Soviet Army and Navy with a manifesto. This is buncombe but it is obvious that the czarists are fishing in troubled waters in the hope that the royal vermin will in the hope that the royal vermin will be restored.

Unemployment Aid

And a Federal Cow
SOCIAL workers in hearings before a Senate committee in Washington of Costigan-LaFollette relief bill warne the Costiga "violent forms of expression" because of widespread unemployment. Lurie of New York reported that a in December covering 44 cities and 25 states showed increasing distress with declining resources to meet it. Relief work does not go much beyond seeing hat "nobody shall starve" and yet deaths have been reported in a number of cities due to a lack of food.

due to a lack of 100d.

However, there are some "persons" who are not starving. In law a corporation is a "person" and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has been very generous in seeing that such "persons" get erous in seeing that such "persons" get plenty of nourishment. John T. Flynn in the current number of Harper's Maga-zine, presents an inside view of the R. F. C. and its charitable work that is literally amazing. It is said that are article has been reprinted in the Congressional Record and it is possible that there will be a congressional investiga-

The big banks of the nation are sup-posed to have not been fed by the R. F. C. but Flynn shows that they were gener-ously helped through the railroads they control. From time to time as suspicions arose regarding this feder al cow Hoover issued vague statements indicating that the big fat boys were not getting the the big fat boys were not getting milk. Flynn shows that the fat were getting plenty. Compare this with the treatment of jobless millions. It is naked capitalist paternalism in contrast with the "self-help" offered

A Voice From the Tomb Offers Wisdom

WHILE the above facts were before in-WHILE the above facts were before intelligent people Matthew Woll issued a New Year's bull. The "voluntary action" which was buried at the Cincinnat convention of the A. F. of L. was resurrected by Matt as a New Year's greeting to the ragged and the hungry. It was the old wearing the mask of the

He warned us not to have "too mu dependence upon government." haven't much but the fat boys have employment or "man-hours" worked to no account of the increase in part-ti employment during the period.

In the same way the reduction of a per cent in value of products overstathe quantity production because of Sharp reduction in prices since 1929.

Only those establishments were recorded which had a production valued at $5,000 or more for the year.

The wages paid in 1929 totaled $11, 620,973,254 and the total in 1931 was $7,225,587,464. Similarly the cost of materials was $38,549,570,782 in 1929 as against $21,420,124,017 in 1931 against $21,420,124,017 in 1931.

These are dr y figures but they give some idea of what has happened in a two-year period and there is little prospect of a change for the better.

THE NEW LEADER, an official publication of the Socialist Party, supports the struggles of the organized working class. Signed contributions do not necessarily represent the policy of The New Leader. On the other hand it welcomes a variety of opinions consistent with its declared purpose. Contributors are requested not to write on both sides of the paper and not to use lead pencil or red ink. Manuscripts that cannot be used will not be returned unless return postage is enclosed.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:

SCRIPTION RATES:

By David Lasser

Rainbows of Hope in 1933

Depression begins and the worker who turns hopefully toward 1933 asks "How long, oh Lord, how long?" If he has a job he wants to know how long he will hold it; what will be the trend of wages, employment and general business? What will be the attitude of the new masters e attitude of the new masters of industry, the bankers, toward the crisis which is crushing the workers to absolute poverty?

The depression started in September, 1929, and a downtrend in tember, 1929, and a downtrend in business, employment and wages continued until July, 1932. Then occurred an upturn that lasted through October.

Considerable ballyhoo has appeared in capitalist papers about this recovery movement and it was tated that the bottom of the whole depression had been reached in July, and we were henceforth on the road to recovery.

The facts do not bear this out. At the end of 1931 a wave of panic overtook American capitalists so reat that they were ready to sell reat that they were ready to sell ur industrial system for what it could bring. For seven months would bring. For seven months there ensued a wave of financial leftation, unemployment, wage cutting and general business hysteria such as the country had never between the soft of the second seven more seen. It was a decline so fast fore seen. It was a decline so fast that if continued for a few more months the country would have plunged into complete bankruptcy.

Out of a Hole

It required the full power overnment assistance to stop the effation in July, 1932.

When it was realized that capitalism was temporarily saved, a reaction set in, a recovery movement, in which suspended consumption was resumed and securities that had been thrown overboard were repurchased. Since the decline had proceeded too quickly, even for a capitalism sliding downhill as capitalism sliding downhill, a temporary recovery was in order.

For example, the index of business activity of the New York Herald-Tribune based upon 100% as normal had declined to 67% by November, 1931. But the catas-trophic decline of 1932 plunged the index of business down to 48% in ber complete unemployment) in-July. In other words, by July, creased from less than 3,000,000 in 1932, one-third of all business April 1930 to 11,460,000 in August,

THE fourth winter of the Great Depression begins and the of Figures and Trends Shows Otherwise—Capitalism Is Swiftly Slipping.

had ceased! The autumn recovery ery movement managed to put movement raised the index to 54% some 600,000 of these unemployed by October, thereby recovering one-third of the ground lost in the seven months. But by October the increase; and the A.F.L. esti-

the recovery movement had spent itself and in November the index had fallen back to 49.5%, within striking distance of the July We have no reason to assume that the July lows will not be reached or worsened within a few months.

What has been the course of employment (or unemployment) and wages during this period? Here the utmost caution is necesreaction is necessary in reading the capitalist papers. Normally, when we speak of employment, we refer to the number of men employed for a normal working day and receiving a normal wage (little as it may be). Today no such definitions hold. The figures of employment now published refer only to the number of men at work, even though two or three men are sharing one job between them. The creating of this confusion appears to be part of the aim of the Share-the-Work campaign.

Unemployment Is Growing

Figures of the American Federa tion of Labor, recently released, show that unemployment (rememactivity of seven months previous 1932. Although the autumn recov-

mates that a new peak of unem ployment, reaching a total of 13,000,000 will be reached this winter

Department of Labor figures for Department of Labor figures for November show a drop of 1% employment and more than 3% in payrolls from October. This indicates, first, that perhaps 250,000 workers were fired during the month; and, second, that widespread wage-cutting and worksharing occurred. Otherwise the increase in unemployment would have been considerably greater.

have been considerably greater.
The success of the share-the-work campaigns will probably determine future unemployment figures, equally with the course of business. These campaigns aim not only to share jobs and wages to the further improverishment of the the further impoverishment of the workers; but also to drug the dis-content of the jobless and to improve public psychology by showing that "unemployment" is not

The figures of the A.F.L. show. The figures of the A.F.L. snow, for example, that the number of part-time workers increased from 19% of the total A.F.L. membership in January, 1932, to 23% in in October. The Federation estimates that almost as many of its numbers were on part time work members were on part time work in October as were fully unem-put ployed. Such figures applied to the entire working class make it safe Octoon on onesting class make it safe to judge that 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 workers were on part time in October, 1932. A grand total, therefore, of some 18,000,000 to 20,000,000 of the country's 38,000,000 non-agricultural workers were totally or partially unemployed in October, 1932.

What about wages? In September, 1932, during the peak of the recovery movement there were 5,000,000 wage earners employed in our manufacturing industries, according to the Federal Reserve Board. This was a drop of more than 3,500,000 from September, 1929. In September 1929 the average wage was $25 a week, and as 1929. In September 1929 the average wage was $25 a week, and as late as November 1931 it was $20.31 a week. In September 1932 it had declined to $16.00 a week. Today it is probably lower still.

The wage necessary for a minimum standard of health and decency for a family of five (even at today's living coats) has been put at nearly $40 a week.

The Share-Work Plan

Now if the Share-the-Work plan succeeds in putting half of the 3,-000,000 totally unemployed manufacturing wage earners back to work, the average weekly wage of the 6,500,000 fortunate workers would be $12 a week, barely suffi-cient to purchase food for a normal family.

But how about the "aristocrats of labor," the railway workers?

From September 1929 to August 1932 the number of railway workers declined from 1,700,000 to 996, ers declined from 1,700,000 to 996,-000. At the same time the average wage also decreased from more than $145 a month to $121 a month. In September 1932, although the number of railway workers increased to 1,010,000, the total wages paid to the 1,010,000 men was less than that paid to 996,000 men. The average wage therefore dropped during this recovery movement to $118 per month. ment to $118 per me

Railroad Wages

e a fur-If they The roads wish to make ther 10% cut in wages. succeed, the average monthly wage will drop to $107 a month; and should the Share-the-Work cam paign succeed in putting half of the 700,000 unemployed railway workers back on the job, the aver age monthly wage for the "aris tocrats of labor" would be less that $95 a month, or about one half of that necessary for health and de that necessary for health and decency.

The cry is made by bankers and their industrial mouthpieces that wages must come down because the cost of living has been reduced. Yet Mary Anderson, chief of the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor, showed that, although living costs had declin 18% in the last two years, emplo ment had dropped 33% and wage at least 54%. Notwithstanding the offensive against wages is being pressed openly and subtly. Witness the report on employment in retail trade in November. Employment actually gained, but alas, payrolls dropped. More workers, smaller payrolls seems to be the rule today. The coming months should see new drives being made by the bankers to further burden the workers with the cost of the crisis. The battle lines are being more and more tightly drawn; the class struggle is developing in its fiercest form. The capitalists are fighting to guard at all costs the mountain of claims of bonds and mortgages against an industrial-structure that can no longer support them.

The December, 1932, review of structure that can no longer support them.

The December, 1932, review of the National City Bank states its position slyly. "The great and pressing need at the present time," it says, "is for a lowering of production costs in all lines in which they are above the 1913 level." Since the prices for raw materials have already declined to that level and banks are resisting vigorous rejuction in overhead (rents, intest, etc.) it is obvious, according to the National City Bank position that is is the third major cost of that is is the third major cosproduction, wages, must be red to the 1913 level.

It is ironic that this load of mori gages which throttles all industry represents the wealth stolen from labor. It was the excess pr taken from labor during the book years and given to bondholders an stockhodlers that was reinvested in additional and unnecessary plants (Continued on Page Sixteen)

A Manual for Socialist Speakers by August Claessens

(Continued from last week)

It is an old joke and a true observa-n that the best impromptu speeches carefully prepared. A public speaker ring an audience with little or no idea plan of what he is going to say is bound plan of what he is going to say is bound to ramble, and it is only by accident that he can be coherent and convincing. But why should anyone depend upon chance when the job can be done efficiently? To that end, the extemporaneous method is the most practical. It compels the speaker to plan the speech carefully, understand the material to be used, arrange it in logical and effective order and to think out the connections and the objective to be attained. The outline or memorandum is sketched out in brief notations or short sentences, with headings and sub-headings, and then, like the famous canned soups, all that is necessary is to heat and serve. One may glance at the outline or notes while speaking, or, depending upon experience and ability, one may dispense with them altogether. It is important, however, that the speech be planned in advance. The working out of even a short speech on the back of an envelope or eard is sufficient mental discipling for good speakers, and it certainly produces the effect of unity, purose and pointedness in their talks. Al-hough one is and should be bound to an outline as the result of preparation, the extemporaneous method of speaking nevertheless permits the best in impromptu, namely, the freedom to choose words and phrases as they come to mind. It gives the speech all the spontaneity and fresh-ness so necessary in effective public speaking.

The Gathering of Data

To make a good speech one must under stand the subject. One must positively be full of the subject. A fine propagandist is an alert student whose interest in the subject is intense and continuous.

subject is intense and continuous. Eventually the subject becomes a part of him and he becomes a part of the subject.

The sources of information are many and easy to make contact with. There are innumerable books, periodicals, etc., that every student can gain access to. There are also all kinds of research bureaus, committees and organizations that gather and compile information on most every economic social and political topic. To mention but a few: The National and State Labor Departments; The Rand School Research Bureau; The League for Industrial Democracy; The National Child Labor Committee and many others. All scientific works and text books carry indexes which enable the student to turn quickly to certain pages to find what he may need. It is so easy to find material for speeches that there is absolutely no excuse for any speaker's facing an audience and not knowifig what he or she is talking about. Those in charge of our propaganda meetings should firmly discourand text books carry indexes which enable the student to turn quickly to certain pages to find what he may need. It is so easy to find material for speeches that there is absolutely no excuse for any speaker's facing an audience and not knowing what he or she is talking about. Those in charge of our propaganda meetings should firmly discourage and even refuse the platform to any speaker who is too negligent, lazy or indifferent properly to inform himself.

Many of us keep some sort of scrap books. All of us should elip, make memoranda and file in folders or envelopes all such material that we sometime use. Self-collected data are often superior to the prepared and that we sometime use. Self-collected data are often superior to the prepared and digested material gathered by others. What one sees, hears, reads and thinks about usually impresses one more deeply, and can be related much more vividly than data that we are less familiar with.

Forgetting Part of One's Speech

HE average person i s of the opinion that to be a good speaker one must have phenomenal memory. This is not true. fact, educational psychology states emon without great effort and no dividual can forget much that is intensely and continually inte In fact, when a subject becomes pone, there is greater danger of becaset and biased than there is of forg set and biased than there is of forgets and we must be ever on the alert and of to new data and opinion and cultivate critical faculty of genuine thinking.

A trained speaker also does not usus forget parts of his speech, because he do not depend upon memory alone. He usus knows what he is going to say, how should be said and how much be used. He does not burden he statistics, quotations and other. These are on his notes and by while speaking, and he quotes tation or bungling.

(To be continued next we

and recrement words about avoiding "paracone." | utated the true estuation in that actual | The food estuation in Russin marges |1,

Some Knocks at Technocracy

The bewilderment and rplexity of capitalist leaders roughout the world are relected in the quick and intense discussion given to many new ideas. Not long ago every self-respecting economist had an economic plan as indispensable as his pair of pants. Socialists had attacked the chaos of capitalist the chaos of capitalist projects for many years and been ociety for many years and been orned for their pains, but in the twinkling of an eye economic lanning became the rage. All the quality magazines carried ar-icles.

Gerard Swope of the General Electric even went to the extent of detailing actual proposals, but even his plan of trustification of industry by big business, with the trade unions left out of the picture, remained a mere pipe dream.

Professor Charles A. Beard and Stuart Chase recalled in vain the mechanism for the conscious conmechanism for the conscious con-trol of industry set up by the government under the stress of war time. All these plans, however, lacking a clear purpose and with-out any power to carry them through, remained beautiful cob-webs and no more.

comes Technocracy which has leaped overnight into the current vocabulary. Every enter-prising magazine has rushed to secure an article about this new prising magazine has tusing the proposal which foretells the abrupt breakdown of the present system and the coming beneficial rule of the technician. Three books are bready definitely announced and others will surely follow. One of the most progressive of the trade hion journals heads its. current neticle on the topic, "New for a Radicalism Which Fits America." In evening newspaper in New York mittles one article in a series on Technocracy, "Bankrupt Capital Seen Inviting Science to Remedy Nation's Ills by Technocracy."

A Big Promotion
What, way back in 1918-22, ould only be found in the One Big Inion Monthly is now being disussed everywhere. Howard Scott, he chief Technocrat, has become mystery man of the hour, and of the I.W.W. but Columbia University Inion I.W.W. but Columbia University Inion I.W.W. but Columbia University Inion Inion I.W.W. but Columbia University Inion I.W.W. but Columbia University Inion I.W.W. but Columbia University I.W. but Columbia University I.W.W. but Columbia University I.W. bu now lends its prestige to ergy survey. kian Socialists will find

g at all new in the claims thnocracy about the poten-oductivity of industry and of men to produce.

is good in Technocracy is what is new is vague and many pages of call attention to es more than half o. Charles Beard, he industrial revolubeginning of the 20th we startling examples tifold increases in pro-The Hoover Report and books of Stuart Chases to the same tendency. as the Technocrats talk about marx prophesied that would become a fetter uction and that the con-"price integuments would be under, although signifi-saw a militant working-ent as the guiding it process, and not a

THE chief by-product of the depression seems to be the amazing amount of cures pro
The howildement and The howildement and They're Talking About Long Ago.

he thought, would introduce revolutionary changes to the rapid undoing of capitalism. There is always, be it noted, a difference between theoretical and actual efficiency of men and machines. A pound of coal in a laboratory experiment yields many times as much energy as it does in the actual firebox of a steam engine or locomotive. Professor Moley at but that does not apply to potatoes.

known to the experts.

Cows and Cars

Cows and Cars

It is easy to think that mass tendency at work and to notice its tendency at work and to notice its deverything. But cows cannot be produced on the belt as are cars. Tubing may be produced by the new automatic process without the intervention of the human hand, or locomotive. Professor Moley at but that does not apply to potatoes.

Chemical Combine is advertising a fertilizer which greatly enhances the crop yield.] To recognize this tendency at work and to notice its logical culmination in particular industries does not justify the assumption that in all industries it has been so well developed that capitalism faces a breakdown solely on this account.

There is something, too, in the have erred in good company in forecasting the imminence of so-cial change. Liebknecht tells in his memoirs how Marx became very excited when he saw an early model of the electric engine which, he thought, would introduce revolutionary expressed to the revolution model of the electric engine which, he thought, would introduce revolution model of the electric engine which, he thought, would introduce revolution model of the electric engine which, he thought, would introduce revolution may know all about the one of code government, but and revolutionize the food production industries as the technician has revolutionized the production of coal, steel, and automobiles. [In Great Britain the Imperial Chemical Combine is advertising a libitorary changes to the revolution and revolutionize the food production industries as the technician has revolutionized the production of coal, steel, and automobiles. has revolutionized the production of coal, steel, and automobiles. [In Great Britain the Imperial Chemical Combine is advertising a assertion that applied invention may extend the market for a given commodity by lowering its price. may extend the market for a given commodity by lowering its price. The new Watsonograph may mean cheaper printed material. The Technocrats argue that inventions Technocrats argue that inventions are held up so that existing machinery will not be made obsolete. However, under the most rational form of society some attention would have to be paid as to whether the advantages of the new invention would compensate for the scrapping of the effort represented by the about-to-be superseded machinery. In Mr. Howard Scott's article in Harper's Magazine he contrarily suggests Magazine he contrarily sug that the machines are often used up or scrapped before the loan used in their purchase is repaid. used in their purchase is repaid. His critics have picked on this flaw in his argument. In many cases, indeed, the opposite is true; machine is still used when the capital value it represents has long been written off and its value transferred to the finished products. products.

Luxury Trades

Another point apparently for gotten by the Technocrats is the fact that workers displaced from industry by machinery are in part transferred to other industries and particularly to luxury trades and personal service. It is common knowledge that the economies ef-fected by mass production fected by mass production were lost by greater distribution costs which included the huge modern expenditure upon advertisements. In the past, new industries have absorbed some of the displaced absorbed some of the displaced workers, but of course that has been only a temporary refuge. The presence of 12 million unemployed endorses the idea that capitalism at the present moment is at a deadlock with the problems starting new lines duction.

The newer industries such as electric refrigeration, cellophane, fool-proof airplanes, and television apparatus do not seem likely to fill the bill. Another war would be suicidal, although it would provide a business boom for a while. In past crises expansion in foreign countries has been a safety valve, but tariff and immigration restric-tions and war debts and defaulted tions and war debts loans now block th

Much written by the exponents of Technocracy is grist to the socialist mill. The much used argu-ment that if all the income were ment that if all the income were shared out the individual share would be inconsiderable loses its point when the Technocrats bring additional evidence that but a minute fraction of productivity has yet been brought into play and that by 16 hours of labor weekly by each adult the wants received could be satisfied. The society could be satisfied. The too, it is easy to see that the fab cated house, the electric eye, at the mechanization of industry will further undermine the position of the craft unions which have re-tained a partial job monopoly until now.

Naturally we do not share the alarm of the capitalist thinkers when the Technocrats forecast permanent unemployment with a probable increase to twenty million in the near future.

Muddled Economics

However, the economics of the Technocrats are certainly muddled
Their pose of being superior to Marxists, economists, Fascists, soldiers, and politicians sounds affected, to say the least. They follow the tradition set by John B, Commons and his colleagues in their history of the American labor movement and talk about the
(Continued on Page Sixtees)

By Samuel H. Friedman

The Workers' Theatre Is Here

IN the theatrical world of today there is above all need for a workers' theatre not only for, but of and by workers, who shall not, however, be unfamiliar with the demands of the theatre. With sounds of the crash of capitalism resounding in our ears, and with the moans of at least a sick theatre swelling the cacophony, the call for social and revolutionary plays, produced by proletarians and supported by the class whose interest the workers' theatre serves, waxes ever louder.

for what the public wants of the Rialto entrepreneur.

The workers must have a theatre of their own. The workers must have plays of their own. American workers must have American plays of their own. The American workers must support them.

Abroad there is not only awakenng, there is realization. In this ountry there is a Workers' Abroad there is not only awaken-ing, there is realization. In this country there is a Workers' Theatre, which gave two weeks ago as the first production of its season 'Cause," by Leonard Frank, adapted from the German by Ruth

The commercial theatre does fine work—sometimes even in this very field, as when it produced plays like "Spread Eagle" and "Gods of the Lightning." But in the final analysis, the cause of labor and social justice can not be left to the whim, the magnanimity, the sense of values or the nose for what the public wants of the emphasis upon individual protest, perhaps because of its complete foreignness of locale and interest, the drama does not hit between the eyes as the all too infrequent per-formances of the Workers' Theatre should.

Which brings us back again to ar main thesis. There should be which brings us back again to our main thesis. There should be plays written for a workers' theatre, expressing the aspirations, picturing the struggles of the workers here and now. This is a job for playwrights far transcending any other.

The Workers' Theatre announces that its second play will be by Saul C. Waldbaum, a delphian who is a member of the Workers' Theatre Authors' Group. The presentation of this new drama, which is heralded as "a grim lesson in economics force-fully dramatized, relentless in its ic," perhaps will answer the stion: "Have we the beginning logic," this country of a body of authors ready to speak for the working class in terms of the theatre?"

The cast of "Cause" immensely better than the play.

The production, given especially its necessary limitations of time and money, was splendid.

The Workers' The control of th

Theatre of New The Workers' York, launched in the fall of 1930. represents in America the beginning of a movement already in full swing throughout Europe full swing throughout Europe, especially in Soviet Russia and in Germany. In the Soviet Union, the workers' theatres have already the workers' theatres have already become an integral part of the life of the people and constitute the chief driving force in the education of the masses for a new society. In Germany, where the proletarian revolution is rapidly gathering momentum, the workers' theatres under the slogan "Kunst ist Waffe" ("Art Is a Weapon") are easing into the forefront of revolutionary activity. revolutionary activity.

It is from the German wing of this moveyment that the New York Workers' Theatre draws this most of its present plays material; most of its present plays material; for in the United States, where the workers as a class are only beginning to wake up, there are potential revolutionary playwrights who are still groping in the dark of an undeveloped struggle. Accordingly, the Workers' Theatre made its first public appearances last season first public appearances last season (1931-32) with two plays by German authors on two different aspects of the German struggle. These were Richard Duschinsky's These were Richard Duschinsky's powerful "Dole Brothers" on the theme of """. powerful "Dole Brothers" on the theme of unemployment, and Walter Hasenclever's "Gentleman Wanted," a neat little satire on bourgeois love, marriage and busi-ness. Of the few suitable plays under consideration this year, four are from the pens of Garman are from the pens of German writers; and two of the four are excellent, unexampled treatments of the American scene (Haymarket riots and Sacco-Vanzetti case) in a revolutionary manner as yeunfamiliar to American play-wrights and American audiences.

wrights and American audiences.

It will take a large class-conscious workers' audience, itself organized on a permanent basis, to make the Workers' Theatre a potent weapon. The Workers' Theatre is part of the nation-wide Federation of Workers' Theatres, and is affiliated with Rebel Arta.

Anti-Tammany Fusion Subject At New Leader Dinner Debate

"IS Fusion the Way Out?"

Disgruntled Republicans who have been left out in the cold in New York for many years hope there will be a fusion of all anti-Tammany forces in the fall elections, and as a corollary they expect to be the major factor in such a fusion and get most of the jobs resulting from a hoped-for defeat of Tammany.

Reformers, eager to defeat Tammany on any terms, are trying to promote such a fusion with the Republicans, themselves and other anti-Tammany elements as the main factors. They cannot, however, ignore the vote of a quarter of a million cast in November for the Socialist candidate for Mayor, and they are trying to create a situa-tion that will compel the Socialists in the

The Socialist party will not join

The Socialist party will not join any fusion movement for reasons grounded in the very nature of the party and the philosophy upon which it is founded.

The whole subject will be discussed by at least four of the most competent spokesmen of various points of view at the ninth annual New Leader dinner Fébruary 10th, at Webster Hall, 119 East 11th Street.

the Technocrats of the Citizens' Union and chief promoter of the projected City general case. They Party, will urge the fusion movement, and he will be seconded by Congressman Fiorello H. La-Guardia, technically a Republican but actually one of the most in-dependent of New York's political LaGuardia headed the Republican ticket as candidate for Mayor in 1929, and strove to make that campaign a "fusion" battle.

Norman Thomas and Morris Hillquit, two of the leading spokes-men of the Socialist party and candidates for Mayor on the So-cialist ticket in 1929 and 1932, respectively, will present the Socialist party's position and explain why it cannot consider entering a fusion movement, even to insure the defeat of Tammany Hall.

The dinner and symposium following will be the opening of the city-wide discussion of the larger issues of what may well become the most significant and important battles in the political historwy of

By Herman R. Ansell

Making Workers Come Across

How the Community Chest Idea Works Out—Richmond Socialist Describes Destitution of the Masses and How the Wealthy Make the Workers Pay for Relief.

THE citizens of my city are kind and sympathetic. Their emotions can be easily aroused to acts of charity. They have been taught since their childhood days that "it is more blessed to give than take," and that the "Lord hateth the stingy man." Being a hospitable and God fearing (loving) people they have always endeavored to live up to the standards of righteousness.

In prosperous times the large majority of members of my com-munity did not need the scientific and business-like urge to donate charitable organizations. And the fall of each year for several weeks in succession prior to our economic collapse there were ap-peals by many societies for dona-tions from pedestrians as they trudged along the streets intent yes, the wealthy contributed their ainor portions and it was well advertised with pictures of the lonors and the checks and heralded e spontaneous humanitari-of the rich.

With the arrival of the depres With the arrival of the depression and the geometric increase of unemployed the old method of garnering cash proved cumbersome and anarchic. And the results did not measure up to anticipations. And so our society folks, the Chamber of Commerce, the Retail Merchants' Association, the Ketan Merchants' Association, the Kiwanas, Rotarians and charitable societies united all hospitable ap-peals into one, "The Community Fund Campaign."

Greed and Altruism

The latter are not only vitally interested in the dispensation of relief, because they continually remind us that the present industrial system is the last stage in human development and is in conformity with inherent human greed, but in contradiction to the avariation of man there still remains that human element of succoring less fortunate brethren. That is their philosophy of life.

That is their philosophy of life. Simultaneously the proprietors of the local press are participants in the activities of the campaign.

Unquestionably what they believe in is the fear of a turn in the course of events which may terminate a system whose very foundation is based upon exploitation and the hungry and destitute may become unmanageable, and in their blind fury may bring down the social structure upon the heads cial structure upon the heads of the beneficiaries of the iniquities perpretrated upon them.

Says our mayor in part in a dio address for the Fund:

dio address for the Fund:

'One thing we should remember: that is that people are not going to starve. A weak individual may, here and there, but as a race we are too strong, too sturdy and independent, too firmly grounded in ane and courageous philos-Thomas Jefferson to lie wn in droves and await supinely the results of starvation. Our in-dependent classes, thrown out of work by the world economic catas-trophe, have marvelously patient, cheerful and courageous under frightful adversity.

"I think they have maintained their control and fortitude largely because of their confidence in the sympathy and understanding and cagerness where they have not met this sympathy and generosity prob-lems graver than any we have faced in our city's history have other old world countries, the feeling of unity and or has never been strong atic land, commu-t been a success

ployed get their weekly allowances from the government in the same spirit with which employees accept their wages.

"I assume that most of you agree with me in the belief that our own system of voluntary giving is far better than any of its substitutes. It enables up to give ing is far better than any of its substitutes. It enables us to give as the emergency arises, instead of building a generation of idlers who are pensioned from their youth, be-fore they have ever done a days work. I feel more strongly, I am sure, than I am able to indicate in this speech that our system is worth preservnig."

His Honor Speaks

I quote his honor, a spokesman of our vested incrests, to show what asinine statements can be uttered in one breath. After an admission of the gravity of a bad situation which the capitalist system has given birth to, he appeals to the more fortunate in our peals to the more fortunate in our economic life that the brutal, chaotic and outworn system merits preservation.

preservation.

The wealthy of my city are surely not worse than those of other cities. They may have the same interests, the identical desires to exploit, to use the governmental power in their own behalf. Last summer, despite a decided decrease in the revenues of the city and the increasing demands. city and the increasing demands for expenditures on public works and contributions for unemployment relief, the wealthy property owners, through the Chamber of Commerce and the Real Estate Exchange, aided by the press, initiated a campaign for a de-crease in the realty tax. The battle cry was, 'The public demands it!' A docile city council immediately A docile city council immediately passed a measure furnishing a 15% decrease. The ink barely dried on the enactment that saved the wealthy $300,000 per year when the same group, aided by the same media of publicity, began its agitation for a decrease in the wages of the civil service employees, large enough to equal the loss sustained by the city treasury in reduced taxes. Thus far the council failed to act, not out of compassion for their emout of compassion for their em-ployees but because the individuals in the service of the city furnish the pivovtal votes which carry ultimate success to the Democratic party machine.

The striking attribute of our wealthy class is the fervent in-terest displayed in the wretched-ridden conditions of the poor and particularly the unemployed. Despite the fact that a very large ection of the working population employed in tobacco factorie which manage to furnish work three and four days to the week, still we have twelve thousand totally unemployed and twelve thousand more working part time at considerably reduced wages. The average wage of the female orker is four dollars and the

Widespread Destitation
While destitution is widespread no untoward disturbances have yet occurred, but the rich are in constant terror of it. The sword of Damocles is over their heads. To prevent what they consider a probable tragedy is uppermost in their minds. But how can that be accomplished without parting with too much of their ill-gotten gains? Here is the plan:

The capitalists, the bankers, and every shade of parasite plan to raise money by appeals to the people. Squads of small employers, their assistants, social workers and college students are organized people. Squads of small employers, their assistants, social workers and college students are organized in district committees to make their rounds from door to door. The press whip up "public responsibility" by front page appeals, cartoons and editorials; and they are off! they are off!

The Messag

In the meantime the message is conveyed to the workers in all factories and shops that they are expected to do their duty to their fellowmen and particularly so when their executives are actively participating in the success of the drive. They are informed that drive. They are informed that they are expected to donate at least one day's pay and more if possible. That those who fail to do so are not only inhuman but may displease the management. Large posters are suspended at factory entrances which read:

PREPARE FOR THE COMMUNITY FUND DRIVE!

MORE PEOPLE THAN LAST YEAR ARE LOOKING FOR-WARD TO ASSISTANCE DUR-ING THE YEAR 1933. WE WHO ARE FORTUNATE ENOUGH TO HAVE JOBS SHOULD GIVE AT LEAST AS LIBERALLY AS LAST YEAR!

THE NEEDY OF RICHMOND MUST NOT SUFFER!

And alongside is a thermometer registering the rise of the dollars.

The implication is obvious. refuse or plead inability to do so may mean ostracism by fellow employees and disgrace which must eventuate in resignation. It may mean constant irritation and fault centive to contribute.

Another scheme of emplois to notify the workers on day that one day's pay was triferred to the Community F Campaign so that the commany enjoy the reputation that employees, 100% strong, "voluntarily" made their finas sacrifice in behalf of the affir of the depression and thereby joy the "Blue Ribbon" penn Those who protest, if not the ened with summary dischs must absent themselves from the or one day as a penalty. A bolical fine for the unfortus employees who are arrears in lack the necessary food and and cannot satisfy the threat creditors. After that coercion newspapers carried the followhalf-page hypocritical advernant. "Firms and industries hewspapers carried the 1000w half-page hypocritical adverti ment: "Firms and industries Richmond who thus far have w the 'Blue Ribbon,' the high Badge of Honor in the 1932 Co munity Fund Campaign.

"On this page you will so ames of Richmond firms a names of Richmond firms and dustries whose employees he earned the Ribbon Certificate their whole hearted support of Community Fund. They she dered manfully the burden of hing other men and women who unable to help themselves. If Ribbon firms are those in wheach employee has contributed each employee has contributed an average of a day's pay." follow the names of the compression of the semade by the employees—vo and forced.

And thus the cold calculat charity doled out to Richmon despondent poor, reaching a to of $605,904, comes principally of the almost empty pockets of producers, of wealth the less than t of starved toilers.

Keep It in the Libraries

IN the drive for keeping certain public libraries on the subscrip-on list for The New Leader we have received a few inquiries from readers as to whether one or more of these libraries are located in their respective states. These read-ers want to help. They are anxi-ous that jobless workers may not deprived of reading The New Anticipating other inquiries of Anticipating other inquiries of this character we print a list of these libraries by states. Look the list over. It is our opportunity to help many a jobless man and man to have access to their So-list paper. A party branch ere a library is located may cialist where a library is located may well send in the sub. An individ well send in the sub. An individual in a city may also be able to render this service.

The second installment of the list is before you. It is now your opportunity to act. Send your payment so that the library in your vicinity may be kept on our mailing list. Do so without delay.

Illinois

University of Illinois Library, Urbana; Peoria Public Library, Peoria; Illinois State Normal Library, Normal; Northwestern College Library, Naperville; Lincoln Public Library, LaSalle; Public Library, LaSalle; Public Library, Joliet; Public Library, Granite City; Public Library, Granite City; Galesburg Public Library, Galesburg; Hemry M. Seymour Library, Knox College, Galesburg; Danville Public Library, Canton; Belleville Public Library, Canton; Belleville Public Library, Belleville; Garrett Biblical Institute Library, Evanston; Nortrwestern University Library, Evanston; Evanston Publ Library, Evanston; Elmhurst Co lege Library, Elmhurst; Periodici Division Libraries, University of Chicago, Chicago; Northwester University Library, McKiałoc Campus, Chicago; Newberry L brary, Chicago; John Crear Librar, Chicago; Crane College Library Chicago. Idaho

Public Library, Coeur d' Free Public Library, Caldy Connecticut

Public Library, Bristol, Public ibrary, Ansonia; Greenwich Licary, Greenwich. Library, Arebrary, Gree

brary, Greenwich.

Indiana
Workmen's Circle Library, Sou
Bend; Public Library, Princeton
Public Library, Peru; Public Library, Martinsville; Carnegie Public Library, Martinsville; Carnegie Public Library,
Fort Wayne; Public Library, Elwood; Public Library, Columbus;
Public Library, Columbus;
Public Library, Columbus;
Public Library, Bloomingto
Public Library, Bedford; Carne
Public Library, Anderson; Public Library, New Albany; Public Library, Logansport; Public Library, Marion; Public Library, Evans
ville. ville.

University of Iowa Iowa City; Public Library, port.

Kansas
Pittsburgh Public Library,
burg; Carnegie Free Lil
Ottowa; Free Public Lil
Oswego; Kansas State Ag
tural College Library, Manha University of Kansas Lib Lawrence; Public Library,
sas City; Library, Goodlan

The Chorus of Chaos

By James Oneal

WE have received the first issue of "Our America," a monthly paper modelled after "The Spectator" which appeared a few months ago. It is a "monthly of social critique" edited by J. B. S. Hardman, James Rorty and David J. Sances, its contributing editors J. Saposs, its contributing editors being Louis B. Boudin, D. W. being Louis B. Boudin, D. W. David, Helen D. Hill, Ludwig Lore, William L. Nunn, Walter N. Po-lakov and Art Young.

It is a very interesting publication. It is obvious from the names mentioned above that it cannot be classified. An editorial declares that old terms such as progressive, radical, socialist, etc., are "worthless today" and that "redefinitions" are necessary. Nothing dennitions" are necessary. Nothing short of "a clear-cut and realistic program of action will mark progress" and this group "proposes to function as an unaffiliated, collateral intellectual body to the labor movement as a whole."

Welcome to the chorus of chaos and in saying this we mean offense. Just as the end of great war brought a chaos of thought and organizations in the first few years following the first few years following armistice so the collapse of Ar ican capitalism in October, 1929, ican capitalism in October, 1929, has brought a similar chaos. About twenty sects and organizations were rife in the former period; today they number about as many, the latest being "American Labor Associates," the publishers of "Our America."

Let's take an inventory. First the Companyiats which include the the Communists which include the party group, the Cannon, Love-stone, Weisbord and Proletarian groups. Add to them the League of Professional Groups, the Com-munist intellectuals, six in all.

of Professional Groups, the Com-munist intellectuals, six in all.
Of the Socialists, there are the Socialist Party. Socialist Labor Party, Workers Socialist Party, the Farmer-Labor Party (Minne-sota) and the League for Indus-trial Democracy, five in all.
Of the unclassified there are the Conference for Progressive Labor

Action, the League for Independent Political Action, Technocracy, and the American Labor Associates, four in all.

In the economic field there are the A. F. of L., the I.W.W., the Industrial Union League, the group of independent railroad unions that act together, and other independents like the Amalgamated (lething Workers five in all All) independents like the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, five in all. All make a total of twenty organizations and groups. Each has a front and a number of fronts hope to bring all the others to its front. If others appear we shall not be surprised. Moreover, within some of the fronts there is also some chaos of opinion and this is even chaos of opinion and this is even obvious in American Labor Asso-ciates. So long as they are con-fined to 'social critique" they can hang together, but let them en-deavor to formulate a fundamental program and philosophy and they will find some difficulties.

Boudin declares that "the radical movement can hardly point to a book or pamphlet of distinction on any fundamental question of Amer-ican social reality." We think that ican social reality." We think that judgment is correct but we may observe that it also applies to those who sponsor "Our America." Some of us at least can plead that so much of our time for years has been taken up in preserving the front where we serve that there has been no time left to do anything else. This plea cannot be made by some of the critics. When they give us a few pamphlets or books on some "fundamental question of American social reality" we shall welcome them even though we may not accept all that they may contain.

So we welcome this new addition to the chorus of shore some may contain.

So we welcome this new addition to the chorus of chaos and wonder what the next one will be. If we could get representatives of the whole twenty groups into an orchestra, what a symphony this amalgam of communism, syndicalism, parlor bolshevism, socialism, impossibilism, opportunism, liberalism, progressiveism, intellectualism, technocracy, radicalism and agrarianism would be!

Gertrude Weil Klein

Woman's Point of View

the Long Island country-side the terrifically exploited girls the children's wash suit facthe children's wash suit tactories, and I can't think—much sess write—about anything else. It is printed the Vash Suit branch of the Amalamated Clothing Workers will ave pulled out to Bound Brook, ew Jersey. We'll see how many ils succumbed to the cold fear thick grapped the work as they ich grasped them even as they greed most passionately that the rganizers were right and that mething must be done, and how any had the courage to walk

"But supr jobs?"

G. W. Klein

ment. ... point went home all right (you think). And then, "But appease I lose my job?" Any job is better than no job. A starvation wage is better than no pay at all. My father has been out of work a year, two years and there are seven rounger children." In practically very family visited the story is he same. The father is out of york. Only the circle was a contract that the same of the contract that we have a contract the contract that we have a contract that we have the contract rk. Only the girls bring in any-ng and they "must not lose

A Job for the Unions A Job for the Unions What's the matter with the unions? Why don't they organize these girls? Girls working in Conceticut factories for $1.50 a week. Skilled workers in the clothing trades earning $8 a week, working 50 hours a week at top-speed and under unspeakable conditions. In one factory the employer follows the girls out to the "Ladies" room and hurries them back to the machines again. In another a girl who nes again. In another a girl who d worked several years at the and was actually earning $18 week, was discharged because was no work for her" and ext day another girl was on in her place for $10 a Stories, plenty of them that Stories, plenty of them that it make you sick at heart. And the chronic critics ask why body doesn't do something and cally why the unions don't ething my impulse is just to the yeah" and let it go at that. bad as conditions are, and ly can exaggerate them, n" does not go over with the ry sigls. What can the orbody can exaggerate them, mion" does not go over with the untry girls. What can the or-mizers promise? That the union ey represent will throw all of its

It has been done before. It can b ne again. So far so good. Decayed Factories es back of the fight to or-the factory and win a work-week and higher pay

But in every country-town you tumble over the carcasses of facnumble over the carcasses of fac-ories that some union, at one time r another, had tried to organize. "We were when that was written. The next four years saw the highest peak of commercial and industrial activity in all history. Almost, there was a chicken in every pot, an automobile in every garage." Yes. Verily; almost.

After that, we learn, "Man is mercurial."

After that, we learn, "Man is mercurial."

"He rises to heights of exultation where caution is thrown to the winds," says the Lamp. "He falls to the ground and refuses to believe that ever again will he taste the rarefied atmosphere. Look by to be nice and quiet and at a chart of the course of security."

HAVE been traveling about Out Into the Long Island the sole support. Field to Organize the Shop Girls—What Can the Union Do for Them?

peaceful, not to get rough with anybody. All you have to do, when you see the committee come into your shop, is get up from the machine and walk out. That's all. Just get up and walk out. Never mind what the boss says, or what anybody says. You just walk out quietly and go over to the union hall."

All they have to do is just walk.

All they have to do is just walk out. That's all. It's as easy as all that. The union does the rest. And all the way home each night in the dismal, cold rain that cursed every night last week, the thought of those shut-down factories with their staring, sightless windows, gave me the creeps.

A Terrifying Prospect

The plant that you are out to rganize is the only plant working the town. Five years ago you might have found two or three. Five years ago the girls you tried to organize ago the girls you tried to organize were just "helping out" their families by their work. Now they are the sole support.

They are terrified at the possibility of losing their jobs. Under different conditions they might be just angry or annoyed. But terror, that kind of terror can't be talked down so easily. It freezes into your own bones after a while and you feel yourself slipping. You find your mind wandering, wondering what it would be like not to have anything to worry about but maybe anything to worry about but may just taking care of a house a raising a couple of young ones.

Those empty factories. At once a torch of victory and a signal of defeat. Victory-because where they are empty due to union activity, it means another scab-nest wiped out which in turn means more work in the union market in the city at higher wages and where it can be controlled and checked without the almost insuperable obstacles presented by a country-town, even a union country-town. And a signal of defeat because every non-union manufacturer driven out of business through the union leaves behind a trail of disappointed, bitter workers who will slam the doors in the face of the next union or-

Thomas Denies Story He Had Lost Faith in Unionism

A WHOLLY false interpretation significance as the Russian Revolua newspaper report was corrected by Norman Thomas in a letter to the New York Times Sunday. A number of Socialists had wondered if Thomas had been control of a recent speech based upon if Thomas had been correctly quoted in the usually accurate Times as having said that "Labor Unions gave little hope because they had adopted the racketeering practices of capitalism itself."

Thomas was also quoted as having said that "Faith in Russia as a solution had dwindled rapidly in the leaf few months"

the last few months."

In correcting the item Thoma wrote that the Times story was condensed story of a rather long discussion I led before one of the sessions of the League for Indus-trial Democracy conference," and he said, "I considered our assets and liabilities, and in the course of listing them mentioned the objective fact that in my experience at forums and elsewhere I found less hope in the Russian answer now than six or seven months ago, largely because of reports of food shortage. This did not represent my own final judgment by any means on an event of such great on.

"In like manner I recorded the bjective fact that the contagion of objective fact that the contagion of racketeering taken over from capi-talism into some parts of the labor movement was one of several fac-tors which brought it to pass that we could not merely copy the meth-ods of the British Labor party in forming a strong working class po-litical movement.

"This is a very different thing than to find 'no hope in unionism,' which is the way one of your sub-heads reads. It is also different reads, 'Labor unions,' he continued, 'gave little hope because they had adopted the racketeering practices of capitalism itself.'

"I expressly called attention to the great significance of the n ment against racketeering which had begun in the American Federation of Labor under the auspices of President Green himself. I be-lieve that a great many of our labor unions must clean house, but most emphatically I believe that there is hope in labor unions. To say this is entirely consistent with calling attention to the enormous harm that has been done to our whole American life by the poison of racketeering."

CURSES! DISCOVERED!

Gem of purest ray serene from that eminently veracious sheet, the official organ of the Communist Party:

"The Socialists are bellowing about a new city party, about fusion"....

Yes, indeed. We had hoped that we could keep it a secret by means of vigorous articles attacking the idea of fusion in a new city party, by party resolutions, statements to by party resolutions, statements to the press, by lectures and speeches —but you can't fool James Casey, the wisey who found out that we are "bellowing" for fusion in such a party, and who tells the credu-lous readers of the Communist sheet about it.

And that, dear readers, gives you a rough idea of what any Com-munist attack upon the Socialists is worth.

would be sweeter if shared with some who wonder if Santa Class, too, has been laid off by the de-

Sing Hey-Nonny Nonny

It is wonderful to be cheery and merry and glowing with optimism and good nature and altruism and busting with good advice for other folks, but it comes easy to those

Once the Czar said, "I will get to Berlin if it costs me my last moujik." And the masters of industry, who glow with warmth and who give generously to See it Through tell us to keep the smile on our faces even if things are

But try to pay the rent with a for survival.

But with the good wishes, also a tip. It is this:

Whatever progress they are to make they must make themselves. There's no hope in anybody else.

By William M. Feigenbaum

Rest You Merry! God

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

We weren't feeling so good about the New Year and about this and that until we came across the latest issue of our favorite publication, and now we're feeling great . . . optimistic and gay and cheery and everything.

The publication is the Lamp house organ of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, of which the president is that cheery optimist, Walter C. Teagle whose main contribution to sweetness and light has been that noble invention, the work" swindle. "Share-

The main article in the Lamp is headed, "God Rest You Merry, Gentlemen"—and for refraining from spelling it Merrie many thanks indeed.

Dear John!

The article begins quite properly with an anecdote about John D. Rockefeller the Elder: "John D. Rockefeller tells of a friend who stood for hours on the shore of Lake Erie looking for one of his ore ships which was long overdue." "Can you see her yet?" asked one of his associates.

"'No not yet,' admitted the owner, 'but she's most in sight'."

After the Bruce Barton, co-discoverer of Jesus Christ, swings into action: "Eight years ago Bruce Barton wrote: "Once, when pessimism was everywhere, a well-informed man told me that the business depression would lest for see ness depression would last for sev God and took courage. I knew from the remark that we must be on the very threshold of better

"We were when that was writ-n. The next four years saw the prices for twenty years back; you cannot discover a horizontal as wide as the head of a pin. The most certain of all things is change. "We close the year 1932 with the world at sixes and sevens. Our system of distribution has jammed. In the United States eleven million of the wage and salary earners of 1929 have been out of work. Granaries filled to bursting, poeple hungry; banks embarrassed by their holdings of gold, people without enough money to purchase a hat. Verily, the times are out of joint.

Twill Pass

"But everything passes. This, too, will pass. The economic revolution works inexorably to correct distortion. A war that consumed two hundred billions of capital and millions of lives has grown impa-tient at the delay in settling its accounts. It demands adjustment; it is exacting payment with accumulated interest. The process is painful, but if it cannot be avoided, its severities may be lessened through sympathetic handling.

"It is not likely that bu will improve to a marked degree in the near future. There are too many problems unsettled, and with strong minds differing as to their

"On the other hand we can make

And If You Don't Believe out much better in future even on It, Read on!—Say It, But the present volume of trade. Inroads have been made on accuroads hav mulated stocks, machinery has been wearing out and will have to be replaced. We are nearer an ad-justed level between incomes and living costs. The outlook is nothing to be fearful about. The impending changes should bring improvement, and time is working in our favor. Perhaps we are nearer the edge of the jungle through which we have been floundering than any one realizes. But whether easier ground is just ahead or still distant by many a day's march we are going to make it."

And then comes the grand climax and hip-hip-finale:

Money Doesn't Count

"Money is not essential to a Merry Christmas. Good will is better holiday currency." That is why the saintly John D., Sr., deprives himself of so many nice, new, shiny dimes. They aren't essential to his welfare. welfare.

The breed of crooners (curse them!) afflict the stratosphere with a song entitled, "Say it isn't SO!", and that is the song of the professional optimists.

We recall a play in which a coun try miss was seated in front of a fire reading a New York paper. Going over the department store she murmured, "Furs . ads.

gowns . lingerie . . motorcars . . . jewelry . . shows . . . "

"Ah, well!" she sighed, "there are lots of things in the world besides money." . . "But it takes money to get them."

And why not try out some of the Teagle-Rockefeller-Barton philos-ophy? The next time the Stand-ard Oil workers try to resist a pay cut, or the next time the Stand-Teagle-Rockefeller-Barton cut, or the next time the Standard Oil starts something like the Share-work swindle or resists a demand for decent wages on the ground that they cannot afford to pay such wages, it might not be a bad idea to smile sweetly and say to Mr. Teagle:

"God part you many Mistage."

"Mater progress they are themselves.
Teagle! And how are Mrs. Teagle and all the Teaglets? And did anyone tell you the facts of life? And that money isn't everything? And that goodwill is a better holiday currency than gold? And that your turkey and matudinal hamand-eggs and your nightly hiff-stek

Communist 'Union' Sought CRISIS CAUSING Schlossberg's Deportation

Canadian Opposition to Amalgamated Clothing Workers Stands Charged With Amazing Perfidy.

MONTREAL.—A Canadian Com-MONTREAL—A Canadian com-munist leader named Zarkin stands accused by one of his own followers of being guilty of the amazing perfidy of seeking to have two members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers deported from Canada and of trying to get the Canadian immigration authorities to prevent Joseph Schlossberg, gen-eral Secretary-Treasurer of the Amalgamated, from speaking in

The charge is made by Morris art, manager of the "United Hartt, manager of the "United Clothing Workers' Union," a Communist opposition of the Amalga-mated, that Zarkin instructed him to go to Ottawa, capital of Canada, to submit the deportation petition to the Canadian immigration au-thorities. The case created a pro-found sonsation. found sensation.

When the charge was made tha When the charge was made that the immigration authorities had been petitioned by a certain Montreal "union" to deport the Amalgamated men the official head of that Communist organization vehemently denied it, adding that "perhaps some members of our Board of Directors did it without my authority." my authority."

That statement was not gen erally believed, but there was not gen-erally believed, but there was no proof that it was a lie until Hartt made his sensational charge, which has not been denied or refuted.

BUTTON WORKERS INSTAL OFFICERS

New officers for the coming year, chosen to administer the affairs of the Button and Novelty Workers' Union, were installed at a well attended meeting of the union by David Dubinsky, President of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, who at the same time installed the union as Local 132 of the I.L.G.W.U.

The following are the officers:

as Local 132 of the LL.G.W.U.
The following are the officers:
Seymour Stein, Chairman; Harry
Bergman, Vice-Chairman; Sam
Weiner, Rec. Sec'y; Max Scharf, Fin. Sec'y; Joe Kernberg, Sergeant at Arms; Irving Kogan, Business Manager; and B. Block, S. Orenstein, A. Newman, M. Fudin, M.
Faber, H. Newman, I. Lampert, J.
Greenberg, B. Blaine, L. Tittleman,
H. Sutin, A. Rosenkrantz, H. Kohl H. Sutin, A. Rosenkrantz, H. Kohl

as members of Executive Board.

The meeting was also addressed by the unions legal adviser, Samuel

Perkins and Manning Head Label Trades

CINCINNATI. - The annual convention of the Union Label Trades Department of the A. F. of L. elected the following officers of L. elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, George W. Perkins, Oak Park, Ill., former president of the Cigar Makers' International Union of America; secretary-treasurer, John J. Manning, Washington, D. C.; first vice-president, Matthew Woll, Washington, D. C., first vice-president of the International Photo-Engravers' Union of North America: second vice. of North America; second vicesident, Joseph Obergfell, Cincinnati, secretary of the International Union of the United Brewery, Flour, Cereal and Soft Drink

Workers of America; third vicepresident, A. A. Myrup, Chicago, secretary-treasurer of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union of America; fourth vice-president, Charles P. Howard, Indianapolis, president of the International Typographical Union; fifth vice-president, John J. Mara, Boston, president of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union.

All of these officers were re-ected with the exception of Mr. Mara, who is a new member of the label trades official family.

WORKERS' SPORT ALLIANCE

The first public exhibition and The first public exhibition and dance of the Workers' Gymnastic and Sport Alliance of America, First District, will be held Sunday, January 29th, at 5 p. m., at the Rand School. Preceding the exhibition the annual district meeting will be held in the afternoon.

Sheehan Chosen Cigarmakers' Head

MILWAUKEE.—James P. Shee-han, Socialist member of the county board of supervisors and general organizer for the Federat-ed Trades council, was re-elected president of Cigarmakers' Union, Union, No. 25 for the 20th time Union, No. 25, for the 20th time in the annual election in Brisband Hall, the Socialist and Labor head quarters of this city.

LABOR COMMITTEE NOTES

The Labor Committee is working on plans to secure at least one million signatures for the Unem-ployment Bill to be introduced in the current session of the Legislature. Those who wish to co-operate are asked to get in touch with the Labor Committee, 7 East 15th

All members of the Socialist Party who hold union cards are requested to make no appointments for Saturday, January 14th, 3 p. m. A general discussion will take place on: "What Shall Be the Attitude of the Socialist Party Pres on Trade Union Internal Affairs? Several prominent trade union leaders and editors have been invited to take part in the discussion.

Though the affairs of Local 306 of the Moving Pictures Operators' Union are still in court, the strike continues against the various thea-tres that have locked out its members. Before entering a theatre, make sure the members of Local 306, which is the legitimate union, are employed in the theatre.

The International Bakery Workers' Union have been locked out in many bakeries. You can help the if you insist on the union label.

. . . Word has been received from Local 584, Teamsters' Union, that many drivers who deliver milk are signing up with the union. The employers have put through a cut in wages, and another one is expected shortly. You can aid the union if you insist that your milkman carries a card of the Brotherhood of Teamsters and Chauffeurs.

Cleaners and Dyers Drivers'
Union, and the Cleaners and Dyers Pressmen's Union are conducting four strikes, called in reply to a lock-out by the World Cleaning and Dyeing Company, the Victory
Cleaners and Dyers, and the Astor
Cleaners and Dyers, all of Mt.
Vernon, and I. Wohl of Brooklyn and Long Island City. The employers discharged some of the union help, which was in violation of the agreement, it is claimed.

CLOSED SCHOOLS

Children Losing Happy Lives as a Result of Distress.

WASHINGTON.—Grace Abbott, chief of the United States Children's Bureau, has given a grim account of the losses in opportunity for a happy life, suffered by American children in 1932.

"At the end of this and every year," she said, "it is appropriate to ask what we have done or neglected to do to safeguard the nation's children. In spite of the great efforts that their parents and many community agencies have made, a check-up reveals that millions of children lost what we have long regarded as the inhave long regarded as the in-alienable rights of children in America.

America.

"In a steadily increasing number of communities, the public schools, our most characteristic institution, have closed their doors, thus denying children the right to an education. In many more, school budgets have been so cut that one after another activity has been abandoned.

abandoned.
"On lonely farms and in crowded tenements children have been driven from their homes by mortgage foreclosures and by landlords who must have rents. Millions whose parents a few years ago faced the future unafraid are today siphing in an abyes of destituday sinking in an abyss of destitu-tion. Malnutrition is leaving its scars on children in mining towns and in industrial districts. The and in industrial districts. The budgets of the child hygiene and public health nursing divisions of many health departments have been dangerously cut. Appropriations for mothers' assistance allowance have been cut, and the number of children who are being removed from their parents is inremoved from their parents is in removed from their parents is increasing. Thousands of boys are transient wanderers. Stealing is on the increase among those who are of juvenile-court age. With millions of unemployed adults, thousands of children are still able to get jobs.

"A more carefully planned economy is needed. America's childrenare her seed-corn, there can be no question that our resources, how ever much they may have de-creased in value, are still adequate for the needs of childhood. Nature has been kind to the children. Extraordinarily favorable climatic conditions and an unusual decline in the contagious disease rate have kept the death rate down. But we must do more than keep our chil-dren alive. To secure to them what we can only regard as the ir-reducible minimum rights of children we shall have to plan more in-telligently and be prepared to telligently and be prepared to sacrifice other cherished plans in their interests.

WHILE MILLIONS LACK CLOTHING

WASHINGTON-"World wool production in 1932," says the Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Agricultural Econo-mics, "it is expected, will show no marked decrease as compared with production during the last few years. Preliminary esti-mates place total production in 19 countries at 2,793,000,000

19 countries at 2,793,000,000 pounds this year, a decrease of only 14,000,000 pounds from the record clip of 1931. These 19 countries supply about 80 percent of the world clip outside of China and Russia."

On Dec. 7, Senator Bankhead of Alabama spoke for two hours in the Senate in favor of federal restriction of the production of cotton—a measure which he argued was necessary because toe much cotton is produced for the purchasing power of the people.

Igiesias to Write On-Puerto Rico Next Week

THE fascinating and thrilling story of the rise of the Socialist Party in Puerto Rico until it was able to elect a Resident Commissioner to Congress is told in a series of articles that will begin in The New Leader next week.

Santiago Iglesias, Socialist Commissioner-elect and founder and president of the Socialist Party in the Island territory.

Iglesias was a delegate to the convention that organized the Socialist Party of the United States in 1901, and has been leader of the Socialist forces in Puerto Rico since the American occupation in 1898. For years he was a Socialist Senator in the Island legislature, and since 1918 he has been secretary of the Pan-American Federation of Labor.

Iglesias has lived a full, rich, colorful life, and much of the color of his life is in his articles.

YOUR PAPER IS A NECES SARY ADJUNCT TO A WELL ROUNDED HOME CIRCLE WITH CHILDREN GROWING UP WHO HAVE A RIGHT TO BE WELL INFORMED ABOUT THE WORKINGS OF OUR CRAZY SYSTEM OF LIFE AND LIVING. PLEASE DON'T FAIL ME WITH A SINGLE ISSUE. MORE POW-ER TO THE NEW LEADER AND THE SOCIALIST PARTY.

John G. C. Sohn,

Indianapolis.

VOTE AND JOB

CLEVELAND .- "If a man is to be deprived of a job because of the way he votes as a citizen, then I don't want to be a citizen," said Charles Gregory, giving his citizen-ship papers back to Asst. U. S. Atty. McDermott. Gregory worked 20 years as a city ash collector and discharged when the Demo-

Solomon-Barnes Debate

Charles Solomon and Dr. Harry Imer Barnes will meet in debate at the Brooklyn Jewish Center, 667 Eastern Parkway, Monday night, January 9th, on the following subject: "Has Democracy Ottlined Its Usefulness?" Dr. Barnes says "yes" and Solomon "no."

McDonough and Spencer Head Building Trades

CINCINNATI .- President M. J. McDonough and Secretary-Treas-urer William J. Spencer of the Building Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor are serving the first year of three-year terms. The annual conven-tion of the department held here elected the following additional

First vice-president, John J. Hynes, Washington, D. C., president Sheet Metal Workers Interdent Sheet Metal Workers International Association; second vice-president, Lawrence P. Lindelof, Lafayette, Ind., president of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America; third vice-president, P. J. Morrin, St. Louis, Mo., president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers; fourth vice-president, William J. McSorley, Cleveland, William J. McSorley, Cleveland, Union of Wood, Wire and Metal Lathers; fifth vice-president, John Jossehl, Washington, D. C., president of the International Union of Operating Engineers; sixth of Operating Engineers; sixth vice-president, Joseph V. Moreschi, Quincy, Mass., president of the International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers' Union be nice and quiet and at a chart of the course of security !

CHILDREN TI VICTIN

WASHINGTON affected in more v by "the present pe business insecurity change," says the labor problems at of 1933.

"It is affecting the home environment their schooling

"The first and moseffect upon the employed children has been to desert of the comportunities for child en along with the general demployment. However, brought about in this to the permanent—unless not be permanent—unless are taken to assure that now displaced do not go work when business pick

"A second effect of the sion has been to drive into employments, such a trades, industrial home we mestic and personal servi industrialized agriculture, teast regulated and most to abuse. In such occupation least regulated and most to abuse. In such occupation opportunity exists to expled dren by working them for hours at low wages.

"A third effect of the deplas been a tendency to lost andards of child labor geton the pressure of business conditions, existing lative protection for young is endangered or in some lative protection for young we is endangered or in some p actually set aside. The acute for work at any wage, on the hand, and the urge for p however small, on the other, lowered wages and brought a return of sweatshop condi-in certain manufacturing dustries.

in certain manufacturing dustries.

"In Scranton during the six months of 1932 the m wage for a group of 14 and year old children was $4.94 boys and $4.20 for girls; in Piburgh, $5.43 for boys and $4 for girls. In Philadelphia, what higher wage level usually exist the median for a somewhat old group—just under 16—was $7 for boys and $6.65 for girls. We for girls in domestic service very low, often merely noming "Complaints against sweat have been raised in Connect Massachusetts, New Jersey, F sylvania and Maryland... And vestigation by the Massachus Minimum Wage Commission is spring disclosed that rates as has 10 cents, and in one case cents, an hour were paid to sworkers in Fall River; hundre were earning less than $5 a wee... In New Bedford it was four that wages paid were even low than in Fall River, and check-up at later dates revealed that ever after investigation by the Minmum Wage Commission, wag were continuing Lownward.

"In New Jersey the Consumed League reports $2.50 and $3.50 week as the average was followed that the fall of 1932, as the result of strike of garment workers again some of the largest manufacture in the city and investigation.

the fall of 1932, as the result of strike of garment workers agai some of the largest manufactur in the city, an investigation—the request of the mayor—covered ample evidence of wages, bad working conditions illegally long hours of work. I worst conditions were found in smaller contract shops. Twen three per cent of the women e ployees, in a selected group int viewed, were found to be under 20

PROSPERITY NOTE

(From the Charleston, S. C., N WANTED to sell myse body for a job of hon a wife and little childred ing; who will give me middle-aged.

Enthusiastic Over A New but Bill Inquires Whether Is Manned by Pirates or Rebels

By Autolycus =

the gods on high Olympus, "I've got you where I at you," said Joe as he grabbed Bill by the collar at mee to the Rand School.

ship has arrived in the harbor now?" Bill asked ars the name of Technocracy and she has dumped and other isms at sea," said Joe. "Get aboard, Bill, vith a winner."

w long do you think that you could live in a vacuum, Bill asked. few seconds, I suppose," Joe replied. "What do you ply that Technocracy pumps out of capitalist society at important factors and leaves much of importance g in a vacuum," Bill replied.

nat do you mean by a factor in a vaccum? You talk man in a coma," said Joe with impatience.

u who are asleep, Joe, and I'm trying to wake you said Bill. "In emphasizing the displacement of a labor the Technocrats are doing a good job. Their of energy determinants may also be of value, but as gists they do not appeal to me. They leave much in a n and assert that all thinking from Plato to Marx at what's in the vacuum?" asked Joe.

ne whole important issue of power to effect a change The whole important issue of power to effect a change to capitalist system and the character of the change it—Bill replied. "Socialism has an answer but the Techats not only do not face the issues of power and the of change that is necessary; they even sweep aside to who do face these issues. In the field of technology are scientists; in sociology they are negative dogmatists. on they timidly venture into economics, and they rarely they get beyond their depth."

How come? Get down to brass tacks," said Joe.

Desire, Value and Utility

JELL, take the article sponsored by Howard Scott in the January Harper's. To give an idea of value they quote rshall, a bourgeois economist, who defined it as 'the sure of desire.' That is to say, that the value of a modity is according to how much we desire it. This is old confusion between utility and value. A jobless man the breadline may want a sandwich more than he does typewriter, but his desire does not measure the value of e sandwich. It simply means that the sandwich has more illity for him than a dozen typewriters."

"That certainly was a bad slip," Joe observed; "but what power and change?"

"Simply this. Whatever changes in capitalism the Techrerats have in mind there is made to the sandwich as the technique." 7ELL, take the article sponsored by Howard Scott in the Simply this. Whatever changes in capitalism the Technats have in mind, these immediately bring up the questof POWER to effect them. The capitalist class domine our whole economic system. If the changes will not re the exploiters of labor they may accept the changes; hey will injure that class there will be a fight to pret any alteration of the system. So we arrive at a vital basic conception of revolutionary sociology a class aggle for POWER."

Back to That Class Struggle

MIGHT have known that it would come back to this class struggle of yours," said Joe with a gesture of weariness.
"You might have known but you didn't," Bill replied with arnestness. "I think that we will now agree that the Techocrats leave much in a vacuum. Am I right?"
"Oh, I suppose 20, you pest," said Joe, nonplussed for an chnological changes mean more displacement of workers of more suffering for them. Eventually this will help bring the class struggle for power. The working class will ive for that power and the capitalist class and its remers will strive to hold it. Technocracy is today secluded worken apart from that struggle. Will it remained as in an airless chamber when the struggle becomes the cannot. It will either be ranged with the revolutionary emitalist class. workers or with the reactionary capitalist class.

But I'm not through, yet," Bill continued.

The Motive Power of Social Change

ECHNOCRACY," Bill continued, "lays much stress the accumulation of energy in productive power but it not understand the accumulation of energy in every to overthrow an exploiting system. That motive power of spoch to overthrow an exploiting system. That motive power of social revolution accumulates in a suppressed class and leads to the destruction of an oppressing class. So Technocracy emphasizes the accumulation of economic energy but ignores the importance of its by-product—the class struggle, which is essential to the realization of a more human social order." "Perhaps the Technocrats are holding back their views of power and change," said Joe, "They may be," Bill replied, "but in the next few years they may have to face it. In that event we may even observe the Technocrats split into conservatives and revolutionaries as there is no vacuum into which the issue of POWER can retreat. Then the shade of Marx will be grining at those who think of social change without summoning the wage slaves of capitalism to battle." "My ship is leaving port," said Joe ruefully. "It will come back manned by pirates or revolutionaries," Bill replied as they parted.

Manifesto is Issued for Socialist Party in India

To Support Nationalists, But Opposes Violent Methods —Democracy Stressed and Dictatorship Opposed. "IF I Were King," Bernard Shaw hang

WORD has come from Bombay of an endeavor to form a Socialist Party in India. A manifesto has been issued by a group headed by Mr. Jamnadas Mehta calling for the organization of such a party, with a program of peaceful political and industrial action.

The New Leader knows nothing about the movement, nor about the man whose name is appended to the manifesto, and the information we have is from New India, a Bombay Nationalist publication. The information is given for whatever it is worth.

'The Socialist Party," says the manifesto, "will follow democratic methods. It does not believe in dictatorship of any kind, because dictatorship destroys liberty of association and freedom of speech. the two most elementary rights of democratic citizenship. Socialism without democracy is as inconceivable as democracy without Socialism.

"The existing social order ha inherent tendencies for strife, and makes class war in one form or other inevitable; but we do not wish to forget our common hu-manity in the heat of battle and to work for violent expropriation of the capitalists. The Party, however, realizes from the experi-ences of the Socialist Parties of other countries that capitalists as a class will resist, with all the force at their command, any attempt that promises to be successful at transformation of the cessful at transformation of the present order of society into a Socialist one. In the vent of such a contingency, the Party will unflinchingly call upon and organize the exploited and expropriated masses for resistance. Mass meetings, demonstrations and other educative propaganda will be ceaselessly pursued, and the capture of political power through all constituted bodies, whether Municipal, Legislative, Local, Provincial, Central or Federal, will be an important item in the program of the Party.

A Democratic Appeal

The Party appeals to all progressive and democratic forces in the country for support. We know that in the present condition of our country Nationalism makes an irresistible appeal to the best elements in the community; to the extent that the Nationalist movement works for the political free-dom of the people, the Socialist Party will be its greatest ally; but a free country in the grip of capitalism is exposed to no less deadly risks than a subject race under Imperialist domination.

The Socialist therefore works not merely for political but also for the economic freedom of the country; further, our Nationalism must be strictly consistent with Internationalism, which is the only hope of the world if it is to be free from wars, jealousies and hatreds. We have a firm faith that civilization and culture will have a chance for the first time after the establishment of interafter the establishment of inter-after the establishment of international Socialism.

"We especially invite the great Trade Union Movement and the Cooperative Movement to rally round us and we also rely on the radical elements in the community who have become intellectual converts to Socialism. In short, appeal to those who are feeling and thinking as we do to help in organizing a solid Socialist Party as early as possible, and we invite them to attend the first All-India Conference of the Party to help onwards the march of Socialism in India."

To Aid Nationalists

With respect to the special prob-lems of India the manifesto says: "Owing to the peculiar position of India as a subject country the task before Indian Socialists is nade far more difficult than it would have been if India had been ree. Indeed, a Socialist state in free. Indeed, a Socialist state in a subject country is a contradiction in terms. The Party therefore stands for the fullest and the most complete freedom in India will be prepared to lend all and will be prepared to lend all its support to Indian Nationalists in their fight, for Freedom consistently with its principles and methods; a Free India is a condition precedent to the establishment of a Socialist state in this country." country."
The body of the manifesto is a

of the main aims ent

PLAN WAR ON MATCH TRUST

STOCKHOLM.—Although the financial troubles of the Swedish Match Trust due to the revelation of the crooked deals engineered by the late the late Ivar Kreuger, one-time darling of the "success" story writers of all the world, are handicapping that organization's activi-ties somewhat, it is still a formid-able problem for organized labor. This is due to the fact that many of its some 150 factories in about 40 different countries, which pro-duce about 80 per cent of the world's matches and employ around world's matches and employ around 60,000 workers, are located in South America, India and other Far Eastern countries where living conditions are quite different from those in most European nations and North America.

Consequently, the Joint Council of the Swedish Match Workers' Union has started a move for a conference of match makers from various countries in the near future various countries in the near future at which a common program of defense against the Match Trust may be laid down. It is hoped to begin by uniting the match workers of Europe and the United States and then to extend the organization to other countries with lower to other countries with lower standards of living and less labor solidarity.

On Very Good Parchment

DETROIT .- "You can't e resolution, can you?" Councilman Jeffries remarked when Eddie To-Councilman Jennes remarked when Eddie Tolan, Negro athlete and world-beating Olympic sprint star, winner of the 100- and 200-meter races at Los Angeles last August, was given engraved thanks from the city fathers, and asked a job instead

Mayor Murphy saved the situa-tion by promising Tolan a city job. "It's getting pretty tough when you have to beat the world's best sprinters to a job in the Department of Public Works," one worker

T COSTS YOU NOTHING TO SELL THE NEW LEADER AT YOUR MEETINGS, ON THE CONTRARY, YOU CAN MAKE SOME PROFIT FOR YOUR ORGANIZATION.
PLACE A STANDING ORDER FOR YOUR PAPER, THE NEW LEADER.

Socialist Henry Mayer

"IF I Were King," Bernard hang once said, "I would hang Hyndman and make him Admiral of the Fleet, thinking that it is two great scholar and great scholar and separate things."

H. M. Hyndman lived a life of contradictions, and he died a contradiction. A man of wealth, education, culture and brilliant attainhe deserted his class and himself to the cause of ment, he deserted his class and gave himself to the cause of Socialism. A pioneer Socialist to whom nothing in the service of Socialism was too mean a task, he never gave up the outward trappings of aristocracy, the tall silk tile, the correct frock coat, the gloves and the cane, in which garb Shaw insisted Hyndman must have been hore. been born.

A socialist so devoted that he turned his back on career, family and wealth, to serve the proleta rian cause, he was intolerant, despotic and the cause of more dissentions in the British Socialist movement than was Daniel DeLeon—with whom he was often compared — in this country.

In the '80's and early '90's three bearded men would often go to the poverty-stricken East End of London to carry on street-corner prop-aganda; arm-in-arm, William Morris in his inevitable blue shirt, Morris in his inevitable blue shirt, Bernard Shaw in his soft browns, and Hyndman in the immaculate garb of the British gentleman. Once a Cockney flung a taunt at Hyndman for flaunting his wealth in the faces of the desperately more. Hyndman retorted with poor; Hyndman retorted with ironic thanks to the working class for maintaining him in luxury; but he added an appeal to them to throw off the yoke and make such exploitation impossible in the future.

Hyndman may be called the actual founder of Social Democactual Fundand. He was not the racy in England. He was not the first British Socialist, and he did not found the Labor Party. But he founded the Social Democratic to the United Signature of the seed of sound, Marxian Social-the earth several ism that bore through the S. I journalist and turer and, according to the provided the socialist history. Shaw, "has cha and is the worst drove his followed other camp—even is —to escape from he and the socialist world. Henry Mayers journalist and the

Hynd

e of

Henry Mayers
born in 1842, and forty years lived t ally interesting life educated, free-think monarchical Englis leaving Cambridge barrister and a lived in Melbourne 1869—an episode t of the most fascinat his fascinating a he saw war at fir respondent with in 1866, and he to the United St

Whaddo

THE difference between the Socialists and the Communists," Sherwood Anderson was recently quoted as saying, "is that the Communists mean it."

Which is an informal announcement of a partnership between Elinor Glyn, Clara Bow and Sher-wood. Hail to the It Trio!

. . .

Mr. Anderson, of course, means IT only about 50 per cent. He means it enough to be abusive toward Socialists, but not quite enough to subject himself to the discipline of the IT boys.

The half-baked Communist the fellow who wants to remain in the Dough stage. I understand the Communists have a little by-law about members paying income tax to the cause. Sherwood writes his check to Uncle Sam and expects Uncle Stalin to live on best wishes for a prosperous new year.

I never knew until I read that I never knew until I read that statement that Anderson went in so heavily for the MEAN stuff. Anderson publishes two newspapers —one is Democratic and the other is Republican. The difference be-tween the different Sherwood Andersons is a mean one.

Anderson is typical of a lot of literary lads who'd like to have a nice, merry class war so that they might have something to write about for a rainy day.

Now, the Communication of the control of the communication of t

Can't blame the sing to sell the Stheir publishers profit.

The Combut it takes a psychological newplain just who way the literary to the Cause, the soon be able to in every pot, a are popular.

The MEAN butirely in the hands twirls a mean swastika; the it in the world w Bonaparte, grad chopathic ward, when he orders the hung out for drying Pole.

Mr. Anderson may ested to know that I about to boot out lion meanles from t Party. All pow

is that they do

Now, the

yei

Profiles Hyndman

fs into every ito the Cabinet is leadership". lures and will the making of

Hyndman was for close to he convention-e of a well-ing and anti-hman. After came a journalist, he from 1867 to ng chapters of biography— nd as a cor-lian forces everal trips

He lived a fine lusty life, his in-nate British rebelliousness taking itself out in free-thinking secular-ism, belief in democracy and op-position to sterile Liberalism. In 1877, on a trip to the United Staes, someone handed him a book in German as he was leaving Salt Lake City. It was "Das Kapital", and on his trip home he read and digested it. There followed in quick succession his complete acceptance of Socialism, his book, "England for All", the first statement of Marxian Socialism by an Englishman in terms of English history and experience, his acquaintance with Karl Marx (which soon broke off in the first of Hyndman's historic quarrels), and his in German as he was leaving Salt man's historic quarrels), and his organization in 1881 of the Demo-cratic Federation, which a year later became the Social Democratic Federation—and still is, to the honor and glory of Socialism. From that moment Hyndman belonged to Socialism. He founded Justice, a publication that contin-ued for well over forty years, he went into the streets for corner propaganda, he addressed vast meetings, he marched in parades of the unemployed and was ar-rested and tried for rioting—at a rested and tried for rioting—at a time when it was considered treason and treachery for a man of wealth to desert his class and associate with the rabble. He wrote many books, all of them contributions of real value to Socialism and history. His "Awakening of Asia" can be read today as a hackground for an understanding of what is going on in that trou-bled continent.

As a contributor to Socialist philosophy, as a creator of Socialist thought it is impossible to appraise Hyndman too high. He stands with Kautsky and Guesde, with Bauer and Vandervelde, as a great inter-preter of Marxism in the light of changing conditions.

But as a party leader and tactician he was a ghastly failure. He drove William Morris out of the

You Cannot Fight Depression Armed Only With a Toothpick

The Workers Have a Big Program to Force Upon the Attention of Congress—The Unions Lead the Way.

AT the next session of Congress the industrial question will be to the fore. When prosperity was here nothing was done by the Government to make it a permanent fixture. So when it ran its course it went.

Now the depression is here. Its has made itself right at home. And certainly it is not going to leave thing happens. They are more apt until plenty is done to speed the to make it happen.

parting guest.

If capitalism cannot shake off the depression the depression will take capitalism with it when it departs.

Meantime the whole population of those who depend upon their own effort for a livelihood are the innocent victims. There are too many of these by plenty to be just

S. D. F. and into his own Socialist League—although Morris later handsomely admitted he had been in the wrong and Hyndman right. He did not build a party—he mere-ly created a nucleus of sound Socialist theory.

When war clouds loomed he be came strongly anti-German. He could not abide Bebel in International congresses, and believed all the German Socialists to be conscious or unconscious German conscious or unconscious German militarists. He urged a greater and greater navy to meet the German threat, and he did not join Hardie and MacDonald, Snowden and Jowett in their opposition to the war. Indeed, he went into Italy urging that that wavering country join the war on the side of the Entente.

Entente.

The war came to a close, and Hyndman resumed his Socialist work. He was an old man, but there was no diminution of his mental vigor. He saw in Bolshevism a denial of all democratic Socialism, and he flung himself into the fight against it. He never gave up. And he died in 1921 at the age of 79, one of the noblest of the breed of Socialist pioneers.

"In the Labor movement," said

"In the Labor movement," said Shaw, "the experienced man will allow Hyndman no public virtue except this, that he has kept the flag flying—the red flag. And there are so many public men who have every public virtue except this, that the exception suffices." W. M. F.

(Next week; Professor William

On WEVD

Mean?. n't say that they want a dictator of modern ste will a novelist ommunists, low. Hitler around his eds meant A Napoleon

of the psyans it, too, tiantic Ocean on the North

about a mil-Commi

ts-they're what they ship over the proletariat. But how they mean it!

Stalin means so n Trotzky means so little,

When the Communists say they want a united front they mean they want to separate it from the rear and saw the proletariat in half. It's their favorite act.

A different way of defining the difference is to say that Socialists want Socialism for the people, while Communists want the people for Communism.

When you hear Anderson talking about politics, please try to remem-ber that he's written some remarkably good fiction stories. So of the lesser literary lights that constellate about him don't even observe the law of compensation.

The unhappy ending school of novelists is finding Communism a favorite unhappy ending. Wild west story writers are turning to wild east story writing. The French once staged a revolution to give Charley Dickens material for 'A Tale of Two Cities" and the Russians have produced more novels than the five-year plan called for.

Charley Dickens material for 'A Tale of Two Cities" and the Russians have produced more novels than the five-year plan called for.

But don't forget that the Communists MEAN IT! Mean what?
Read between the lines of their papal boners and cherish every typographical error. It's rure stuff, sagrumental!

Art—Music.
Friday, 8:15 p. m., Hendrik Willem Van Loon; 10 p. m., Harry Cumpson, concert pianist—"Thumb Nail Sketches of Composers";
10:30 p. m., The Author Reviews
His Book.
Saturday, 4:45 p. m., Jess Perlman, "Interviews with a Psychologist"; 6:15 p. m., Cooperative League of America.

Redio Station WEVD announce the following features for the week of January 8:

Sunday, 11 a. m., Forward Hour; 8:30 p. m., The Group Theatre; 10 p. m., Debate: "Shall New York Adopt the Seabury Charter Plan?' Paul Blanshard vs. Assemblyman

Monday, 4:45 p. m., Amy Vanderbilt briefs important books; 5 p. m., American Birth Control League—talk; 5:45 p. m., William Kay Wallace: "Our Obsolete Constitution."

Tuesday, 8:15 p. m., The World Tomorrow Program; 10 p. m., The Compinsky Trio.

Compinsky Trio.

Wednesday, 5:30 p. m., Isadore
Gorn, concert pianist, with A.
Weiser, violinist; 8:15 p. m., The Nation Program—Oswald Garrison Villard.

Thursday, 10 p. m., National Negro Forum; 10:30 p. m., Russian -Music.

Unfortunately they are not organized, except the small fraction in the trades unions. So organized labor has to give speech to their unexpressed thoughts. And what labor does has always been for the common good of the people as a whole.

Labor has fought, sacrificed and has made headway. As it moved up it took the great body of so ciety along with it to higher levels of existence and to more lofty visions for the future.

visions for the future.

In good times "economic force" brought success. The record of steady, if not sudden, advance stands out as the most monu-stands out as the most monu-mental share of human progress. Now, with the depression nation-wide and world-wide, the acene is no longer with the individual union, or group of unions in an industry, or even the organized labor move-ment taken altogether. Wherever and however the line moves now it. and however the line moves now it involves and carries with it the whole social situation.

It is the clear grasp of this nev part labor is to play which has bent the attention of the American Federation of Labor to the coming session of Congress.

No Time to Play Small

Nor is it the time to play small To be sure, when any union engaged in a single contest on the industrial field, it confined itself to the immediate prospects for im-provement. But the depression provement. But the depression cannot be attacked with a tooth

What is involved here is the entire problem of social reconstruc-tion. And labor is to take the leading role.

Thus far plans for change have been rehearsing and trying out piecemeal with labor out of it, ex-cept for the crumbs of relief. The billions which have been let out of the Government faucet have sponged up by the banks for their class in big business.

And the depression has not stirred in its sleep. It is resting most comfortably.

Organized labor must make the appeal for the Government and industry to be run for the pe

That industry may work for all, all will have to work in industry. That means the close regulation of interstate commerce by Congress.

The Thirty-Hour Week

The bill for the thirty-hour work week, now before Congress, should should be set for goods sent across State boundaries. There should be equal pay for equal work done in every section of the country.

Child labor should be abolished—

nationally.

Factory legislation should be uniorm—nationally.
Conditions under which work is performed should be the same ationally.

Taxation should put into circulation what are now excess earnings and unearned incomes instead of letting them freeze up in the hands of the few plutocrats as a hoard.

Industry should be kept going—and there can be no more depression.

Only the organized workers can build such a program. The time is ripe for what can come only through Labor and the Nation.

THE CHATTERBOX -

Some Fine New Year's Poems, And a Nice Story for You, and Some Pleasant Though By S. A. DeWitt

America and the Debts

As Byron Might Have Written It Today

THE Shylock among nations, there she stands, Alone and friendless in the depths of wee; An empty purse within her crooked hands Whose coin she loaned at interest long ago. Great Lincoln's entombed bones are restless now And the historic White House tenantless Of statesmen-Columbia, must you go Hated of nations with averted face?-Rise you rebellious Reds and mantle her disgrace! _W. W. Christma

With all their hymns of hate against Social-Fascists, as pleases them to call us, our dear friends the Communist furnish us from time to time with very pleasant tales. This one comes out of the Co-operative Bronx Apartments, ru exclusively for and by the Jewish section of the C. P.

Comrade Mrs. Winefsky was admonishing her little girl against playing with little Joe Stalin Epstein, the next door neighbor's son. . . . And the warning came in this fashion: "Dollink Rosalie Luxemburg, please don't play with that bad boy Yoske Stalin, he spits on everybody. . ."

Shadows for the New Year

COMRADE

His heart was saturated in the strife Of holding high the fervent flame of light; To that great cause he dedicated life-Then Death came like a scoundrel in the night.

STRIKER

When he defied the masters of his job One night within a mournful, misty town, A versed and vicious "bought and paid for" mob Denounced him with their guns and shot him down

CALIFORNIA

Her ears are deaf; her soul is made of stone; Her eyes are shut while countless hearts bewail The crime for which she never can aton While Mooney is compelled to rot in jail.

STRIKER

His beaten body lies beside the mud; His pulse is still. His battered head And broken arms are steeped in blood, While my heart mourns for one who's dead.

Have pity God! In your compassion, go And lift him from the place he fell; Let Heaven ease each bitter blow For he has had enough of Hell!

-Douglas B. Krantzon

It is pleasant adventuring these days when I go about the job of godfathering little branches, or "twige" as Gus Claessens call them. The fine faces, the dream-filled eyes and the subdued demeanor of the newcomers give you a thrill for having helped in their round-up.

Of course, we old 'uns see a little ahead. We know the way of all flesh and mind once these fledglings start to sprout right and left wings of their own. We know how they will find a way of interpreting the gospel of St. Marx according to their own light as their days of reading and study trans

Just now, however, it is only fair not to confuse them with wranglings and long-winded debates over differences that we older fellows know exist and in which we align ourselves pro and con. . . .

Never in the history of our party was there a more stringent need for self-retrenchment on the part of our dogmatists and impeccable philosophers, and a stintless devotion to the humanism of the social and pure comradeship, that being in the Socialist movement implies.

Coch I know heave it will be for more of us who have

Gosh, I know how hard it will be for many of us who have become recognized champions of one phase or another of our basic tenets, just to pitch in and be a regular feller until the new members are sufficiently acclimatized for the heavy work of making Socialist knowledge out of the whole cloth of "Das Kapital."

However, there is a hidden virtue for all of us, if we can remember at times that none of us are the acknowledged guardians of the Holy Temple of Sociology, nor has any one of us been given the irrevocable rights of ownership and patent papers on any particular brand of Socialism. . . . For a while then fellows and lassies, let's lay off on the rigorous deep stuff, and go shout the job of welcoming the newcomers with a smill in us. . . What

der Spills the Beans in is Debate With Thomas

OR-GENERAL SMEDLEY DARLINGTON BUTLER. evil-dog war-hero, and Congressional Medal of Honor man, behate with Norman Thomas on "Dare We Disarm?" made cellent commentary on our capitalist civilization and the first became interested in the army during the Spanish-rican War," began General Butler. "It wasn't such a good but it was the best that the capitalists could get at that time. ought that the was a noble thing. I was young then, we are foolish when we are young.

Spanish-American war was by a few capitalists who get our wars. Also—Bill Hearst to get us messed up with t of the world, and he did." General Butler said that while was an army man he was a od Quaker and a member of good ding in the Society of Friends he reason I'm a member in [od nding," he said, "is that I pay dues. You can be a member any society if you pay your ents are a necessary evil. "People to selfish, especially our leaders to are controlled by capitalists. to can't disarm while we have a italist-controlled country.

The general reiterated that wars were not launched to "make the world safe for Democracy or freem of the seas or some other mbug. Wars are made by the sitalists, and here's the way they

Why Wars?

"Suppose now that two nations at war. The capitalist sends at supplies. His ship is sunk and loses money. He rushes down the President and tells him that he's losing money. He does not get paid until he delivers the goods, and he tells the President that he wants him to deliver the goods. So the President and the capitalist the President and the capitalist put a flag on a ship. This ship is sunk and everybody gets excited, especially the women. Then they but a couple of guns that mean nothing on some ship. This ship is sunk too. And now more people get excited. Then some other fool rnecking in the war zone hurt. Now we all go to the moon, the earth and the stars—and then send them off to kill."

ARE ARRANGED FOR! the pink-cheeked boys are apital we would have no war. But verybody is drafted unless you ave enough money to be exempt. you know, are made for who can't pull out of them.

"We teach the boys to kill and take glory in it. I know, because I did it. We promise them the sun, the moon, the earth and the stars—and then send them off to belt in the stars.

General Butler was of the opinfon that little could be gained in the way of disarmament by setting an example. He claimed that we attempted to set an example at the Washington Arms Conference but no one followed us. Since then all the countries had built ships. "And what are they building them for,"
the General, "for ornaments?"

Wall Street's Bill Collectors

He reiterated that the marines were merely bill-collectors for Wall reet. "I personally have been on arteen bill-collecting expeditions Haiti, Santa Domingo, and so "he said. "As a matter of fact, never collected anything. It cost 6,000,000 to keep the marines in caragua, and the bill was only out $18,000,000. And then we lat collect it."

he Spanish-American war was the poly a few capitalists who we all our wars. Also—Bill If did not want to enslave the rest of the world, and for the National City Bank, so I soldiers do not make wars said. "They merely collect debts.

The banks pull the strings and the politicians send us down. I did not like to do it, but it was my bread and butter. Moreover I had taken an oath. I remember once in Philadelphia I took an oath as a police man to uphold the laws of the U.S. of the State of Pennsylvania and of the City of Philadelphia. Then I got into trouble because I had the fool idea that the ordinances had to be enforced on everybody.'

When the General was asked by one of the audience who had served in the army what was the differ-ence between himself and General Butler on the one hand and the gangster on the other, Butler replied: "Gee, what a question. I guess there isn't so much difference. The gangster works for one boss; we work for another." General Butler ended by asserting we need an army for the same reason that we lock our doors when we go to sleep at night. We do not know who will rob us but someone may, and we should play safe.

Thomas Speaks
When Norman Thomas rose to when Norman Thomas rose to reply there obviously was not much debate left. "This year begins with a comradely spirit," began Thomas. "I address myself to Comrade Chairman, Comrade Butler, and comrades and friends."

Thomas pointed out that General Butler's argument concerning the locking of doors was contradicted by his own statements. "We did war to protect anything Morgan's investments, as General Butler pointed out. After a career of singular gallantry Gen-eral Butler has come here to con-fess that he merely participated in glorified bill-collecting agencies for the capitalists. We are not an ex-ample of a set-upon nation but an aggressor nation. General Butler has been used not to fasten any locks but to pick locks."

He quoted statistics to sh military expenditures from 1891 to 1931 had increased from $66,000,000 to $700,000,000. "This was doing pretty well for a pacifist nation ing pretty well for a pacifist nation, thank you. We have the further distinction of having the greatest military expenditures of any nation since 1913. In our years of most drastic economy the army and navy suffered least."

"I have no interest in being a bill collector," said Thomas. "And if we are to attack capitalism, we must attack its military ally. As the working class marches toward its goal it must march along many One of these is the antimilitarist front. I am willing to take the risk of disarmament. And I do not think it is so great a risk if we send out no bill-collecting agencies."

As an example of the army As an example of the army pay-chology Thomas referred to Gen-eral butler as a "man who could see so much of the way wars are made and still be ready to fight at the drop of a hat. It was this same instilling of fear and hatred for foreign nations, this patriotic set of mind, that prevents the workers of the world from awakening and uniting."

Millions For

"At a time when starvation is found at every doorstep it is criminal and indicative of our crass inal and indicative of our crazy civilization to spend millions for military budgets. These millions could be used for homes, hospitals and social welfare, and would be so usde in sane civilization. We maintain the army by taxing the poor. We maintain it by keeping alive the spirit of hate.

"No nation ever prepared for war to get peace. You get what you prepare for in this world. We need not the gallantry of war, but the gallantry of pages." the gallantry of peace.

Dr. Henry Newmann presided as chairman. The debate was held under the auspices of the New History Society and the Brooklyn Forum, at the Brooklyn Academy

John R. Kelley of Elmira bats five new subs into the office.

The livest question that J. S. Holland of California knows anything about is keeping the Socialist press in the field. Advanced in years and a victim of the depression, he remains on the firing line for THE NEW LEADER.

BOOKS IN BRIEF

SOVIET RUSSIA AS I SAW IT, by Dr. William J. Robinson. New York: The International Press; $2.00.

TWO years ago the Bolsheviks were announcing that 1931 would be the decisive year in their gigantic plans of industrial build-ing, but as the year 1932 dawned it became apparent that Russia faced a grave situation. As the months passed the food problem became more acute and dissent in the Communist Party was met by the expulsion of Zinoviev and some twenty odd other leaders. As the year ended conditions had not im-proved and a wholesale "purging" of party members was going on.

One is curious to get the impressions of Communist sympathizers who have been in Russia in the past year. Dr. William J. Robinson recently returned from Russia and has recorded his views. During the Walter Rukeyser, an Amer-engineer, and Ellery Walter, American journalist, the first an American journalist, the first having served the Soviets and the second having travelled extensively in Russia, published books. Both men went to Russia as sympathizers. Rukeyser was somewhat gloomy yet hopeful in his book, but Walter lost hope. Robinson returns disheartened and shocked.

SUCCESS OF FASCISM IS SUBJECT OF DEBATE

"Is Fascism an Economic Suc will be the subject of the next Sunday night debate under the auspices of the Brooklyn Forum, at the Brooklyn Academy of Music next Sunday night.

Two Italian professors, both now teaching in American universities, will debate the question. Professor Carlo Flumiani will contend that under Mussolini's leadership Fascism has been a suc-cess, while Professor Gaetano Salvemini will take the negative.

Professor Salvemini was a Liberal Deputy in the Italian parlia-ment just before the Fascist coup d'etat, and he continued fighting Fascism until exiled from his homeland by the Duce. He has written several books on Fascism, and is known as one of the leading authorities on the subject now in the United States. He is on the Yale faculty.

the same year measure the evo-lution of the views of men who had visited Russia in successive periods of last year's crisis. Some impres-sions and views are similar in the three books, but each varies in some particulars. Even Robinson follows the course of the other two in trying to strike a balance between what is gain and what is loss but his final judgment is one of aversion and hopelessness. He gives the impression of a men who gives the impression of a man who has received a blow, one whose fondest hopes have been dashed. Little of the historical argument

Little of the historical arguments is offered by any of these writers, but each is objective in the presentation of his views. Robinson apparently writes under restraint and yet a hysterical note appears here and there as he jots down various phases of Parsign life and exrious phases of Russian life and especially the power exerted through the G. P. U. in rooting out dissent. At the same time he pleads for official recognition of and aid for Russia. "All nations must help Russia," he writes. "For the fall Russia," he writes. "For the fall of the present regime would mean chaos and anarchy in other parts of the world, and it would mean bloodshed the like of which the world has not yet seen. Instead of considering Russia a sort of outlaw or giving her only half-hearted, grudging recognition, she should be given wholehearted financial aid and unequivocal support."

FOLLOWING the method

Pollowing the method of Piato's Dialogues, "America Made Young" is an attempt at a discussion of present-day institutions and the possibilities of shaping them to further the welfare of the masses. While the arguments of the author, Duval McCutchen, are put forth with considerable skill and logic he believes that the changes will be brought about by "intellectually honest men who are not committed to any party or docnot committed to any party or docrine." The author seems to ook the fact that the last look the fact that the last few years, especially, have not been propitious ones for "leaders." The last stand of the polifical hero worshipers seems to be the adulation of dictators. America Made Young is published by the Humanities Pub. Co., Philadelphia ($2.00).

B. B.

Questions and Answers Confiscation

I believe in the principles and platform of the Socialist Party, but am of the opinion that when the proper time arrives to social-ize industry same should be taken from the capitalists by confiscation and not by compensation of any kind to the parasites who did not create the wealth. Will you any kind to the parasites who did not create the wealth. Will you please answer in the columns of The New Leader, if I am eligible to membership in the Socialist Party, while holding those views? -Edwin A. Federsen.

Our opinion is that you are eligible to membership. The whole mat-ter of taking the industries, with or without rithout compensation, is one that elongs to the period of a revolutionary crisis. We have said be fore that a good case can be made out for confiscation even from the standpoint of American precedent but it is a matter of the easiest way out. To avoid civil conflict a revolutionary administration mig well agree to some measure of compensation, especially for the lesser property owners. The Russian Communists specifically singled out small owners of stock in their program. In the case of the Civil War it is evident that to pur-chase the freedom of the slaves would have been cheaper than pay-ing the cost of the war. Socialist theory justifies confiscation but not under any and all circumstances.

Another Fascist Jutrage!

PROFESSOR VLADIMIR G. Prof. Karapetoff Arrested in KARAPETOFF of Cornell, of New York's leading Socialists, was arrested last summer Genoa for insulting Benito Mussolini. Details of the outrage have just arrived in United States by dogsled, carrier pigeon and word-of-mouth, complicated by a letter from Kara-petoff himself—five month late, but who cares? But let the professor go on

Shares Columbus' Fate

"In Genoa I was on a sightseeing bus, and the guide showed us a tremendous statue of Christopher Columbus. Of course, I was rather flattered to see a fellow-citizen of mine so highly honored. But then the rascal showed us a ramshackle tenement house over two hundred years old and claimed that Columbus had been born there. Of course, I would not stand for a fake of this sort, so I told those dumb foreigners in the bus that Columbus had been named after a city in Ohio from which his father came, that he lived in the Second-Mort-Row on Broadway, where he in about the earth being Am round, and that the place is therefore still known as Columbus Circle. Had he been born in a Dago city, his wife could not have longed to the Daughters of longed to the Daughters of the American Revolution, which I knew for sure she had.

Genoa for Insulting Mussolini-But He Makes a Profit on the Transaction.

"The guide started arguing, and when he saw me getting the best of it, he said in an offended tone of voice that Mussolini was a great man. I casually remarked that a neighbor of mine had a dog by that name, and mangy at that. This was the first lie I had told outside my classroom for nearly a week, because I do not speak Italmy classro

"The jail was stuffy and full of bugs; I could not sleep, so I fig-ured out my line of defense. The next day I told the judge that 'mangy' meant a breed of dogs dis-tinguished for their beauty and intelligence, and that my neighbor intended to honor the great man in his native way. Helf a dosen American schoolmarms who were staying at the same hotel con my statement under oath. firmed One of them, of minus Ednawal lacean youth, told me later that this was the first lie she had ever told outside her classroom (which was either her second lie or a dead giveaway that she had never had a beau).

"Anyhow, I was left off with a fine of one hundred lire; I do not know how much this is in real money, but when I gave them a ten dollar travelers' check they gave me back in change such a lot of silver and nickels that I did not know what to do with them." not know what to do with them; I never got so much for a ten dollar bill at a regular exchange bank.

"The guide demanded an apology, which I finally extended to him in exchange for his public statement that Galileo was born in Hoboken, New Jersey. The hotel charged me for the room which I did not ocfor the room which I did not occupy that night, and to add insul cupy that night, and to add insult to injury the turnkey demanded ten per cent of the fine for his services, in lieu of a tip. Fortu-nately, I had with me some stand-ard American stocks which he agreed to take at 1928 prices, so that in the end I made a few cents on the whole incident.

Socialist Party Progress

who accept election and pay, buy who do not attend sessions of Congress regularly.

CALIFORNIA

San Francisco.—The following is part of the program of work of the local in the forthcoming weeks: Kameradschaft — Movie at Filmarte week Jan. 14—21 showing workers' solidarity, for benefit of the local. Meetings and Classes at 1141 Market, Amalgamated Clothing Workers' Hall. Open Forum Every Thursday at 8 p. m. January 12—Dr. Guy E. Talbot of Council for Prevention of War, "War Debts", Jan. 19—Miss Oleta O'Connor, U. of C. "Future of the Socialist Party". Jan. 26—Prof. E. H. Staffelbach of San Jose State Teachers' College on "The Crisis in Taxation in California." A new class in the fundamentals of Socialism starts Sun., Jan. 8. Classes in city govt. at 7.30 Tuesday followed by class in Marx at 8.30. 50 Comrades are now calling in their neighborhoods. Young Peoples' Socialist League, 8 p. m. Fridays.

WISCONSIN

Milwaukee. — Andrew Biemiller, new educational director of the Milwaukee County Socialist party will start a series of discussion talks on current events in an educational course sponsored by the women's division.

The Milwaukee Vorwaerts, German Socialist Weekly, has sus-cational course sponsored by the women's division.

The Milwaukee Vorwaerts, German Socialist Weekly, has suspended. The paper, founded as a daily by Victor L. Berger more than forty years ago, became a weekly when the German population of Milwaukee no longer required a socialist daily. Since 1911 Heinrich Bartel has been editor. TEXAS

A new constitution has been drawn up for the use of the So-cialist party in the state.

MASSACHUSETTS on.—Oscar Ameringer will Forward Ball.—The annual Forward Ball under the auspices of the Socialist Party and allied organizations will be held Saturday, Feb. 18, at the 71st Regiment Armory, 34th St. and Park Ave. Ill organizations will take note and arrange no affairs to conflict. Symposium.—The first of the eries of symposiums for Party members will be held in the Rand School, Thursday evening, Jan. 12, at 8:30. Topic, "What Is the Basic Difference Between Socialism and Communism?" Speakers, J. B. fatthews, Alexander Fishandler and Bela Low. Chairman, Anne Bercowitz. No admission charge and admission by membership card only. There will be four symposiums on other controversial questions during February, March and April. Dates, topics and speakers will be announced shortly.

Theatre Party.—The Socialist Party of the Greater City and the Women's Committee have arranged a theatre benefit performance for Friday evening, Jan. 13. The play is "Big Night" at the Maxine Elliot Theatre, under the auspices of the Group Theatre. Tickets are available at prices considerably lower than at the box office. An arrangement has been made with branches by which special discount rates will be allowed for tickets they may dispose of.

City Executive Committee will be they may dispose of.

City Executive Committee.—A meeting of the committee will be held Wednesday evening, January 11, at 8:30, in the city office, 7 East 15th St.

Rand School Public Speaking

Rand School Public Speaking Class.—The annual Rand School class in Public Speaking, Instructor August Claessens, will begin Monday, Jan. 9, at 8:30 p. m., and continue for fifteen weeks. Branch officers and members generally are urged to make note of this annuncement and every comrade interested in becoming a speaker for the Party should register at annea.

School Public Speaking

New York City

VIRGINIA

Newport News.—Local Newport Rows at its last meeting adopted two resolutions, one condemning the subservience of President-Elect Roosevelt to the bankers in accepting their instructions in the matter of pay-cuts in New York, and one denouncing members of congress who accept election and pay, but who do not attend sessions of Congress regularly.

CALIFORNIA

San Francisco.—The following is part of the program of work of the local in the forthcoming weeks: Kameradschaft — Movie at Filmarte week Jan. 14—21 showing workers' solidarity, for benefit of the local. Meetings and Classes at 1141 Market, Amalgamated Clothing Workers' Hall. Open Forum Every Thursday at 8 p. m. January 27, 8 p. m. at Tremont Temple on "Techno-reacy and Social Planning."

Newton. — The Newton local, which was organized Nov. 14 with 15 members, has increased its membership to 32. We are very proud of this number and of the dol votes Norman Thomas received in this city because Newton is considered one of the most conservative cities in Massachusetts. So far we have held 6 well attended meetings at the home of Comrade Samuel Grinspoon in Newtonville. Beginning Jan. 9th meetings will be held in Colby Hall, Institution Ave., Newton Centre. The program for Jan. 16—Study Class—Mornal of Landard Colon of Landard Colon of Cambridge. Jan. 30—Albert Sprague Coolidge of Cambridge.

W. Pinkham—"Socialism and Democracy." Jan. 16—Study Class—John Hall of Harvard University, leader. Jan. 23—Albert Sprague Coolidge of Cambridge. Jan. 30—Prof. Edgar S. Brightman of Boston University.

On Dec. 17 the Newton and Cambridge locals held a joint Charter Festival to celebrate the formation of these two new locals. Messages of greeting from officers of National and State headquarters were read, a word of greeting was delivered by State Sec. Alfred Baker Lewis, and the remainder of the evening was devoted to an entertainment of local and professional talent and to dancing. There was a large attendance.

Ne Bedford.—The first general membership meeting of New Bedford will be held on Sunday, Jan. 8. at 2 p. m. in the large hall of the Labor Temple, Pleasant Street. The newly organized City Central Committee consisting of the three Branches in the city will present an agenda containing plans for 1933 organizational and general party activity. The Branch (Center) has a Rand School study class under the leadership of E. R. O'Brien and H. Cote. The local Y. P. S. L. circle is being reorganized and will meet Tuesday evening, January 10th, in the North End Polish Clubrooms. Attempts to start an orchestra are under way and every other meeting of the Center Branch a lecturer sent from the State Office will address the membership. The Branch has been women's Committee.—The class in Socialism and Public Speaking, with Instructors Esther Friedman and August Claessens, will continue its session Monday afternoon, Jan. 9, at 2:30.

Saturday evening, Jan. 7, at 8:30, Paul Blanshard will speak Musical program and refresh-ments; admission 10 cents.

MANHATTAN

MANHATTAN

3rd-5th A. D.—Meeting will be held Tuesday, Jan. 10, at 8:30, in the cafeteria of the Cooperative House, 433 W. 21st St. Following a brief business meeting, Organizer Claessens will deliver a short talk. 4th A. D.—Meeting of the 4th A. D. will be held Friday, Jan. 6, at 8:30, at 126 Delancey St. The public is invited to attend a lecture which will start at 9 p. m., after getting bundle orders of The New Leader right along. NEW JERSEY

Leader right along.

NEW JERSEY

Irvington Branch meets Friday night at the home of Mrs. Anna Marr, 335 17th Ave. After this week the branch will move to new headquarters in the V.F.W. hall at Springfield Ave.

Hudson County,—General membership meeting will be held Sunday, Jan. 8th, 2 p. m. at Fraternity Hall, 256 Central Ave., Jersey City, N. J.

Newark. — Samuel Weiss will speak for Branch 1 at 34 Park Place, Monday night on "Fundamentals of Socialism."

The Young People's Socialist League of the State of New Jersey will hold a conference in Camden, Jan. 8, to begin at one o'clock, with afternoon session ending at five thirty. Following supper there will be an evening session. The main speakers of the day will be Comrade Frank Manning, one time National Director of the Y.P.S.L. and Julius Umansky, National Chairman. The purpose of the conference is to have a general discussion to outline organization work for the future and to bring the members of the circles into closer comradeship and solidarity.

New York State

Intensity of Organization.—State Secretary Merrill announces that a computation of the average paidup membership of the party organization for the year 1932 shows that Tompkins County has more good-standing members in proportion to population than any other county in the State of New York. Schenectady County ranks second, and then come Saratoga, Chautau,

LECTURE NOTES

Rev. T. Darely Allen will address the Ingersoll Forum in the Pythian Temple, 135 W. 70th St., Sunday at 8. Subject: "If a Man Die Shall He Live Again?"

Morris Gordin is giving a course of Wednesday evening lectures "Literature and Ideals" at Clarion Club, 318 E. 9th St.

Clarion Club, 318 E. 9th St.
Louis Waldman will speak on "The Citizen Helpless in the Grip of the Magistrate" at the Community Forum, 550 W. 110th St., Tuesday, Jan. 10, at 8:15. V. F.
Calverton will speak on Jan. 12th, and G. F. Beck on Jan 13th.
"Moral Man and Immoral Sociéty will be the topic of Rev. Leon Resser, Land's address on Sunday.

Rosser Land's address on Sunday at the Bronx Free Fellowship, Azure Masonic Temple, 1591 Boston

Karl Marx Memorial Meeting.— Executive Committee of Local New York City is arranging for an im-pressive commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the death of Karl Marx at the Town Hall, Sunday afternoon, March 19. A very fine program is being ar-ranged of speakers, tableaux and music. Azure Masonic Temple, 1591 Boston Road, near East 172nd St. This address will be based on Prof. Reinhold's recent book by that title. There will be a symposium held in the Community Forum, 550 W. 110th St., Sunday at 8, on the subject of "Pro-Semitism versus Anti-Semitism." Dr. Harry Elmer Roynes and Pobbi Invit I New 1981 Propose and Pobbi Invit I New 1981 Propos Semitism." Dr. Harry Elmer Barnes and Rabbi Louis I. New-man will participate. At the 11 o'clock services in Town Hall, Prof. William Lyon Phelps will speak on "The Great Poets of Religious Teachers."

Professor Harry F. Ward will speak on "Is Russia Returning to Capitalism?" on Sunday at 7:45 in the Labor Temple, 14th St. and Second Ave.

The following is the program of the People's Institute lectures to be given in Cooper Union: Jan 6, Dr. Everett Dean Martin, "Hugo Grotius: The Law of War and Peace tius: The Law of War and Peace—public is invited to attend a lecture which will start at 9 p. m., after the close of the business meeting.

Abraham P. Conan will discuss:
"Proportional Representation and Its Importance to Socialists."
6th A. D.—Meeting will be held Monday, Jan. 9, at 8:30, at the clubrooms, 48 Ave. C.
8th A. D.—The branch has moved into larger and more attractive headquarters at 144 Second Ave.
Announcement will be made shortly of a number of new activities.
Upper West Side.—Branch meeting will be held Tuesday, Jan. 10, at 8:15. Election of officers and delegates to the City Central and Executive Committees.
Yorkville.—Branch meeting on Thursday, Jan. 12, at 8:30, at clubrooms, 241 E. 84th St. The Sunday
swening Forum will open on Jan. 15
(Continued on Page Twelve)

tius: The Law of War and Peace—
Is Right Based on Power?" Jan. 8, Prof. Scott Buchanan, "The Nature of a Higher Education: Medi.ine—
The Philosophy of Nature." Jan. 10, Dr. Charles R. Stockard, "The Scientific Method: Accident and Discovery."

"Resolved That the Marxian Approach to Literature Is the Correct and Scientific One" will be the topic of a debate between Michael Gold and Ernest Boyd, to be held under mer Club, in the Engineering Club, at 8:15. Election of officers and delegates to the City Central and Executive Committees.
Yorkville.—Branch meeting on Thursday, Jan. 12, at 8:30, at clubrooms, 241 E. 84th St. The Sunday
swening Forum will open on Jan. 15
(Continued on Page Twelve) Is Right Based on Power?" Jan. 8, Prof. Scott Buchanan, "The Nature of a Higher Education: Medicine—

than the average for Greater New York.

Legislative Program.—One of the things which the State Committee will consider at its forthcoming meeting is a legislative program for 1983. The model Unemployment Insurance and Short Week bills introduced as "request" measures in the State Legislature of 1932 may find a number of imitations in the 1933 session.

Winter Lectures.—The L.L.D. lecture course is to be given in seven upstate cities this winter—Binghampton, Albany, Schenectady, Saratoga Springs, Rochester, Niagara Falls and Buffalo. This course begins this month. A subcommittee of the party will recommend to the State Executive Committee a Socialist Party course of lectures to begin on or about March 1st.

Hempstead Branch, Nassau County Socialist Party.—Business

qua Rockland and Cattaraugus month. Meets on January 8th counties in order. All six upstate counties have a better average than the average for Greater New York.

Legislative Program.—One of the things which the State Committee will consider at its forthmittee will consider at its forthwise will be at the will be at the program for 1933. The model Unemployment Insurance and Short Week bills introduced as "request" measures in the State Legislature of 1932 may find a number of imitations in the 1933 session.

HELP WANTED By P. M. O'Kara

Winter Lectures.—The L.I.D. lecture course is to be given in seven upstate cities this winter—Binghampton, Albany, Schenectady, Saratoga Springs, Rochester, Niagara Falls and Buffalo. This course begins this month. A subcommittee of the party will recommend to the State Executive Committee a Socialist Party course of lectures to begin on or about March 1st.

Hempstead Branch, Nassau County Socialist Party.—Business meetings second and fourth Wednesdays of every month. Meets on January 11th at the home of Mrs. Florence Mulford, 380 Howard Ave, Woodmere, L. I., N. Y.
S. E. Nassau Branch, Socialist Party.—Business meetings first and third Wednesdays of every

MELP WANTED

By P. M. O'Kara

As a Socialist, recently arrived in Tampa, Florida, I am appalled at the lack of organization and cooperation of those interested in Socialism. This I find to be due to take not to lack of willingness but rather to a lack of funds. I have suggested to the local, in view of the thousand Socialists who have lost interest because of the stag-nation that they start a series of lectures, thereby interesting the public and these Socialists.

To do this will require funds. A collection could be taken and ectures. It would only be a matter of time until these meetings would be self-supporting. Therefore, through The New Leader, I am endeavoring to locate a few comrades in Socialism who may be able to start these meetings. Donations should be sent to: S. Parks, 8007—9th St., Sulphur Spring's Station, Tampa, Fla.

DEBATES - LECTURES - FORUMS

BIG

Presented by THE GROUP THEATRE

at the Maxine Elliot Theatre

Preview of this new comedy for the benefit of the SOCIALIST PARTY, WOMEN'S COMMITTEE, and YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIALIST LEAGUE

Friday, January 13, 1933

Tickets, including tax, $2.75; $2.25; $1.70; $1.40; $1,10, and $5 cents, On sale at the Socialist Party, 7 East 15th Street, New York City.

Telephone: ALgonquin 4-2620.

Debate: 'IS FASCISM AN ECONOMIC SUCCESS?'

SUNDAY, JAN. 8th

Prof. CARLO Prof. GAETANO BROOKLYN FORUM FLUMIANI VS. SALVEMIN

Tickets-$1.10, 55c, 25c at Box Officer Rand Bookstore, 7 E. 15th St., N.Y.C Sun., Jan. 15th: Symposium-"What's the Matter With New York?"
Paul Blanshard-Louis Cuvillier-Wm. J. Schieffelin

THE COMMUNITY FORUM

8 P. M.

"PRO-SEMITISM VS. ANTI-SEMITISM"

Dr. Harry Elmer Barnes—Rabbi Louis I. Newman
11 A. M.—Sur.day Service, Town Hall, 123' W. 43rd St.
PROF. WILLIAM LYON PHELPS— "The Great Poets as Religious Teachers."

INGERSOLL FORUM

Pythian Temple, 135 W. 70th Street SUNDAYS, 8 P. M .- Admission 25 cents January 8th

Rev. T. Darley Allen, D.D. 'If a Man Die, Shall He Live Again?'
Questions and discussion

GOLD BOYD AFFIRMATIVE NEGATIVE

RESOLVED: That the Marxian Approach to Literature is the Correct and Scientific One. Priday, Jan. 13. 8 p. m., Engineering Auditorium, 25 W. 39 St. Henry Seidel Camby, Chairman. Reserved seats 75, 59, 35 cents. Auspices of Pen & Hammer, 114 W. 21 St., N. Y. C.

FREETHINKERS OF AMERICA

Mr. Samuel A. DeWitt

Major Joseph Wheless The Douay Vs. The King James Bible."

Bible.

Class in Bible Criticism, 2.30 p.m.
dmission free—Questions & Discussion

The Ninth Annual Dinner of THE NEW LEADER will be held Friday evening, February 10, 1933.

Keep the date open!

PEOPLE'S INSTITUTE At Cooper Union, 8th St. & Aster Pl. at 8 o'clock Admission free

Friday evening, Jan.

Dr. Everett Dean Martin "Hugo Grotius: The Law of War and Peace—Is Right Based on Power?"

Sunday evening, Jan. 8th

Professor Scott Buchanan "The Nature of a Higher Educa-tion: Medicine: The Philosophy of Nature."

day evening, Jan. 10th Dr. Charles R. Stockard The Scientific Method: Acc and Discovery."

THE LABOR TEMPLE

Prof. Harry F. Ward

Is Russia Returning to Capitalism? (Timely lectures on Important subjects, followed by discussions, every Sunday evening.)

Socialism Explained

mighty argument for Socialism at is making converts everywhere. Its readily at meetings; 10c; 4 for c; 70c dozen; 64.00 hundred.

UMI

New York City

(Continued from Page Eleven)
th James Oneal as lecturer. On e Sundays following the lectures ill continue with the following peakers: Maurice Gordin, August leassens, Samuel Beardsley, Hernan Salzman, Louis Waldman, Villiam E. Bohn, Frank Crosssaith, Wm. Duffy.
Chelsea.—Monday, January 9, at 1:30, there will be a discussion on Capitalism on Trial." The deender of capitalism is Carlton Webster, well-known lawyer and nembers of the Committee on Law funforcement. Judge Panken will present the indictment. The affair vill take place in the headquarters, 12 W. 8th St. Tuesday, Jan. 10, t 8:30 p. m., branch meeting.
Vednesday, Jan. 11, Rebel Arts
ight.
12th A. D.—An excellent meet-night.

12th A. D.—An excellent meeting of this new branch was held last Tuesday in the home of Comrades Thomas. About 40 people were present. Comrades Tyler, DeWitt, Thomas and Claessens delivered short talks. A goodly number of applicants were received. The branch is steadily growing in membership, thanks to the fine canvassing work done by several of the new members.

19th-21st A. D.—Branch will meet Monday, Jan. 9, at 9 p. m., canvassing work down of the new members.

19th-21st A. D.— Branch will meet Monday, Jan. 9, at 9 p. m., at the clubrooms, 2005 Seventh Ave. The officers recently nominated will be formally elected and inducted into office. Our Forum (The tople's Educational Forum) who pen Sunday, Jan. 8, at 3 p. m., with August Claessens as the speaker.

m. ben Sunday, Jan. 8, at 3 p. m., with August Claessens as the speaker.

17-18-20th A. D.—Branch meetings will be held every second and 4th Wednesdays in the new clubreoms, 1539 Madison Ave.

Washington Heights.—In accordance with the decision of the Central Committee our branch has changed its meeting night to Monday, the next to be held on Jan. 9. In the future we shall meet on the second and fourth Mondays of the month. Executive committee meets on all Mondays when there is no branch meeting. Sunday night Forum opens Jan. 8 at headquarters, 4046 Broadway (170th St.); sessions every Sunday night with interesting speakers; admission is free. J. C. Kennedy will continue his series on Marxism on Tuesday, Jan 1.0, at headquarters.

BRONX

Broax Ball—The Annual Dence.

BRONX Ball—Th Bronx Ball—The Annual Dance and Concert of Bronx County will take place on Saturday evening, March 18, in the Winter Garden, Tremont and Washington Aves., Bronx. Tickets can be obtained at County headquarters, 9 W. 170th

Courses for Socialists The Rand School courses offered for the Winter Term offer a wide variety to appeal to Party memvanced courses are featured, to ap-peal to those who are familiar with the elementary principles of the

Advanced Courses

"Studies in Modern Socialism," given by Jacob Bernstein, will run for thirteen weeks and will cover, in lectures, discussions and reading, topics like: Historical Materialism and the Class Struggle; Outstanding Class Struggles of History; Socialism and the State; the Family, Religion and Morality

e Family, Religion and Morality der Socialism; Law and Social-m; Karl Marx, the man, and his orical Significance to the Prole-t; Problems of the Social Rev-tariat; Problems of the Social Rev-olution; Political Dictatorships and the Proletarian Dictatorship.

Marxism," which was so popular last year. He will discuss the rela-tion between Marx and Hegel, the

the course in Marxism," wh

Haim Kantorovitch will continue e course in "The Philosophy of "Studies in Modern Socialism,"

An unusual number of ad-

al are available.

2nd A. D.—A meeting of the branch will be held Tuesday, Jan 10, at 8:30, at the clubrooms, W. 170th St. Following the busness meeting, Julius Hochman will be the state of the state ness meeting, Julius Hochman will speak.

5th A. D.—A meeting will be held Tuesday, Jan. 10, at 8:30, at the Bellamy Club, 904 Prospect Ave. Dr. Louis Hendin will deliver an educational talk after the business meeting. The branch is taking an active part in the Thursday night forum at the Bellamy Club sponsored by the House Committee. All members and friends are asked to attend both functions.

6th A. D.—A meeting of the branch will be held Tuesday, Jan. 17, at 8:30, in the Pelpark Palace. Organizes Claessens will speak.

7th A. D.—Branch meeting will be held Tuesday, Jan. 10, at 8:30, at 789 Elsmere Place. At last meeting the following officers were elected: Organizer, A. D. Sussman; Fin. Sec'y, A. I. Nisenbaum; Rec. Sec'y, Dorothy Jaffe; Educational Director, Alfred Breslaw. The next lecture of the branch will be announced at next meeting.

8th A. D.—Branch meeting will nounced at next meeting.

8th A. D.—Branch meeting will be held Thursday, Jan 12, at 8:30, in Burnside Manor, Burnside and Harrison Aves. Election of officers Harrison Aves. Election of officers and committees for the coming year, after which Dr. S. J. Fried, educational director, will speak on "Socialized Medicine." On Thursday evening, Jan. 26, a card and surprise party will be given by the branch. All are welcome. A small admission charge will be made. The Y.P.S.L. meets Sunday afternoons. The executive committee also meets Sunday afternoon in the Burnside Manor.

BROOKLYN

BROOKLYN

All Kings County members are urged to keep open Sunday afternoon, Jan. 15, when a general Party meeting will be held. Important matters affecting the County organization will be discussed. An interesting feature of the meeting is that John Haynes Holmes will make his first appearance as a Party mmebers and will deliver a short address.

Midwood.—The new and commodious headquarters recently obtained by the branch at 1722 East 12th St. will be formally opened by a house-warming, entertainment and card party Saturday evening, Jan. 7. Organizer Claessens will be present and help in the entertainment. Admission charge, 50 cents. Branch will hold its business meeting on Tuesday, Jan 10, at 8:30. Election of officers for the new year will be held.

New Lots Branch.—Organization

misunderstood theory. In his course on "Social Attitudes," August Claessens will give to his students the best work of modern Psychologists and Sociologists and show how their facts and theories square with Socialism and can be used by Chief stress will be laid on the things demanded by the great ma-jority of persons interested in So-cialism. Socialist principles and practices and the programs and history of the movement will be studied in a wide variety courses. David P. Berenberg will give again "The Principles of Socialism" and

"The Program of Socialism." Nathan Fine will offer "American Socialism at Work," in which he will cover actual Socialist work will cover actual Socialist work and the practical problems faced by the Party. Algernon Lee will teach "The History of American Socialism," and Siegfried Lipschitz will give a course in "The History of the German Social Democracy."

Two Practical Courses August Claessens will train

speakers, as he has been doing for years past. All those who hope to take his course should apply early, for there is sure to be an overflow.

A new course, to be given by Terry Donaghue, is designed to teach Socialists how to put themselves over in the press.

More Elementary Studies

RAND SCHOOL NOTES

Socialists.

committee is actively engaged in an attempt to form a branch of the Party in the New Lots section of the 2nd A. D. It has had several meetings in the officers of the Cooperative Bakers, 209 New Lots Ave. The branch is now looking for headquarters. The group meets every Friday evening. Temporary officers are: Organizer, Harry Sapkowitz; Fin. Sec'y, Ben Kantor; Rec. Sec'y, Sarah Malachowsky; Corr Sec'y, Tillie Sapkowitz.

5th A. D.—The newly organized branch will meet every second and fourth Wednesday evenings in the home of Comrades Friedman, 329 Stuyvesant Ave. At the meeting of Jan. 11, Henry J. Rosner will be the speaker.

the speaker.

Borough Park.—The executive Borough Park.—The executive committee at a recent meeting completed an interesting schedule of winter and spring activities to include lectures, symposiums, debates and social "Camraderies." Constant enrollment of new members has brought some splendid workers. Weekly meetings every Tuesday evening at Borough Park Labor Lyceum, 1377—42nd St. Samuel A. DeWitt will be the guest speakers at our second "Camraderie" on Jan. 14.

Bensonhurst.—At the last meeting the following new officers were elected: Jacob Handler, organizer; Harold Siegel, financial secretary; Milton Tomash, recording secretary, and Harry Haskel, educational disease.

Milton Tomash, recording secretary; Milton Tomash, recording secre-tary, and Harry Haskel, educa-tional director. Executive, House, Ways and Means, and Literature Distribution Committees were or-ganized. The second of the series

THE FRIENDS OF NATURE

Our English Section will hike Sunday, January 8th, to the Palisades. Meet Dyckman St. Ferry, 207th Street, at 8.30 A. M. Fare 20c. Leader: Ruth Matthes.

The German Section will hike on the same day to Bryn Mawr. Meet Van Cortland Park Station at 9.00 Van Cortland Park Station at 9.00 A. M. Fare 15c. Leader: Hugo Koch. Walking time is 4 hours. No participation with automobiles.

City Activities

Our various Sections have now their General membership meetings. Brooklyn Section meets Wednesday, Jan. 11th, at Queens County Labor Lyceum, 785 Forest Ave., Brooklyn, and Manhattan Section Thursday, Jan. 12th, N. Y. Labor Temple, 243 East 84th St. Election of officials and other important business is to be transacted. Entire branch New York will have General membership meeting on Jan. 26th, at Irving Plaza, Irving Pl. and 15th Street.

Group Activities

After the holiday season all our groups will begin their regular Agitprop - Group meets every Monday, 8.30 P. M., at NF. Center.

Chess Group meets every Friday, 8.30 P. M., at NF. Center. Gymnastic and Dance Group: Exercises Tuesday and Friday, 7 P. M., at E. Segals' Dance Studio, 5th Ave

Music Group meets every Tuesday, 8.30 P. M. sharp, at NF.

Center is located at No. 12 East 17th Street. Keep this time table for future reference.

YOUNG CIRCLE NEWS

Sports.—Saturday, Jan. 7, at 8 m., the Y.C.L.A. Basketball eam will meet the Almont Athletic Club in the first game of the season at the Labor Temple, 14th St. and Second Ave.

The Young Circle League Soccer The Young Circle League Soccer Team will play Union City in an Eastern District Soccer League Contest at 1 p. m. at Jasper Oval on Sunday, Jan. 8. In their last engagement the team played a tie game with Queen City.

Dramatics. — The Intermediate Dramatic Studio will hold its first meeting Sunday afternoon at 2 at the Y.C.L.A. Center, 3 W. 16th St.

Intermediates.—The Intermediate Central Committee will meet at the Y.C.L.A. Center Sunday after-of Friday evening forum lectures will take place on Jan. 13. J. B. Matthews will lecture on the subject of war. On Saturday, evening, Jan. 14, a package party will be held by the Women's Unit in conjunction with the Party Branch.

The Benezophyrat Unit of the

The Bensonhurst Unit of the Socialist Women will meet on Wednesday, Jan. 11, at 2 p. m., at headquarters, 7368 Bay Parkway. Esther Friedman will speak.

Esther Friedman will speak.

18th A. D., Branch 2.—Sunday school meets at headquarters, 844 Utica Ave., every Sunday morning at 11:15. The New Year's Eve social gathering was a huge success. About 150 people attended. Branch meetings and lectures continue every Tuesday evening. Card party and social gathering has been arranged for Saturday evening, Jan. 28.

21st A. D.—Election of officers

21st A. D.—Election of officers will be held Monday night, Jan. 9, at headquarters, 2239 Church Ave., at 8:30. With a new, large clubroom, a greatly increased membership, and a generally more favorable public sentiment, our opportunity for Socialist work is greater -Election of officers than ever.

22nd A. D., Branch 3, elected branch officers: Organizer, Sam Block; Treasurer, M. Singer; Secretary, Larry E. Selmon. The East New York Forum conducted at headquarters, 218 Van Sicklen Ave., Tuesdays, at 9 p. m., is assuring new recruits in the ranks of our movement. Literature is distributed and Sunday discussions are being held at various homes of the comrades. istributed and Sunday discussions re being held at various homes of he comrades.

23rd A. D.—With the assistance f our comrades we are certain that the "Organization Drive" will be a huge success. The branch has arranged a series of lectures for every Monday evening. Henry Rosner will speak at the Browns-ville Labor Lyceum on Jan. 9 at 8:30 p. m. The members will re-main so as to formulate plans for future activities.

QUEENS

QUEENS
A new Forum arranged under the auspices of the Queens County Committee will open Sunday evening, Jan. 15, at Woodside Labor Temple, 4132—58th St., and will continue on alternate Sunday evenings. The first event is a debate on the topic "Does New York Need a City Party?" Speakers: Louis Waldman, and Dr. William J. Schieffelin of the Citizens' Union. Course tickets are being sold at $1 for five meetings; single admission, 25 cents. Astoria.—Meeting of the branch mission, 25 cents.

Astoria.—Meeting of the branch will be held Friday evening, Jan. 6, at 8:30, at Bohemian Hall, 2nd and Woolsey Aves. Election of officers for the new year and change of meeting night will be decided upon.

Elmhurst.—Branch will meet on Thursday, Jan. 19, in the home of Comrades Goodgion, 9418—54th Ave. Maurice Gordin will be the speaker on the educational program for the evening.

Far Rockaway.— Branch will shortly announce the formation of a class in "The Fundamentals of Socialism," with a number of Socialism," with a number of capable speakers, to begin Wednesday, Jan. 18. Program will be announced shortly.

Where Your Union Meets

BONNAZ, SINGER EMBROIDERERS TUCKERS, STITCHERS and PLEAT-FREST UNION, Local 66, I.L.G.W.U., 7 East 15th St. Phone Algonquin 4-3657-3658. Executive Board Meets Every Tuesday Night in the Office of the Union. Z. L. Freedman, President; Leon Hattab, Manager; Morris Fishman, Secretary-Treasurer.

BRICKLAYERS' UNION, Local 9
Office and headquarters, Brooklyn
Labor Lyceum, 949 Willoughby Ave.
Phone Stagg 2-4621. Office open daily oxcept Saturday from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M.
Regular meetings every Tuesday evening.
Fred Pflaum, Pres.; Al. Bayerle, VicePres.; Charles Pflaum, Fin. See'y; Milton
Rowcroft, Rec. Corr. See'y; Frank F.
Lutz, Treasurer; Andrew Streit, Business Agent.

CLOTHING WORKERS OF AMERICA.
New York Joint Board. 31 West 15th
St., New York, N. Y. Phone Tompkins Square 6.5400. Hyman Blumberg, Sidney Ressman, Managers; Abraham
Miller, Secretary-Treasurer.

CLOTHING WORKERS OF AMERICA LATHING WORKERS OF AMERICA Amalgamated Bank Bldg., 11-14 Union Square, 3rd floor Phone Algonquin 4-6500-1-2-3-4-5. Sidney Hill-man, Gen. President; Joseph Schloss-berg, Gen. Sec'y-Treas.

CAP MAKERS UNION, Local No. Tel., Orchard 4-9360.—Regular mings every 1st and 3rd Saturd Executive Board meets every Mond All meetings are held at 133 Second Avenue, New York City.

FURRIERS' JOINT COUNCIL OF N. Y.
Local 101, 105, 110 and 115 of The
INTERNATIONAL FUR WORKERS
OF U. S. and C., 28 West 31st Street.
Phone Penn. 6-7932. Meets every Tuesday at 8:00 P. M. B. Merkin, Manager.

FUR DRESSERS' UNION, Local 2, International Fur Workers Union. Office and headquarters, 949 Willoughby Ave., Brooklyn; STangg 2-0798, Reg. meetings, 1st and 3rd Mondays. President Morria Reiss; Vice Pres., Joseph Karrass; Business Agent, B. Kalmikoff; Secretary, Samuel Mindel; Treasurer, Albert Held.

UNITED way; Phone Drvdock 4-8610. Meets 1st and 3rd Monday, 8 P. M. Executive Board same day, 5:30 P. M. M. Tigel, Chairman; M. Brown, Vice-Chairman;
M. Frinstone, Secretary-Treasurer.

LADIES' GARMENT CUTTERS' UNION.
Local No. 10, L. L. G. W. U. Office, 109 W. 38th St.; Phone Wis. 7-8011.
Executive Board meets every Thursday at the office of the Union. Maurice W.
Jacobs, Pres.; Samuel Perimutter, Mgr.
Sec.; Morris W. Jacobs, Chairman of Exec. Board; Philip Oretsky, Asst. Mgr.

THE INTERNATIONAL UNION, 3 West 16th Street, New York City, Phone Chelsea 3-2148.
David Dubinsky, President.

ITHOGRAPHERS OF AMERICA, New ITHOGRAPHERS OF AMERICA, New J York Local No. 1. Offices, Amalithone Bidg., 205 West 14th St.; Phone Watkins 9-7764. Regular meetings every second and fourth Tuesday at Arlington Hall, 19 St. Mark's Place. Albert E. Castre, President; Patrick J. Hanion, Vice-President; Frank Schol, Fin. Secretary; Bull Themes, Rec. Secretary; Joseph J. O'Connor, Treasures. MILLINERY WORKERS' UNION, Local 24. Cloth Hat, Cap and Millimery Workers' International Union, Downtown office, 640 Broadway, phone
Spring 7-45-48; uptown office, 30 W. 37th
St., phone Wisconsin 7-1270. Executive Board meets every Tuesday evening, 8
P. M. Manager, N. Spector; Sec'y-Treas,
Alex Rose; Organizers, I. H. Goldberg,
A. Mendelowitz, M. Goodman, Lucy
Oppenheim; Chairman of Executive Board, Morris Rosenblatt; Secretary of Executive Board. Saul Hodos.

MILE WAGON DRIVERS' UNION
Local 584, I. U. of T. Office: 259
14th St., City. Local 584 meets on Thursday of the me at Beethoven fiall,
East Fifth St. Execu Board meets on the and 4th Thursdays
Beethoven Hall, 21
Fifth St. Chas. Ho
President and Busin
Agent; Max Lieble
Secretary-Tressurer.
SEE THAT YOUR MILK MAN WEAR
OUR EMBLEM.

NECKWEAR MAKERS' UPHON, Loc 11016, A. F. of L., 7 Fast 15th 1 Phone Algonquin 4-708L. Joint E ecutive Board meets every Tuesday nig at 7:30, Board meets every Tuesday night at 8:00 in the office, Ed Gotte man, Secretary-Treasurer.

PAINTERS UNION, Local 261 Office, 62 East 106th Street.

INTERS UNION, Local 261
Dfice, 62 East 106th Street.
Tel. Lehigh 4-314
Exec. Board mee
every Tussday
the office. Regul meeting every Fr day at 210 E. 104
St. M. Gaft, Fl
Sec'y-Treas.; Greeninger, Recoav
ing Secretary.

OCKETBOOK WORKERS UNION New York Joint Board, Affiliate with the Amer. Federation of Labor ieneral office, 53 W. 21st St., New York hone Gramercy 5-1023. Charles Klein an, Chalrman; Charles I. Goldman ec'y-Treas.; Abe Stein, Manager.

YPOGRAPHICAL UNION No. 6. Office and headquarters, 24 West 16th St., N. Y. Meets every 3rd Sunday of every month at Stuyvesant High School, 15th St., East of 2nd Ave. Phone Tompakins Sq. 6-7470. Austin Hewson, President; Daniel McCauley, Vice-President; James J. McGrath, Secretary-Treasurer; J. J. Fahey, J. J. Bambrick, John Sullivan, Organizers.

WAITERS & WAITERSES UNION.
Local 1 11 East 25th
St.; Tel. Ashland
4-3107. Julius Berg,
Pres.; Wm. Lelemann, Socy-Treas.
Regular meeting
every 2nd and 6th
Thursday at Beethoven Hall, 219
East 5th Street.
Workers: Eat Only in Ecotaurants
That Employ Union Workers

Whith Goods Workers Unio Local 52 of L L. G. W. U. 3 We 16th St., New York City. Phot Chelses 3-5756-5757. A. Snyder, Manage nsive against materialism repnaive against materialism rep-nated by such men as Eddington Jeans and the whole relation reen Marxism and present sci-fic tendencies. Bela Low's see in "The Materialist Concep-of History" will give a thor-introduction to this much he next few months. Arthur Mc-Dowell of Pittsburgh, Industrial Director of the League, presided over the meeting in the absence of National Chairman Julius Umansky, and the meeting was attended by George Smerkin of attended by George Smerkin of Chicago, National Secretary, Milton Weisberg of Pittsburgh, Jim Duffy of Detroit, Jack Jaffe of Chicago, Hy. Fish of Cleveland, William Quick, Jr., of Milwaußee, Sam Bakely of California, and Aaron Levenstein of New York. National Chairman Umansky and N.E.C. member Winston Dancis of New York were in session at the same time with the Socialist Party Youth Committee in New York.

YPSL Reports Progress

Since September 15th, 41 new Yipsel circles have been chartered, numbering 523 new members, not including n new members admitted necuting new members admitted to already existing circles. The new groups are located in 31 cities in 20 different states. The Eastern District, including New York, re-ported it has sent out eleven field organizers.

organizers.

The growth of the League has The growth of the League has created certain difficulties in relations with the Party which require the definite formulation of a policy. The following statement was sent to the Party youth committee: "It is the sense of the N.E.C. of the Y.P.S.L. that the advancement of Socialist activity money youth requires a pational." among youth requires a national youth organization possessing a reasonable measure of autonomy. We therefore request the N.E.C. of the party to instruct its units that local party branches cannot

ST. LOUIS.—The National Executive Committee of the Young groups under their supervision to disregard their own N.E.C. rulings. Wherever local party units feel that such decisions are inapplicable to the needs of local situations and ns and wish to set them aside, they have recourse to the Yipsel N.E.C. and finally to the party N.E.C." The N.E.C. addressed an appeal to all circles to cooperate with all youth organizations particularly in anti-war conferences. It endorsed the anti-war conferences held recently in New York and Chicago and urged that the continuation committees of both be amalga-mated to form one united front mated to form one united front against war.

"We urge planned and disciplined participation of the units of the Y.P.S.L. in all such attempts at united youth anti-war agit frion and action. Such participation is permissible on any minimum part of the program set forth in the resolution of the national convention of the Y.P.S.L. Under no circumstances shall a participating Y.P.S.L. group give slightest grounds for belief that they surrender any part of their complete program."

In the Southern Illinois area where the Progressive Miners of America have been active, the national office of the Y.P.S.L. has national office of the Y.P.S.L. has maintained organizers during the past few months. The N.E.C. reaffirmed the position taken at its Buffalo meeting with reference to the Progressive Miners of America. It called upon all members of the League to assist in the gathering of funds and clothes for the miners using the Midwest Striking miners, using the Midwest Striking Miners' Relief Fund established by the Springfield Local of the So cialist Party as its agency.

We therefore request the N.E.C. of the party to instruct its units that local party branches cannot exercise the N.E.C. of the party to instruct its units that local party branches cannot exercise the number of the Y.P.S.L. The tentative date has been set as the middle of July.

an. 7, at 4, at 7 East 15th St., sw York City.

Brooklyn and Queens Borough uncils.—Representatives of each the Y.P.S.L. groups in these rougs will hold separate meetigs Saturday, Jan. 7, at 2:30, at East 15th St.

Circle 2 Sr., Kings.—"Is There Santa Claus?" will be the subte for a forensic display this inday, Jan. 8, at 5, at the rownsville Labor Lyceum. Wilam Turgell will take up the indeed for Santa and claims that will prove his existence beyond e shadow of a doubt. Nathan opatin, the old iconoclast who as holes in his stockings, claims at there ain't no Santa Claus. It the future decide!

Circle 5 Sr., Kings.—Conradabelson will speak on "The retry of Revolt" Sunday, Jan. 8, it 4, at 1377—42nd St.

Circle 2 Sr., Manhattan.—Dancing ill evening will feature the expo-

Philadelphia ROUND TRIP $300

$2.00

Good for 30 Days

Central Committee.—The next seeting will be held Saturday, an. 7, at 4, at 7 East 15th St., aw York City.

Brooklyn and Queens Borough uncils.—Representatives of each the Y.P.S.L. groups in these rougs will hold separate meeting. Saturday, Jan. 7 at 2:30, at 1539 Madison Ave. (104th St.)

West Side.—The next meeting and War Resistance" Sunday, Jan. 8, at 8:30, at 1539 Madison Ave. (104th St.)

West Side.—The next meeting will be held Sunday, Jan. 8, at 8:30, at 100 W. 72nd St. Comrade Golenpaul will speak.

Greenwich Village.—McAlister Coleman will speak on "What Makes a Revolutionary," Saturday, Jan. 7, at 8 p. m. sharp. A social will follow at the new headquarters, 52 W. 8th St., second floor, and 10 cents will be charged. The following evening, Sunday, a debate will be held on "Capitalism vs. Socialism." A gym period is being held every Saturday from 3 to 4:30 p. m. for young men only at Judson Gym, Thompson and W. 4th Sts. Bring shorts and sneakers for boxing and basketball—free.

Bronx School Committee.—A meeting of the newly elected delegates to the High School Committee will be held Sunday, Jan. 8, at 8:30 p. m., at 9 W. 170th St.

Bronx Junior Groups.—J. M. Diamond will speak on the "Socialist Movement in America" at the 6th A. D. group Friday, Jan. 6, at 4:30, at the home of Rosenblatt 2,440 Radcliff Ave. Another Junior group is meeting at 1575 Washington Ave., Apt. 4 (near Claremont Parkway), on Fridays at 8 p. m. Those between 14 and 17 years of age in these neighborhoods are invited.

Circle 3 Jr., Bronx, will hold a Youth Rally Friday, Jan. 13, at 8:30, at 904 Prospect Ave. Admission free.

Circle 4, Flushing.—The weekly meeing was held at 8. P. head-markers. where Comrade Sam

Junior group is meeting at 1575
Washington Ave., Apt. 4 (near Claremont Parkway), on Fridays at 8 p. m. Those between 14 and 17 years of age in these neighborhoods are invited.

Circle 3 Jr., Bronx, will hold a Youth Rally Friday, Jan. 13, at 8:30, at 904 Prospect Ave. Admission free.

Circle 4, Flushing.—The weekly meeing was held at 8. P. headquarters, where Comrade Sam Friedman directed the group in the singing of rebel songs. The circle has very recently been organized and the meeting was yery instructive.

Varid, Flushing, L. I.; Socialist Party Branch.

Speaker and topic to be anounced: Bellamy Club, 904 Prospect Ave., Bronx; Labor Forum.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 13
William E. Bohn: "Technocracy—Myth or Miracle?", 411 Brighton Beach Ave., Bronx; Labor Forum.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 13
William E. Bohn: "Technocracy—Myth or Miracle?", 411 Brighton Beach Ave., Walthew M. Levy and George Gove: "A Housing Program for New York City," symposium. Paradise Manor, Mt. Eden and Jerome Ave.; Mid-Bronx Socialist Party Instructive.

August Claesens: "Can Wealth Be Equitably Distributed?", 144 Second Ave., Manhattan, 8th Ab D. Branch.

MAURICE SCHULMAN DIES

Socialists will be grieved to hear of the death in the closing hours of 1932 of Maurice Schulman of Brooklyn, formerly one of the most active of the younger Socialists of that borough. Schulman had long been inactive because of his illness. Maurice Schulman was a son of A. H. Schulman, one of the most active of the members of the Jewish movement and former vice-president of the Workmen's Circle.

Lecture Calendar

(All lectures begin at 8.30 p. unless otherwise indicated.)

SATURDAY, JANUARY 7
Paul Blanshard: "What Is the Matter with New York?" 7 East 15th St., Manhattan; Women's Committee.

Committee.

SUNDAY, JANUARY 8

Prof. Ray Clark Hannaway:
"What I Saw in Russia," 11 a. m., Burnside Manor, Burnside and Harrison Aves.; West Bronx Socialist Forum.
August Claessens: "What Socialism Is," 3 p. m., 2005 7th Ave., Manhattan; People's Educational Forum.

Manhattan; People's Educational Forum.

G. Salvemini versus C. Flumiani: "Is Fascism an Economic Success?", Academy of Music, Lafayette and Flatbuzh Aves.; Brooklyn Forum.

Jacob Panken: "A New Deal for New York City," 48 Ave. C, Manhattan; 6th A. D. Branch.

August Claessens: "Nature and Nurture," 4046 Broadway (170th Street), Manhattan; Washington Heights Branch.

Samuel Lederman: "How a Rent Strike Was Won," 800 Fox St., Bronx; 3rd A. D. Branch.

MONDAY, JANUARY 9

Bronx; 3rd A. D. Branch.

MONDAY, JANUARY 9
Samuel A. DeWitt: "A Socialist World," 167 Tompkins Ave., Brooklyn; 6th A. D. Branch.
Bela Low: "Socialism in Europe," 4046 Broadway (170th Street),
Manhattan; Washington Heights

4046 Broad Manhattan;

Branch.

Henry J. Rosner: "Should the Socialist Party Participate in a Fusion for Proportional Representation?", 219 Sackman Street, Brooklyn; 23rd A. D. Branch.
William Karlin: "Unemployment Insurance," 250 South 4th Street, Brooklyn; 4-14th A. D. Branch.
Frank Marcus: "Technocracy—Friend or Foe of Socialism?", 52
W. 8th St., Manhattan; Chelsea Branch.
TUESDAY, JANUARY 10

TUESDAY, JANUARY 10
William M. Feigenbaum: "Reform or Revolution," 218 Van Sicklen Ave., Brooklyn; 22nd A. D.,
Branch 3

Branch 3
Herman Salzman: "Is Proletarian
Art Possible or Desirable?", 844
Utica Ave., Brooklyn; 18th A. D.,

Utica Ave., Brooklyn; 18th A. D., Branch 2. August Claessens: "The Future of Socialism in the U. S.," Cafe-teria, 433 W. 21st St., Manhattan; 3rd-5th A. D. Branch. Julius Hochman: "Problems Facing the Labor Movement To-day," 9 W. 170th St., Bronx; 2nd A. D. Branch.

Facing the Lador Movement and A. D. Branch.

Tucker P. Smith: "The Socialist Program for Peace," 100 W. 72nd St., Manhattan; Upper Westside Branch.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 11
Henry J. Rosner: "If New York Were Socialist," at home of Friedman, 329 Stuyvesant Ave., near Macon St., Brooklyn; 5th A. D. Branch.

Macon St., Brooklyn; 5th A. D. Branch.
THURSDAY, JANUARY 12
William Karlin: "The New Epoch," 1439 St. Johns Place, Brooklyn; 18th A. D., Branch 1.
Samuel A. DeWitt: "A Socialist World," 133-10 Northern Boulevard, Flushing, L. I.; Socialist Party Branch.
Speaker and topic to be an-

Bad Breath

is a warning-

Poisonous food wastes held too long in the di-gestive system cause bad breath. Ex-Lax rids the body of these wastes promptly. Better for you than vile, violent cathartics.

Important Note! There's nothing else like Ex-Lax. Its scientific laxative ingredient is made more effective through chocolating by the exclusive Ex-Lax process. Ask for Ex-Lax by name and refuse imitations.

Keep "Regular" with

The Chocolated Laxative

WORKMEN'S SICK AND DEATH BENEFIT FUND OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Organized 1884 Incorporated 1999
Main Office: 714-716 SENECA AVENUE, Ridgewood Station, Brooklyn, M. T.
Telephone—HEgeman 3-4656

Over 60,000 Members in 350 Branches
Reserves on December 31, 1930: $3,383,000
Benefits paid since its existence:
Death Benefit: $4,635,677.04 Sick Benefit: $11

Total: $16,089,000.00

WORKERS! PROTECT YOURSELVES!

In Case of Sickness, Accident, or Death!

Death Benefit according to age at time of initiation in one or both classes: Class A: 40 cents per month—Death Benefit $396 at the age of 16 to $175 at age of 44.

Class B: 50 cents per month—Death Benefit $350 to $230.

Parents may insure their children in case of death up to the age of 18.

Death Benefit according to age $20 to $200.

Sick Benefit paid from the first day of filing of doctor's certificate.

$9 and $15 respectively per week, for the first forty weeks, half of the amount another forty weeks.

Sick Benefit for women: $0 per week for the first forty weeks; $4.56 each for their forty weeks.

further infermation apply to Main Office, William Spuhr, National Secretary, or to the Financial Secretaries of the Branches.

Men and Women

Wanted

REQUIRING DENTAL WORK, as Bridge Work, Filling, Plates, Etc.

who cannot pay the regular dental price should call Friday, 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. Saturday, 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. Sunday, 9 A. M. to 5 P. M.

At the Office of DR. J. LUNENFELD 80 Delancey St., N. Y. C. Between Allen & Orchard Sts.

Prices Charged as at a Clinic Ex-Ray and Extractions FREE When Necessary

WORKMEN'S CIRCLE

The Largest Radical Working-men's Fraternal Order in Existence

75,000 MEMBERS $5,000,000-ASSETS

Branches All Over the United States and Canada

Insurance from $100 to $3,000
Sick benefit, 15 weeks per year, at $8, $18, $23 and $28 per week. Many branches pay additional benefit from $3 to $5 per week. Consumption benefit $400 and $600 or nine months n our own sanitorium, located in the most beautiful region of the Catskill Mountains—besides the regular weekly benefit.

Par informatic Per information apply to

THE WORKMEN'S 175 East Broadway, N. Y. City Telephone Orchard 4-6000

Fred Spitz, Inc. Florist

74 SECOND AVENUE NEW YORK CITY hone Dry Dock 4-0355, Not connected with any other store in New York

WORKMEN'S FURNITURE FIRE INSURANCE SOCIETY

A co-operative Fire Insurance Society, affiliated with the Cooperative League of America and operating under the supervision of the New York State Insurance Department.

Why Pay Exorbitant Fire Rates?

HOUSEHOLD FIRE INSUR-ANCE AT ACTUAL COST

10cAnnually $100 in irrespective of lecation or character of dwelling.

Fire Losses Appraised Lib and Paid Promptly.

$75,000,000.00 Insu in Force. $1,000,000.00 in Assets.

$500,000.00 paid out in fire claims. 60,000 Members.

Upon admission every member n make a deposit equal to $1.00 every $100 of insurance. This dep will be repaid in full upon withdraw For further information apply to the Main Office 227 EAST 84th STREET New York City

LABOR LYCEUM

349 Willoughby Ave., Breeklyn Large and small hall suitable for all occasions and meetings at reasonable centals.

STAGG 2-3843

Labor Temple 243-247 EAST 34th ST.
NEW YORK
Workmen's Educational Association
Free Library open from 1 to 10 .p m.
Halls for Meetings, Entertainments and Balls. Tel. REgent 4-2003.

The Ninth Annual Dinner of THE NEW LEADER will be held Friday evening, February 10, 1985.

11 W. Stat St. CHi, oring 4-1606

RATES FOR ROUND TRIPS GREATLY REDUCED

NEVIN BUS DEPOT

UMI

"Men and Jobs" Remains Second Week at Cameo

sound comedy, remains for a sec-ond week at the RKO-Cameo

Theatre.

"Men and Jobs" was directed by
A. Macharet and tells the story of the building of the 5-Year Plan with the aid of American engineers.
The American engineer speaks
English and throughout the remainder of the dialogue complete English sub-titles are superimposed.

piano, and the hidden piano that piano, and the hidden piano that really played—than the Yale puppets of their piano duet; but the rest of his body shows how mellowed in humor the Italian work has grown. These high lights bring even old lovers of marionettes to new enthusiasms; and the body of the program maintains the standard these set. The tropical revue, with its chorus and principal per-

"Men and Jobs," the n

Theatre

Hurok Brings Beauty From Four Distant Lauds

The Week on the Stage

By Joseph T. Shipley

THE OLDEST ART FESTIVAL. S. Hurok presents Uday Shan-Kar, Mary Wigman, and Escudero. At the New

The history of the dance has en a series of long windings, er back to its ancient start. com its origin in fear and love has moved to ritual and to orgy; henever it has sought to pass be-ond, it has grown ensuared in its wn beginnings. Out of fear of atural forces, personified as gods, e dance came as magic to over-wer, then religion to placate; rmalized in ritual, it came mere-to present the olden stories. ie "modern" dance that seeks to woke the spirit of the machine-age, or show the "angel of fate" emoving gas-masks from soldiers, doing just what the ancient indu did, as we behold, watching han-Kar kill the elephant-demon. The pleasant aspects of nature, the The pleasant aspects of the sessence of spring joy, grew into dance with love; in most dancing, formalized, we can trace f sex. But always f sex. But always of the dance strives of the dance strives from music toward sculp-to advance from emotion to-ard idea.

The art of Shan-Kar superbly illustrates the formal dance, wherein emotions have found patterns of beauty to constrain the terns of beauty to constrain the passions into ordered flow. Shan-Kar is a revolutionist; by having a high-caste, Grahmin woman dance in public he is defying convention more than were President Hoover to marry a Negress; but in his dances he is reawakening an ancient art, rescuing the dance

Eileen Crowe

Who appears with the "Abbey Players in their repertoire of plays at the Martin Beck Theatre.

from the brothel, restoring its traditional modes, bringing it close to the staid beauty of ritual. In every dance of Escudero, on the other hand, sex smiles or lurks or summons. The very click of the castanets is an invitation, a defi-ance, a command. Freer, though still formal, Escudero's dancing moves with the spontaneous joy of springtide playing, the varying banter of love. Out of Germany something much more serious is to be expected; and Mary Wigman is the leading exponent (after Isadora) of the dance of mood and itself. dora) of the dance of mood and idea. Shan-Kar uses 56 musical interments, each for a set harmonitus part; Escudero's rapid movement takes little more than the three of these the Italian company emphasis of a tapped rhythm; "20,000 Years in Sing Sing" Mary Wigman's work needs no music at all. The music is redundant, for the dance has taken over its function, the dance wakes G. Robinson will be replaced at the mood. Yet the negroes in Har-who "dance their troubles ay," and the ancient savages tried to do the same thing, dancing a magic rite to bring rain or expel a demon, are at bottom close to Mary Wigman's "most close to Mary Wigman's "most modern" dancing. Our civilization is more complex, our moods more subtly analyzed; but the veneration of the Ganges, and the snake-charmer's pride, as Shan-Kar shows them, do for moods and moments of the mystic Orient precisely what the plastic movements of Marz Wigman seek to do for of Mary Wigman seek to do for impulses and patterns of existence in the western world today. The diverse movements of the dance, in all lands and times, spring from the same two needs as motivate the same two needs as motivate political and economic system, from the same two emotions, fear and love, and the same two needs: to live, and to let live; to continue one's existence as an individual, and through the race. The dance is the fluid pattern of these persistent, primal needs. sistent, primal needs.

INTERNATIONAL THEATRE

INTERNATIONAL THEATRE
TEATRE DEI PICCOLEI. S.
Hurok presents Vittorio Podrecca's Marionettes at the Lyric.
At last New York knows what a marionette show can be! The Teatro dei Piccoli, fresh from triumphs evverywhere else in the world. has come to be blazoned world, has come to be blazoned here. Aside from the singing and instrumental music which accom-pany a puppet show, its elements are three: the little wooden (but

"Silver Dollar" starring Edward G. Robinson will be replaced at the Strand Theatre next Monday eveing, January 9th, by "20,000 Years in Sing Sing," the picturization by Warner Bros. of Warden Lewis E. Lawes real account of life and drama in the state's big penal institutio itution. Wilson Mizner and Brown Holi wrote the screen play from Warden Lawes' novel and Courtney Terrett and Robert Lord adapted it to the excels. Most American marionettes are designed for children—though the comic-strip figures and the polysyllabre stories (words like "obsequious" and "profligate") of Tony Sarg ill fit the child: few more than the Levivn figures, and the work of The Yale Puppeteers, are for adult enjoyment. But these and these set. The tropical revue, with its chorus and principal performers—including a svelte Josephine Baker—and a crooning cradle-song, is also hilarious in its evocation; helping to prove—to those who still require proof—that the marionette is a self-sustaining and effective creation in the showman's art. are for adult enjoyment. But these Piccoli transcend limitations of age, as of language; as Podrecco puts it, they are for children from 3 to 93.

The three balancing gentlemen of the Chineso ladder act, the little acrobat who swings far out into the theatre while twirling through his stunts, fall so little short of human that we almost convinced the Singing Boys from Vienna (who were excitedly watching) that these were really little men. The pianist whose performance The pianist whose performance closed the play had no more exact timing—his hands on the puppet-

Arthur J. Beckhard presents his secon production since "Another Language

"GOODBYE

AGAIN"

OSGOOD PERKINS

SALLY BATES

"The season's happiest comedy."

MASQUE The. 45 St., W. of B'way Evs. 8:40. Lac. 4-0040. Matinees Wed. and Sat. 2:40

ARTHUR J. BECKHARI

ANOTHER

LANGUAGE

A Play by ROSE FRANKEN

GLENN ANDERS DOROTHY STICKNEY MARGARET WYCHERLY JOHN BEAL

SHUBERT THEA. W. 44 St.
Evs. 8:50
MATINEES NEW YEAR'S WEEK:
Matinees Wed. and Sat. 2:40

PAULINE

WALTER CONNOLLY

Thes.,124 W 43St. Eves. 8:45 Mats. Thurs. and Sat. 2:45

"Alive with laughter."
-Garland, World-Telegra

LORD in

Christopher Bean

HENRY MILLER'S

The Theatre Guild

presents

pre pre the wild imp Lan

sym poig tale

then

(as be n This cure device two piece render ineptit

A Comedy by S. N. Behrman

GUILD THEATRE

52nd Street, West of Broadway Mat Thurs.-Sat. 2:30. Eve. 8:30.

"Here's something to be thankful for. . . "

PEGGY FEARS

Music in the Air

ALVIN THEA, 52 St. W. of B'way Thurs, and Kirs. Eves. 8:30. — Matinee Thurs. and Sat. 2:3 Xtra Mat. Mon. Jan. 2nd

PHILHARMONIC SYMPHON

WALTER, Conductor Metropolitan Opera Hous Sunday Afternon, Jan. 8, at 3:00 WAGNER-STRAUSS PROGRAM

Carnegie Hall, Thurs. Eve., Jan. 12, at 8:45 Friday Afternoon, Jan. 13, at 2:36 HAYDN—BRUCKNER

Carnegie Hall, Sat. Eve., Jan. 14, at 8:45 Soloist: JOSEF HOFMANN ARTHUR JUDSON, Mgr. (Steinway Piene)

CARNEGIE HALL

Friday Eve., January 20 at 8:30

Hofmann

Mgt. Copley.

(Steinway Piano)

Josef

Piano Recital

CARNEGIE HALL

The Late

nday Eve., Jan. 16, at 8:36 The NEW YORK ORCHESTRA, Inc.

NICHOLAI SOKOLOFF, Music Director and Conductor Program:—Beethoven; "Eraica"; "Debinsy"; La Mer; Sibelius; Frinlander
"TAX PREE"—New at Bax Office Mgt. Copley (Steinway Piane)

GEORGE WHITE'S VARIETIES

NEW EDITION

Harry RICHMAN-Bert LAHR

TOM PATRICOLA—ELEANOR POWELL Loomis Sisters—Melissa Mason Roger Gray — Lucille Osborn GEORGE WHITE'S DANCING BEAUTIES AND

Willie & Eugene HOWARD EVENINGS 50c to $2.50 ps. Mat. 25c to $1.50 Sat. Mat. 25c to $2 CASINO Thea., 7th Av. & 50 St. Col.5-1300 Seats now for all Performances

RETURN LIMITED ENGAGEMENT BBY THEATRE PLAYERS

Direct from Abbey Theatre, Dublin
ERTOIRE FOR WEEK OF JAN, 9th
M. EVE.—THE WORKHOUSE WARD'
THE PLAYBOY of the WESTERN WORLD" by J. M. Synge
TUES. EVE.—'THE FAR-OFF HILLS'
WED. EVE.—'THE SHADOW OF THE GLEN by J. M. Synge
THE WHITEHEADED BOY'
THURS. MAT.—JUDO AND THE PAYCOCK' by Scan O'Casey
THURS. EVE.—'THE BIG HOUSE'
SAT. EVE.—'THE BIG HOUSE'
SAT. EVE.—'THE BIG HOUSE'
SAT. EVE.—THE BIG HOUSE'
SAT. EVE.—'RIDERS TO THE SEA'
THE PLAYBOY of the WESTERN
WORLD' by J. M. Synge
MARTIN BECK THEA., 46 St. W. of 6th Ave.

MARTIN BECK THEA., 45 St. W. of 8th Ave. Eves. $1 to $2.50; Thurs. Mat. 50c to $1.50 Mats. 75c to $2 plus tax, exc. Holidays

CIVIC REPERTORY

Ath St. & 6th Ave. WA. 9-7456 6c, $1, $1.50 Evenings at 8:30 Matiness MON., WED., SAT. 2:30 EVA LE GALLIENNE Director

-WEEK OF JANUARY 9th-Tues. eve.,..... Liliom Wed. mat... Alice in Wonderland Wed. eve. . . Alice in Wonderland Thurs. eve..... Liliom

LION FEUCHTWANGER Author of "POWER," Says of

YIDDISH ART THEATRE | FRI. NIGHT, also SAT., SUN. & 2nd Ave. at 12th St. Phone STuy. 9-7195 | MON. MATINEES & NIGHTS

MUSICIANS' SYMPHONY TUES. Eve. JAN. 8:30 Metropolitan Opera House Conductor ANTONIA POLDI

BRICO-MILDNER

PROKOFIEFF

"LEONORE" OVERTURE Beethoven
"BURLESKE" Richard Strauss
Soloist: Poldi Mildner, with orchestra
SYMBHONY No. 4
BALLET "CHOUT" (Prokofteff conducting). Prokofteff
SEATS NOW 25e to $2. — Proceeds Unemployed Musicians

GRACE MOORE The Brilliant and Melodi

"THE DUBARRY"

"It is the levellest light opera score that has broken on this town's ears in a decade or so."—Mantle, News. with 100 PLAYERS in 15 MAGNIFICENTLY BEAUTIFUL SCENES GEO. M. COHAN THEA. Broadway & 43rd Street Eves., 8:30. Mat. Wed. & Sat.

"DINNER AT EIGHT"

GEORGE S. KAUFMAN and EDNA FERBER
CONSTANCE COLLIER CONWAY TEARLE
MARGUERITE CHURCHILL
MARGARET DALE HARVEY
MARY URRAY CESAR ROMERO
AUSTIN FAIRMAN CONSTANCE CRARE

ANN AL
MARY MURRAY CESAR ROMERO
GREGO
GREGO
HANS I ANN ANDREWS
MALCOLM DUNCAN
JUDITE WOOD
GREGORY GAYE
HANS ROBERTS

Music Box Theatre 45th Street West of Broadway Music Box Theatre Matiness Thursday and Saturday 2:30

COMPANION COMPANION OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PRO

UMI

Money's Worth at Arthur Klein's Broad-way Laughs

GOOD VAUDEVILLE

The wave of lower prices is hit-ting the theatre; and the all-vaude-ville program at Arthur Klein's Broadway Theatre, at $1 top, is an excellent sample of what can be had for the new price. Teo Healy is high man of a merry crowd; his own happy stoges can crowd the own happy stooges can crowd the stage with broad comedy; but a real brown bear and four white horses come to the assistance of horses come to the assistance of the human performers. There is a long list of good workers: Joe Frisco; Ann Codee, the fatal Frenchie; Jack McLallen among the funny folks; 'Twelve Aristo-erats''; the Mosconi Brothers; De Wolfe, Metcalfe and Ford, among the deft dancers. A good deal of the laughter, when it is not slap-stick, is sheer—but pleasant stick, is sheer—but pleasant— nonsense; it will be long before we forget the artist, painter of men and women—who paints MEN over one door, and WOMEN over the other! Vaudeville at its madmerriest. J. T. S.

THE MATRON-MARTYR "LUCRECE."

UCRECE." Translated by Thornton Wilder from the French of Andre Obey. At the Belasco. Katherine Cornell, who has given many good things to the theatre, has ventured an experiment in the ent version of the old tale of the rape of Lucrece. Told with present-day realism, the story of the faithful wife upon whom the wild Tarquin violently wreaks his imperious will, might prove—as Lamb feared for the story of "King Lear"—too close to our King sympathies. too human. too sympathies, too human, too poignantly at hand. To make such tales endurable, we must push them away, so that our impulse (as with the blind beggar) will be not to help but to contemplate. This remoteness Obey tries to secure in the present version by cure, in the present version, by devices of the theatre, such as the wo "narrators," whose role seems cross between that of the Greek orus and that of an inner voice.

chorus and that of an inner voice, such as the pantomime that only at times breaks into dialogue, such as the Elizabethan effect of the costumes: "doublet from Italy, from france." Then, from distance at which this artiality sets the story, it is the iness of the actress, by her lus" spell, to bring it home in to the hearts of the audience. The power of the playing of therine Cornell, sweetly maic, and the noble assistance of companions, almost effect this companions, almost effect this amph of the player's art. Two tacles unconsidered, two essenbridges unbuilt, leave the remote. What a better ndering than the wordy, obvious eptitudes of the Obey-Wilder

It Comes To Life! KARLOFF

in the strangest love story

MUMMY"

with FTA JOHANN — DAVID MANNERS

On the Stage— BENNY DAVIS and His Broadway Stars of the Future

RKO ALBEE . Albee Sq. Brooklyn

The Royal Family of Broadway in "Rasputin and the Empress" "Afraid to Talk" in Brooklyn "Goodbye Again" Choser Premiere at the Fox — New the Play-of-the-Month

Lionel, Ethel and John Barrymore as they appear in the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film current at the Astor This film was directed by Boleslavsky, formerly of the Moscow Art Theatre and author of "Way of a Lancer."

script might do, one can but guess. Had these men kept in mind, not merely the Shakespearean version of the rape, but that of Thomas Heywood, they might have availed themselves of an inestimable de-vice: Heywood has the servant Valerius constantly singing at his tasks; in the early morning, just before the servants find their desolate mistress, he carrols one of the most exquisite of our English results.

> Pack clouds away and velcome day, With night we banish and adds beauty and dramatic irony to the force of the impending doom. Beyond the weakness of the present version, however, lies a remoteness inherent in the theme: our notions as to the importance of the central deed have changed. Few women would commit suicide, like Lucrece, after a similarly ravished innocence: the Roman concept of the family, even the feudal (chivalric) concept of the wife as chattel-holder of the family honor, rings with a distant faintness in our cars—we just refaintness in our ears-we just refuse to be thus much concerned. With a theme not universal, and a version inept, the performance is reduced to a tour de force; yet the experiment is decidedly interesting, and Katherine Cornell is al-ways one of our stage's best.

J. T. S.

Alton Jones in Piano Recital

The committee on Music of the MacDowell Club will present Alton Jones in a piano recital at the Club House on Sunday afternoon, January 22, at 5.

The Critics Raved About It! MEN & JOBS

"This film is to be regarded something decidedly important."
-Herald-Tribune

"An extraordinary arresting picture-leavened by comedy."

RKO CAMEO 42nd St. A B'way AND SOVIET NEWS REEL

FOX B'KLYN "AFRAID TO TALK"
ERIC LINDEN SYDNY FOX Max Gordon Cuts Prices in Half for "Flying Colors

Max Gordon announces a drastic reduction in the box office prices for "Flying Colors," the Howard Dietz revue, in which Clifton Webb, Charles Butterworth, Tamara Geva and Patsy Kelly are starred. The change in prices took effect last change in prices took effect last Monday.

The prices have been reduced by half. The orchestra seats for evening performances, which were formerly $4, will be on sale at the box office at $2. The matinees will be played at a top price of $1.50, instead of the former charge of $3. The price of balcony seats has been reduced proportionately.

The cast and production will be the same that has been on view at the same that has been on view at the Imperial Theatre since September 15.

THE ROAD TO REVOLUTION!

M.G.M's Gigantic Spectacle of Rasputin's Debauchery and the Birth of a New Day!

RASPUTIN

EMPRESS

BARRYMORE

ASTOR Daily 2:50 - 8:50. Three times Sat. Sun. & Hols. Sat. Midnite Show. Good B'way & 45th seats at 50c - 75c - $1.00.

RONALD COLMAN

'Cynara

KAY FRANCIS

RIVOLI BROADWAY

On the Screen
FIRST TIME AT POPULAR PRICES!
The celebrated picture that thousands ne celebrated picture that thousand paid $2.00 to see! NORMA SHEARER CLARK GABLE

STRANGE INTERLUDE

O'SULLIVAN - LEWIS STONE On the Capital Stage
In Passon—MOLLY PICON
from Her European Trius 2 RITZ Bres.
BENNY MEROFF

APITOL Breedy

Stage Revue Has Pop. Names

That singular phenomenon of government, the American political government, the American political part, is taken apart, and dramatically scrutinized to form the interesting and timely theme of Universal's "Afraid to Talk," which opens at the Fox Brooklyn Theatre today. And while to most of us politics are for the most part a mystery, "Afraid to Talk" shows how they can become a mense. nystery, "Afraid to Talk" shows now they can become a menace when public indifference permits it.

Sidney Fox enacts the featured Sidney Fox enacts the featured feminine lead as the loyal wife of the bell boy who is crucified for political purposes, played by Eric Linden. Tully Marshall, as the district attorney, Louis Calhern, Mayo Methot, and Edward Arnold provide other highlights of the film.

"Hello 1933," Charles A. Nigge-meyer's new revue, is the stage of-fering at the Fox Brooklyn. Those John Krimsky, president of Pla John Krimsky, president of Play choice, announces that "Goodbye Again," the new comedy success at the Masque Theatre, has been selected as the January Play-of-the-Month. Arrangements were made with Arthur Beckhard, the producer, who last season brought fourth the still popular hit, "An other Language." Osgood Perkin and Sally Bates are featured it Goodbye Again," the work of Allan Scott and George Haight.

featured on the bill include well known Broadway talen Frank Radcliffe and Gene Roy Fred Reynolds and Allie Whit Gus and Will, Dave Jones an Peggy with Marjorie Johnson an Emille Verdi, and the Sixteen Fo Dollies whose dances are create by Miss Dollie. Fox Movietor News and other short subject round out the program.

Jim Tully's True Chain Gang Story "LAUGHTER IN HELL" 2nd Week!

and authentic Fugitive Story ever written . . .

WINTER GARDEN

B'way & 50th St.—35c to 1 p.m. ex Sun, and Holidays. Midnite Show

2nd BIG Week!

EDW. G. ROBINSON "SILVER DOLLAR"

with BEBE DANIELS & ALINE MacMAHON BROOKLYN STRAND Fulton & Rockwell 25c to 6:30 p.m. Mon.-Fri.

The Picture You Have Always Wanted to See AT PRICES YOU CAN AFFORD TO PAY

44th ST. THEATRE West of B'way Matiness 2:50—25c-40c-55c-75c Nights 8:50—40c-55c-85c-$1.10 including tax THEATRE PARTIES

Party Branches and sympa thetic organizations are quested when planning theatre parties to do so through the Theatrical Department of THE NEW LEADER. Phone Algonquin 4-4622 or write to Bernard Feinman, Manager New Lead r Theatrical Department, 7 East 15th Street, New York.

Rainbows in 1933

Overproduction red buildings. Overproduction re-lted. Diminished purchasing power ras unable to support this struc-ture; as a result the vicious cycle of the crisis has left half of the machinery silent and half of the buildings empty. Yet the mort-gages, held by wealthy men and banks, remain and capitalists in-sist that interest and rents be paid even though it means the impov-erishment of labor.

In There a Rainbow?

What of the future? Is there a inbow on the horizon to induce a underpaid worker, the inadeately cared-for unemployed, the interpretation of the rainbow has been seen, even by the statement of the capitalist optimistic of the capitalist obtained. Although hopes have an expressed for a 1933 seasonal been expressed for a 1933 seasonal "spring recovery," it is not denied that the recovery may be over quickly, and that its effect upon nployment will be unimportant.

One of the most significant inces—the opinion of bankers as the future—may be found in oonse to a recent offering U.S. Treasury Notes. The 0,000 issue was oversub-more than 16 times by the $4,000,000,000 being offered loan paying only % of one

The New York Times despatch menting on this stated that easury officials were surprised he keenness of the bidding and willingness of bankers to tie up funds for a year at the low interest of % of one per cent." There is but one possible inference. Banks do not expect during the Banks do not expect during the next year any recovery sufficient to warrant their holding funds for the 6% that commercial borrowers would pay. Furthermore, the National City Bank review indicates that banks have all the bonds they want. Their state of mind is such that absolute sefety is demanded.

and for this they are willing to accept % of one per cent interest during the coming year.

The magazine Business Week emphasizes a pessimistic outlook for the future when it states that "the spiralling process of deflation has recently been resumed, cloudhas recently been resumed, taken ing the prospects for improvement for next year." Col. Ayres, the Cleveland banker, believes that "1933 will probably prove to be another year of depression... Developments since election," he continues gloomily, "have been disquieting rather than reassuring. It seems probable that wage rates will be lower at the end of 1933 than at the end of 1932.

The Outlook ne best that Francis Sisson of the Guaranty Trust Company can see is "steady if slow progress to-ward a normal state of mind on the part of the business commuthe part the part of the business community." The Standard Statistics Company finds that "expectations of near term business recovery which appeared good two months ago are distinctly less bright at present. Activity is experiencing more than the usual seasonal recession."

But suppose one wished to be even more optimistic than business prophets and assume that we are scraping bottom and that this winter will see the start of permanent recovery. Even on that basis nor-mal business is years away. In all previous depressions the climb up-ward has taken fully as long as the time necessary to touch bottom The most optimistic prediction therefore, which is not even vent touch bottom. ured by capitalists, is that some time in 1937 we might be back to normalcy. *
Meanwhile the cruel battle of capitalist against wage earner continues. There is no evidence, that capitalism is not definitely on the downgrade; and that cruel sufferwant. Their state of mind is such that absolute safety is demanded of the working class, under capitalism, for years to come.

Technocracy Knocked

(Continued from Page Four)

"price system" which is the chief target of their attack. This, of course, links them up to the many varieties of currency cranks let loose by the depression who think that the healthy heat of the capitalist room can be regained by monkeying with the thermometer.

Maybe one of the uses of Tech-

Maybe one of the uses of Techmorracy to the Socialists will be to make them think out anew their attitude toward price. Price is certainly not an evil in itself. Until every desirable good is produced in such quantity that it is free as the air, and the slogan the each according to his need" "to each according to his need" can be fully applied, prices and a price system will be maintained even under a Socialist regime.

A Price System

The worker will receive some form of payment in return for his services, and with this in his pocket he will be able to decide whether he will be able to decide whether he will buy, say, an automobile or better furniture; whether he will go to the theatre or buy a book. The time may come when such differentiation and direction of desire will be unnecessary, but he fast that prices will be set and of desire will be unnecessary, the fact that prices will be set and money still used indicates that which is the chief thinks all difficulties would be re moved if, instead of money, energy were used to measure things.

If his economics is superficial, his understanding of politics seems more so. By some legerdemain the accursed price system will be made to disappear and wise Technocrats will exercise enlightened sway In the economic plans of Beard and Chase the agency of their realization was also left up in the air.

Who Will Ride?
Who should be the rider, holding the reins of those billions of horsepower? The Technocrats have no power? The Technocrats have no-clear answer to that, although they suggest that the technicians will take control. There is a great danger that Technocracy will be-come but another blessed word with no need to do anything about it but talk it but talk.

In the British House of Com In the British House of Commons recently the veteran Socialist R. C. Wallhead quoted the figures of Chase and others to support a bill for the legal limitation of the working day to six hours. There are no Labor Party members in Congress to voice a similar. bers in Congress to voice a similar demand. American experts seem to know so much and do so little.

Many years ago when Marx noted the tendency now publicized

By Norman Thomas

Every week Norman Thomas writes in his pungent style his own comments upon the salient events of the moment.

Allottment Plan

THE best thing that one can say about this Allottment Plan for the benefit of growers of wheat, cotton, tobacco and hogs is that even the authors of the bill are a little afraid of it and have limited its life to one year unless it is extended for some one of the four agricul-tural products by presi-dential proclamation. The worst that can be said of the bill is that once a subsidy like this is granted history proves that it is almost impossible to repeal it.

The bill is to be justified, if at all, only by the desperate plight of agri-culture and the fact that through tariffs, mail subsidies, ar the like, many industries have been subsidized in the past at great cost to the farmers. It should be noted, how-ever, that this bill by no means helps all farmers. It is at least as bad for dairy farmers as for the dwellers in the city. The bill seeks to add enough to the price received by farmers for wheat, cotton, tobacco and hogs to bring to the general price level that existed prior to the World War. The tax collected from the processors and by them, of course, passed on to the consumer will only be paid to those farmers who this year agree to a 20% reduction in the amount of their product.

Why 20% is the amount fixed up a does no pear from the newspaper summary of the bill. No fundamental evil in the agricultural situation is touched. As the authors of the bill themselves seem to admit, efficient and inefficient farmers alike with out any special reference to changing conditions of production are to be guaranteed a subsidy. Since it will be easier for the big wheat, cotton or tobacco farmer to cut his planting by 20% than the little it will favor the big rather than the small farmer.

Some standard has to be fixed and 1913's price Some standard has to be fixed and 1913's price may be as good as any. It is not, however, truly scientific. A whole army of enforcers will have to be employed to prevent wholesale bootlegging of wheat, cotton, and tobacco. As an experiment in a desperate emergency something can be said for the bill. It is all too likely, however, that if it passes one of the great political battles of the future will be between country and city in an effort to get of be between country and city in an effort to get off an excessive tax on food.

At any rate, if the unemployed were properly organized they would insist with an imperative demand that the price of their approval of this tax on food is a plan for maintenance wages and a great scheme of public works, both of which are even more justified on every count than is this dole to agriculture. Meanwhile I should like to see a lot of Socialist discussion of this emergency measure for agriculture which looks to me more and more dubious

Slavery in the Mississippi Valley

As far back as March 1913 the American Federationist published a report on Mississippi River Slavery. The report contained this striking sentence: "Labor in its most trying days was mild compared with the reign of terror inflicted upon these simple river folks." The simple river folks in question are colored workers who are employed by containing the simple river folks in question are colored workers who are employed by containing the simple river folks in question are colored workers who are employed by containing the simple river folks." tion are colored workers who are employed by contractors on building the flood control levees in the lower valley of the Mississippi. All these contractors are employed by the government and work under the direction of the War Department. Heretofore the War Department has successfully blocked any effective investigation of conditions in the work camps.

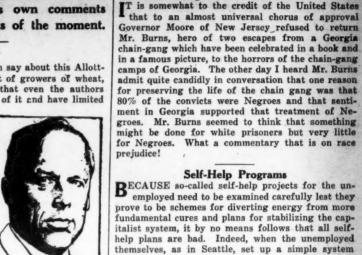

Senator Wagner has introduced a bill calling for a Senatorial investigation. Nothing less will turn the light on horrible conditions and make possible their remedy. A great many powerful interests, including race prejudice and the general low estate of the Negroes in the South, tend to block this reso-money still used indicates that these things are not the root of capitalist exploitation. That rests supon the exploitation of labor power and the appropriation by the capitalists of surplus value and not a "debt claim," as Mr. Scott calls it.

Mr. Scott calls it.

Mr. Scott sees the falling rate of profit as foretold by Marx and he notices the increasing volume!

Mr. Scott sees the instruments. But he instead of trying to dodge capi-

He Was a Fugitive

Self-Help Programs

BECAUSE so-called self-help projects for the unemployed need to be examined carefully lest they employed need to be examined carefully less they prove to be schemes for diverting energy from more fundamental cures and plans for stabilizing the capitalist system, it by no means follows that all self-help plans are bad. Indeed, when the unemployed themselves, as in Seattle, set up a simple system of labor exchange, when one group goes out to chop wood, another to dig potatoes, another to pick straw-hors and then they exphange at their common. wood, another to hig potatoes, another to hick straw-berries and then they exchange at their own com-missaries the products of their toil, that is decidedly to the good. It cultivates the spirit of co-operation. It is an example of working class solidarity in action, and by no means does it prevent the unem-ployed workers from demanding more adequate re-lief from governmental agencies.

The particular governmental agency, it must not be forgotten, to which we must now look is the fed-eral government. We are coming pretty near to the end of the power of cities, counties, or even states to expand that program on any practicable basis. Some states like New York are more fortu-nate in their economic situation and in their laws. They could and should do more than they are doing, but in the end it must be the federal government which should come to our relief. It alone can con-trol currency and equitably impose over the whole country uniform income and inheritance taxes.

A New Spirit in the Party

ONE of the encouraging things to be observed in the Socialist Party is the zeal with which comrades in many parts of the country are taking up the question of making local meeting of party branches more interesting. Our great problem, I am tempted to think, is not winning Socialists but keeping them as active members. Not everybody is interested in the routine business of a branch meeting. terested in the routine business of a branch meeting. That ought to be crowded into definite limits of time. much as possible of it should be referred to contees. There should be variety in meetings ar above all, there should be a variety of activity. real task is to find out whether a great social ideal in a period of revolutionary change can make Socialists do the sort of organization work which Tammany Hall and other political machine workers for the sake of the loaves and fishes which they

Wars Everywhere

WAR in South America; more serious war in As Unemployment and a near approach to e nomic paralysis everywhere. There's not much make this a happy New Year. The only thing I c notice to applaud is the fact that at last the marin are being taken out of Nicaragua. How long they be kept out? Certainly nothing substantial h en accomplished.

General Smedley Butler in a debate with me the other night admitted that to keep the marines in Nicaragua these years had cost more than twice the value of all the debts claimed by American interests in Nicaragua. Carleton Beals and others have conclusively demonstrated that we have, if anything, set backward and not forward the social progress of Nicaragua. What has been done in Nicaragua; that is to say, what has been now in taking the marines out of Nicaragua, should be done in Haiti and done speedily

But I began to talk about a happy New Y the point I really wanted to make was that if there is to be happiness this year it will be because by a great, determined intelligent effort, workers with hand and brain, employed and unemployed, units in effective organization to bring about such of physical energy and machinery and social insit-tutions that we can achieve that abundance and that peace which we have a right to expect.

sh

libe